$3,200,000 Hike in D. C. Yearly Phone Bill Is Asked

By Edward F. Ryan
Post Reporter

An average 13.9 percent increase in local telephone rates paid by users within the District was asked yesterday by the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co.

The company's formal petition for its second rate hike in two years was filed with the District Public Utilities Commission. Officials said a preliminary PUC order is expected next week, leading to hearings probably in November. The rate request does not apply to long-distance calls.

The PUC granted in full the telephone company's 1947 rate-increase request. The average 10 percent boost thus given took effect early last year. But PUC officials informally warned against assuming that full approval of the 1947 rate petition necessarily spells the same treatment of the new one. As for saying what will be done, their only statement was that the company's request would be given the most careful consideration.

$3,200,000 More a Year

If approved as presented, the company's rate proposal would add $3,200,000 to the annual gross payments by District users. Officials said the figure is exclusive of the Federal 15 per cent excise tax paid by consumers on phone service.

Out of this gross, the company would get after taxes, other than the excises, an estimated $1,800,000 in increased annual net earnings.

Under the plan, residential users with their own private unlimited service lines would pay 86 cents more a month for local service. The rate now is $4.75. The new rate would be $5.50. Each figure is increased by a 15 percent Federal excise tax; the tax would be boosted 11 cents by the 75-cent rate increase, or a total boost of 86 cents.

Their increase would be 15.8 percent. The unlimited service with individual line is used by 59,000 customers.

For those with 2-party lines, and unlimited service, an increase from $4 to $4.50 was asked. This service is used by 71,000 customers. With the Federal tax, their monthly increase would be about 58 cents, their percentage increase 12.5 percent.

Limited Service Hike

For the party line with service limited to 45 messages for the present basic rate of $2.25 a month, the proposed rate is $3. Extra calls would continue as now to cost 4½ cents each under the new plan. This service is used by 44,000 subscribers. The percentage increase in the basic charge would be 33 1/3 percent.

For individual residential lines with service limited to 50 calls, the proposal calls for boosting the rate from $3.75 to $4.25 a month, an increase of about 13 percent

VA Puts D. C. Area Dividend At $13 Million

By Robert Thompson
Post Reporter

World War II veterans in the greater Washington area apparently will receive approximately 13 million dollars in special dividends on their National Service life insurance, according to a formula made public by the Veterans Administration yesterday.

The payments will range up to a maximum of $528 per individual, but from the VA figures, the national average dividend payment will be about $168, with many below that figure.

The VA said that 16 million veterans will receive a total of 2.8 billion dollars, from which the $168 average payment appeared. VA officials said there are 146,000 World War II veterans in the area, and that from 135,000 to 140,000 of them probably will receive dividend checks after payments begin in January.

55 Cents Per $1000 Per Month

Under the formula for payments announced yesterday by Carl R. Gray, jr., veterans administrator, all policy holders who were under the insurance age of 40 when their policies were written, will receive a dividend of 55 cents per month per $1000 of policy face value, for the period the policies were actually in force.

The rate of payment, Gray said, will be the same for both term and converted policies, but no payments will be made for periods when policies were lapsed.

Where policies were written when the insured veteran was of an insurance age of 40 or over, the payment rate per month per $1000 of face value will decline with the advance of age, until those who were 55 and over will receive a dividend of 20 cents per thousand per month.

Cutoff date for the dividend payment is the day in 1948 which is the anniversary of the day the policy was issued. Dividends will not be paid up to the present time or to the date on which the veteran applies for them.

Ages and Rates

The ages and corresponding rates of payment per $1000 of policy value per month are:

40 and under	$.55	48	.31
42	.49	50	.25
43	.46	51	.24

45	.40	53	.22
47	.34	55 and over	.20

One VA official pointed out that the special dividend will bring the cost of insurance for some veterans down "phenomenally low." He pointed out that some veterans who bought policies when they were under the insurance age of 21 are paying a rate of 65 cents per thousand per month. With the 55-cent dividend payment, their actual cost to date will be 10 cents per month per thousand.

In his announcement, Gray said that the dividend rate was arrived at after long actuarial studies, and that it is based on mortality savings, since there are no excess interest earnings.

In arriving at the dividend scale, he said, standard insurance practices were followed. Thereby, he said, dividends on a life insur-

Senate Turns Down Ilgenfritz To Avoid Dual-Pay Precedent

By Robert C. Albright
Post Reporter

The Senate yesttrday refused to confirm Carl A. Ilgenfritz as chairman of the Munitions Board because he would not give up his $70,000-a-year salary as a steel company executive.

The vote was 40 to 28. Senators to a man lauded Ilgenfritz's high qualifications for the post but clashed on the wisdom of setting a dual sala · "precedent."

In New York, Ilgenfritz issued this statement:

"Mr. Ilgenfritz is happy that he will be able to continue on in his present job."

It was the second Truman nomination for a top security post turned down by the Senate in recent months.

The nomination of former Senator Ton C. Wallgren (D., Wash.) to be chairman of the National Security Resources board was withdrawn last spring after the Senate Armed Services Committee tabled the appointment, 7 to 6.

Navy Officers Told to Clear Statements

By Marshall Andrews
Post Reporter

The Navy Department yesterday warned its officers to make no more statements on the unification issue stirred up by Capt. John G. Crommelin without submitting them for "clearance."

Secretary of the Navy Matthews, in a telegram to all Navy commands, said this was not censorship, but an "appropriate and effective procedure." Statements already made, he added, had "been a source of embarrassment" to the department.

Shortly after Crommelin issued his blast at the Defense Department charging the Navy's aviation was being "nibbled away," several high-ranking Navy officers issued statements supporting his stand. These included retired Admiral William F. Halsey.

"No Intent to Impair"

"The recent series of public statements beginning with and resulting from Captain Crommelin's statement," said Matthews' telegram, ". . . all of which appear to have been inspired largely by apprehensions concerning the future of naval aviation—have from the standpoint of successful unification

Snyder Backs Devaluation Where Needed

Secretary Snyder took his stand publicly yesterday for currency devaluation as a possible help to dollar-hungry countries abroad.

He told reporters that he agreed with his week's report of the International Monetary Fund, which had urged devaluation as one way for a deficit country to boost its dollar-earning exports.

The Secretary hurried to add, however, that he had put no pressure on any government to cut the value of its currency, either privately or in the economic conferences in Washington in the past two weeks.

In spite of this disclaimer, his remarks revived discussion of British devaluation at the very moment when British officials wanted it to die down.

The Secretary talked to newspapermen just before the final meeting of the International Bank and Monetary Fund at the Shoreham Hotel. Sir Stafford Cripps, the British Chancellor of the Exchequer, who has stubbornly opposed devaluing the pound, did not wait for the final meeting, and was on his way back to London last night.

Delay Hinted

The belief among the delegates was that the British would like to avert or at least delay devaluation. The British themselves argued that a good deal of lost confidence in sterling had been restored by the American-British-Canadian agreement on measures to ease the British dollar shortage.

Naturally, said Snyder yesterday, no delegate at the Bank or Fund meetings had given any inkling of his government's intentions regarding devaluation. He said it was ridiculous to think that such a subject could have been discussed in a 48-nation confer-

Defense Plan For Pact Area Nearly Ready

By John M. Hightower
Associated Press Reporter

Plans for lining up the defenses of western Europe and North America under a single grand strategy were virtually completed here yesterday by officials of the Atlantic Alliance.

These plans, calling for a coordinated regional military organization under direction of a defense committee, will be laid before the Council of the North Atlantic Treaty at its first meeting today. Quick approval of the initial blueprint is expected.

In advance of that meeting 11 Senators proposed creation of a highly trained, professional police force to serve as a protective vanguard for the 12-nation Atlantic Alliance. Members of the force would be volunteers from smaller European countries united under the 20-year treaty.

Arms Aid Funds Sought

The proposed police force would be financed out of part of the $1,314,010,000 foreign arms aid bill now awaiting Senate action.

Senator Sparkman (D., Ala.), one of the plan's sponsors, said:

"Instead of spending our millions on building up the weak and dispersed armed forces of the smaller nations, we can build a powerful collective force to defend them all."

Today's Atlantic Council meeting will top off a week of extraordinary diplomatic activity which has produced a new degree of coordination of Cold War policies among the big three of the Western bloc.

Secretary of State Acheson reported to President Truman and the Cabinet yesterday on his round of conferences with British Foreign Minister Bevin and Foreign Minister Schuman of France. All indications were that he gave the Cabinet an optimistic picture of American-British-French cooperation in Europe and Anglo-American agreement in fighting communism in the Far East.

From the White House, Acheson returned to the State Department to receive in steady succession five of the Foreign Ministers of smaller nations who have come here for the Atlantic Alliance session today.

To Get Draft Plan

All 12 pact nations will be represented by their Foreign Ministers at the meeting, diplomats reported, except Iceland. In that case Foreigr Minister Bjarni Benediktsson will have his Minister to the United States, Thor Thors, speak for him.

What the Council will receive will be a draft plan for defense machinery to coordinate the war plans of the Western Nations against any possible aggressor—

Rush to Red Bandwagon On in China

By Ferdinand Kuhn
Post Reporter

The American and British governments have come to the conclusion that there is no anti-Communist force in China worth helping at the present time.

Their reports from China tell the same story of a fast-disintegrating Nationalist movement, and of a climb onto the Communist band wagon by more and more of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's former supporters.

Even on the island of Formosa, where strong resistance to the Communists had been hoped for, the reports show such rapid Communist infiltration and such economic discontent that the Communists may gain control before long.

To Confer With Schuman

Secretary Acheson and Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin of Great Britain are expected to give this appraisal of the China situation to Foreign Minister Robert Schuman of France, probably this afternoon. Schuman has asked for a meeting of the three Foreign Ministers to discuss the Far Eastern situation, with special reference to the troubled state of Indo-China.

A common Anglo-American attitude toward China was shown during the past week in consultations between Far Eastern experts of the State Department and the Foreign Office. Although the tactics of the two governments may not always be the same, officials of the two countries now know that they have the same facts and draw the same conclusions.

Want Normal Trade

The British, with bigger investments in China than the United States, will try to keep their traders there, and would like to maintain normal trade with Communist-controlled China. Normal trade, however, is nonexistent now, due largely to the Nationalist blockade of Communist-held ports.

As for war material that might find its way into Communist hands, the British have drawn up a list of supplies that would add to the war potential of Communist China, and are also resolved not to send such material if and when the blockade is relaxed.

The two governments are confident, an informed source said yesterday, that the Communists will not try to attack the strongly defended Brtiish colony of Hongkong, now manned by 25,000 troops.

Officials of the two Governments can see no other place to stop Chinese communism at the present time, although they fully expect a kind of "Chinese Titoism" to develop within the Communist-controlled area in the indefinite future.

For the present the real bulwark

Mine Fund To Suspend Payments

BULLETIN

Denver, Sept. 16 (U.P.).—A high-ranking Western official of the United Mine Workers Union said tonight that a walkout of 8000 Wyoming and Utah coal miners was the "kickoff of a Nation-wide strike of UMW members."

The prominent UMW official, asking that his name be withheld, said he could not disclose the date of the scheduled national walkout "but it's coming."

The soft-coal miners' welfare fund yesterday was ordered to suspend social insurance and pension payments beginning today.

The action was taken here as a "temporary expedient" by the three trustees of the United Mine Workers Welfare and Retirement Fund to save it from going "into the red."

In Hazleton, Pa., trustees of the smaller Anthracite Health and Welfare Fund, announced a similar suspension of payments to hard-coal miners and their dependents.

John L. Lewis, president of the UMW and a member of the board of trustees, announced the suspension of soft-coal fund payments yesterday afternoon, shortly after holding a closed session with the other two trustees, Ezra Van Horn of Cleveland, representing

Van Horn Out As Trustee Of Mine Fund

By The Associated Press

Ezra Van Horn of Cleveland has resigned as the trustee representing coal operators on the Miners' Welfare and Retirement Fund, it was learned last night.

Van Horn's resignation has been mailed to coal operators who signed the 1947 and 1948 coal agreements. It was dated September 14 and gives no reason for the resignation.

The letter requests the resignation to become effective immediately on naming a successor. It was reported that coal operators have not as yet acted on the letter.

Post Editorial Recalled

[The Washington Post, in an editorial on August 16, called for resignation of Van Horn as a trustee of the fund. The editorial said Van Horn's resignation of the chairmanship of the negotiating committee of the Northern and Western bituminous coal operators on August 11 "is not a surprise."

[It added:

["Mr. Van Horn's usefulness in that capacity vanished when he accepted a salary of $35,000 as trustee for the UMW pension fund. Since union demands for increased contributions to the pension fund are expected to figure largely in discussions of a new wage contract, an individual who is drawing a fat salary for his services as an administrator of the pension fund is likely to favor union demands for the perpetuation and strengthening of that fund.

["In any case his motives are suspected, and his self-interest disqualifies him as a representative of the operators in wage negotiations."

[The fact that Van Horn and Senator Bridges (R., N. H.) were drawing the $35,000 salaries as trustees of the fund was revealed before a Senate subcommittee early in August by Josephine Roche, director of the fund.

[The Washington Post editorial called also for the resignation of Senator Bridges as a trustee.

[The United Press, reporting Van Horn's resignation as negotiating committee chairman, stated that "other sources said the op-

Ching Calls For Talks In Capital On Monday

By Sam Stavisky
Post Reporter

The Federal Government yesterday reentered the steel dispute in an effort to avert a paralyzing walkout of half-a-million CIO steelworkers.

Cyrus S. Ching, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, late yesterday afternoon urged industry and union leaders to stop their "debate by telegraph" and meet with him here Monday for a mediation conference.

The United States Steel Corp., which usually sets the pace for others in the industry, immediately accepted Ching's invitation. The Steelworkers Union, telegraphed acceptance of the invitation late in the day. So did Bethlehem Steel. Other companies said they would send in their acceptances on formal receipt of Ching's invitation.

Locals Alert Members

Ching's action came as a number of steelworkers' locals were passing the word to their members to get set for a strike at 12.01 a. m. Sunday, September 25. That's the deadline for the truce agreed to by the union following publication of the presidential fact-finding board's report and recommendations on the dispute.

The fact-finders suggested the union withdraw its request for a 12½-cent-an-hour wage increase, and that, on the other hand, the companies finance exclusively a social insurance-pension program costing them a maximum of 10 cents an hour per worker.

Fairless Rejects Demand

Philip Murray, president of the CIO and the steelworkers, accepted the recommendations and demanded that U. S. Steel do likewise as a condition to further collective bargaining.

Benjamin F. Fairless, president of the Nation's No. 1 steel corporation, rejected the demand. Instead he offered to pay up to 4 cents in social insurance, but with employes contributing to the program, and to participate in a joint study of pensions, also on a contributory basis.

In an exchange of wires, Murray and Fairless had blamed each other for forcing the impending strike.

"Meaning of Words"

Disturbed over the "deterioration" of the situation, Conciliation Chief Ching wired the disputants yesterday urging them to come here for a conference. He pointed out there was a "good possibility" the clash between Murray and Fairless "springs not from irreconcilable fundamental differences in views but from meaning of words."

After sending his wires, Ching told a press conference he hoped

Pressure Is Seen In Greek Reversal On Execution Stay

Athens, Sept. 16 (AP).—Strong pressure from military leaders tonight apparently caused the Greek government to backtrack on an announcement suspending executions of persons sentenced to death by courts-martial.

Vice Premier Sophocles Venizelos earlier in the day announced all executions would be suspended until the trials were reviewed by a pardon board.

Tonight War Minister Panayotis Kanellopoulos, in the presence of Premier Alexander Diomedes, told newsmen the cabinet coordinating council had not made any such decision.

It was the second time within a week that military pressure had forced government officials to reverse previous stands. Premier Diomedes recently announced that martial law would be ended soon.

Generalissimo Alexander Papagos, Greek army commander in chief, voiced strong objections and Diomedes announced the program had been abandoned.

Unofficial observers estimate about 1000 persons accused of aiding the guerillas have been sentenced to death in the last eight months.

Agreement Ends Labor Dispute at Oak Ridge Plant

New York, Sept. 16 (U.P.).—An agreement has been reached in a labor dispute which threatened to halt work at the Oak Ridge, Tenn., atomic laboratory, the atomic energy labor relations panel announced tonight.

Strauss said the agreement was reached in negotiations with representatives of the Carbide and Carbon Chemicals Corp., which operates the Oak Ridge plant, and union officials.

Poitiers Magistrate Pierre Roger today ordered exhumation and examination of 12 others who died in or near Mme. Besnard's home.

FBI Confirms Police Report Violent Crime Is on Rise Here

By Chalmers M. Roberts
Post Reporter

There were 129 more cases of aggravated assault in the District the first half of 1949 than in the same 1948 period, an increase of about 7 per cent.

The city's record for these assaults placed it second among cities reported in the FBI's semi-annual report, released yesterday. The term "aggravated assault" covers assault with intent to kill, assault by shooting, cutting, stabbing, maiming, poisoning, scalding or by the use of acids.

Only Chicago, with 2031 cases among its much larger population, topped the District. Last year Chicago had 957 cases. New York, which did not report for the first half of 1949, last year had 1306 cases.

Hungary's Former No. 2 Red Admits Helping 'Plot Revolt'

By Endre Marton

Budapest, Hungary, Sept. 16 (AP).—Laszlo Rajk, former Hungarian police boss and No. 2 Communist, confessed fluently today to charges he plotted with Americans and others to smash Hungary's government in an anti-Soviet crusade led by Yugoslav Premier Marshal Tito.

Pouring self-denunciation into a people's court microphone for four hours, the poker-faced, 40-year-old Rajk described the revolt plot as part of a sweeping plan by Tito "to lead and organize an anti-Soviet movement in every people's democracy (Russian satellite)."

Rajk and seven others were on trial for treason.

He declared Tito planned a military invasion of Hungary, the incitement of border strife with Bulgaria, the liquidation of Greek Communist guerilla forces and the incorporation of Albania into Yugoslavia.

(The United Press quoted Rajk as testifying that Josef Cardinal Mindszenty, now in a Hungarian prison, was leader of a Vatican scheme to help Rajk take over the Hungarian government by inciting widespread civil disobedience and anti-government riots.

[Rajk said the plot failed when Mindszenty was imprisoned; the Hungarian government became more vigilant and Marshall Tito grew nervous under pressure.]

Rajk eagerly piled detailed blame on himself for acts since he began what he called his double-dealing with the Communists in 1931.

He declared that Alexander Rankovic, Tito's interior minister and police chief of Yugoslavia, told

Alert Boys Lead to Arrest Of Hit-Run Accident Suspect

Three alert youths who saw a hit-run accident last night trailed the auto on roller skates and led police to the home of a man who was arrested and charged with leaving the scene.

One of the boys was Terry Davis, 13, of 1126 12th st. nw., but the names of the other two were not recorded. Police didn't get them, and Terry said he knows the lads but not their names.

The accident happened about 8 p. m. at 12th and M sts. nw., police said. A motorcycle ridden by Max Mann, 1209 N st. nw., with Richard Holden, 19, of 3926 Burns pl. se., as a passenger, was struck by an auto police said went through a stop light.

Driver of the car kept going, police and Terry said. The boys watched it turn into an alley and, by following a trail of dirt which fell off from the impact, located it.

As they caught sight of the car, they told officers, two men were taking the license plates off.

The boys asked a passerby to call police, then continued trailing the two men to homes at 1228 and 1230 11th st. nw. When Sergt. Roy Ostrom of the Accident Investigation Unit arrived, he went to the homes.

At the 1230 11th st. nw. address, he said, he found the license plates under a table and arrested Robert E. Hodges, 40. Hodges was charged with leaving the scene of an accident and passing a stop light.

At the 1228 address, Ostrom found Hodges' brother, Thomas, 43, and arrested him on a charge of being drunk.

Mann, the motorcycle rider, was reported in serious condition at Emergency Hospital with head injuries and concussion. Holden was treated for cuts and bruises and released.

Devaluation Policy Backed by Snyder

ence, with so many possibilities of "leaks." This was the Secretary's comment:

"I can't imagine the delegate of any country saying here, 'Well, I guess I'll go home and recommend that my country's currency be devalued.' He'd find he had been devalued before he got to the train."

Snyder also said emphatically that the United States would not raise its present price of $35 an ounce for gold, although gold-producing South Africa had tried insistently at the Monetary Fund meetings to get a higher price. It is "positive and will remain positive," the Secretary said.

Before adjourning yesterday, the fund did vote a resolution, with American aassent, for a study of "all relevant study of the production, price and sale of gold," to be made by the Fund's executive directors in the coming year.

Some Comfort

This was some comfort for the South Africans, but not much. In any case the United States is the world's only large-scale buyer of newly-mined gold, and Snyder's statement served notice on the gold producers that the United States simply would not buy at a higher price, Fund or no Fund.

Meanwhile the International Bank ended its fourth annual session with evidence that it would pay more attention to the needs of underdeveloped countries.

Eugene R. Black, the bank's president, told reporters that a growing proportion of the Bank's loans in the coming year would finance the industrial and agricultural development of backward countries, in line with Point Four of President Truman's inaugural address last January.

The Bank yesterday approved the membership application of the Republic of Haiti, one of the least-developed countries of the Western Hemisphere, aand fixed two million dollars as its share of the Bank's capital.

Perhaps as a symbol of the growing interest in underdeveloped parts of the world, the Bank and Fund elected the governor from India as chairman of both boards of governors for the coming year.

Background Cited

Sir Chintaman Deshmukh, India's present governor on the Fund, said this year's Bank and Fund meetings were especially significant in view of the "momentous" American-British-Canadian conversations that formed their background.

The three-power talks, he said, led him to hope that the United States "will be willing to fill the role which her magnificent range of human and material resources fit her to fill, and, if not to shoulder the burden of Atlas, to become the main pillar of the democratic world."

Hector Ormachea-Zalles of Bolivia, chairman of the Latin-American group of delegates, said the development of Latin-American countries "should be considered one of the most important goals" of the Bank and Fund in the near future.

And young Prince Viwat of Thailand chimed in by saying that there were many potentialities for investment in the underdeveloped countries, and "need for prompt and vigorous action" to overcome obstacles.

"Thailand for her part," he said, "aims at helping herself in order to be helped."

The Bank and Fund governors voted to hold next year's session in Paris in September.

Church Makes White Russian DP Appeal

Leaders of the Russian Orthodox Church yesterday appealed for quick admittance into the United States of some 5000 White Russian refugees now stranded in the Philippines and facing deportation.

If Congress denies them haven "they are completely lost," Archbishop John told a Senate Judiciary subcommittee.

The committee is considering House-passed amendments to the Displaced Person Act of 1948 to grant admittance visas to 4000 so-called "Shanghai refugees"—a general term applied to war refugees who fled Europe for China and became stateless persons without citizenship.

The Russian church wants similar treatment for the Philippine group.

While the bulk of the White Russians have been evacuated to Samar in the Philippine Islands, about 1000 still remain in China. They are all who remain of an estimated 30,000 who fled revolutionary Russia in 1920-27.

Provision for the Shanghai refugees as a separate class is made in the bill that would enlarge by 139,000 this Nation's share of the world's displaced persons. Existing law allows for entry of 205,000 alien refugees.

Senator Knowland (R., Calif.) backed up the appeal of the Russian church leaders.

He read to the committee reports from Samar that the situation there was "growing desperate" as a result of the temporary nature of the refugee camp. Tents are leaking and disintegrating, he reported, and fear is growing among the refugees that they may become "homeless beggars."

Hastie May Get U. S. Judgeship

By The Associated Press

William H. Hastie, Negro governor of the Virgin Islands, was reported in congressional circles yesterday to be among the front runners for appointment to the United States Third Circuit Court of Appeals.

There was no indication when President Truman will announce his choice. The third circuit includes Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware and the Virgin Islands.

Hastie, former Federal judge in the Virgin Islands, has been mentioned for weeks as a possible choice for the circuit bench because the islands do not now have a representative on the court.

At present the court is comprised of four Pennsylvanians and one each from New Jersey and Delaware.

The appointment to be made is to fill the extra seat established by the recently-enacted Omnibus Judgeship bill.

Lehman and O'Dwyer Attitude On School Aid Bill Assailed

Glenn L. Archer yesterday took issue with statements on the Barden aid-to-education bill by former GGovernor Herbert Lehman and Mayor William O'Dwyer of New York. Lehman and O'Dwyer on Thursday had criticized the Barden bill because it would prevent use of Federal funds to aid parochial schools. Their comment came at the meeting of the New York State Democratic committee at which Lehman was nominated for the post of United States Senator.

Archer, executive director of Protestants and Other Americans United for Separation of Church and State, called statements by the two "misleading."

He added:

"Like many other persons who have participated in the educational-aid controversy, Mr. Lehman misuses the terms 'welfare services' and 'auxiliary services.' He includes parochial school bus transportation within these terms, as other spokesmen for this point of view have included the purchase of 'secular' textbooks. If the Government were to pay for these expenditures of parochial schools, it would shoulder a financial burden which rightfully belongs to the private school and not to the public.

"Private schools should pay these bills just as parents should buy clothes for their children, rather than call upon the Government to do so. It is the Government's responsibility to look to the general welfare, not the 'welfare' of greedy pressure groups.

"For his part, Mr. O'Dwyer brings forth once more the threadbare argument that Catholic parents pay taxes, so why shouldn't the Government support Catholic parochial schools? According to this argument, no one should be required to pay a tax who does not receive a direct, personal benefit therefrom. This would mean that single persons, or parents who do not have children of school age, could demand exemption from payment of taxes which go to support the public schools, or else a rebate on these taxes. If the Mayor invoked this rule in New York City, anarchy would result."

Fair Employment Act Stalled In Committee by Quorum Lack

By The Associated Press

Lack of attendance kept the Senate Labor Committee from voting yesterday on a fair employment practices act.

Seven of the 13 members showed up for the meeting, but Senator Hill (D., Ala.) left, explaining that he had a date to talk with President Truman about rural telephones.

That left only six members present. Under Senate rules, no measure may be reported or recommended unless a majority of the committee actually is present. The other six members are out of town.

Chairman Elbert Thomas (D., Utah) told reporters that he had no chance to put the bill to a vote while Hill was at the meeting.

If there had been a vote, the measure would have been approved. Thomas had proxy votes of four absent members which he could have used. These, together with the ballots of Thomas and Senators Murray (D., Mont.) and Humphrey (D., Minn.), supporters of the bill, would have been sufficient to send the bill to the Senate floor.

Southern Senators have bitterly protested against any committee vote on the bill without holding hearings first.

But Thomas made it plain he still intends to try again for a vote without hearings.

Truman Expected to Reduce Tariff on More Than 400 Items

President Truman will follow up passage of the reciprocal trade agreements bill with tariff cuts on more than 400 items, it was reported yesterday.

Senator Walter F. George (D., Ga.) said he understood the President will announce the cuts soon, probably next week. He said they will be based on agreements reached at the international tariff conference at Annecy, France.

Authority to make such cuts was assured when the Senate on Thursday voted 62 to 19 to extend the 15-year-old reciprocal trade agreements program until June, 1951. The House passed the bill months ago.

Under the bill, Mr. Truman can cut tariff rates to 50 per cent of their 1945 levels. Extension of the authority was one of the major items on the President's legislative program. He said it was needed for a campaign to wipe out trade barriers against American goods.

10 More Trade Accords Now Being Prepared

Trade agreements with 10 more countries are being prepared for President Truman's approval under the extension of his tariff-cutting powers which cleared Congress Thursday.

Experts of the United States and the 10 other countries have already agreed in negotiations at Annecy, France, on what they will recommend to their governments. Agreements based on these recommendations are expected to be ready for presidential action early in October.

These agreements would be with Denmark, Finland, Italy, Greece, Sweden, the Dominican Republic, Haiti, Liberia, Uruguay and Nicaragua.

State Department officials estimated yesterday that if the President approves these treaties 75 to 80 per cent of all United States foreign trade—both exports and imports—will be carried on under reciprocal trade agreements.

Cirenaica Given Self-Rule by Britain

London, Sept. 16 (AP). — Britain gave limited self-rule tdoay to Cirenaica, a former Italian colony in North Africa. The colony's eventual disposition is still up to the United Nations.

Emir Sayed Idris El Eenussi, 61, a hard-bitten Arab prince who raised volunteer battalions to fight the Axis early in World War II, was empowered to write a constitution for handling Cirenaica's internal affairs.

Truman Plans Short Vacation Late This Month

President Truman plans to take a "quickie" vacation back home at the end of September.

Mr. Truman has given the go-ahead for a flight to Kansas City September 29 for a four-day stay.

The main purpose of the trip is to attend a dinner the night of September 29 for William M. Boyle, jr., the new chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

Boyle, a former Kansas City police official, is to be honored on that occasion by Democrats and other home town folk.

Mr. Truman plans to remain over in Kansas City and his nearby home town of Independence until Sunday, October 2 and then fly back to Washington.

Board Orders Union Election of Pennsy Workers

Philadelphia, Sept. 16 (AP).—The National Mediation Board today ordered a collective bargaining election among 48,000 Pennsylvania railroad shop employes. Counting of ballots will start November 8.

Voting will take place on a five-days-weekly schedule and polling places will be set up in most major operating points of the Nation's largest railroad.

The election is one of the largest ever conducted by the Mediation Board. The workers are divided into eight craft groups.

Eight separate ballots will be prepared. Each will give the voter a choice of the CIO union, one of the AFL groups, or no union.

Each group will be counted separately, and the union receiving a majority of the votes cast can apply for certification as the bargaining representative of that group.

Flier Leaps From Navy Jet Going 600 M.P.H.

The Navy reported yesterday that one of its pilots succesfully bailed out of a jet plane going more than 600 miles an hour—"probably the highest speed" at which it ever has been done.

Lt. Jack K. L. Fruin of Elmhurst, Ill., a member of Fighter Squadron 171 based on Cecil Field, Fla., bailed out at 30,000 feet in a mechanical ejection seat from an F2H McDonnell Banshee twin-engine jet fighter after losing control of the plane in a heavy overcast near Cherry Point, N. C., last August 9.

U. S. Population Up 237,000 in Month

Population of the United States on August 1 was about 149,452,000, the Census Bureau said today.

It represented an increase of 237,000 during the month.

Both estimates include members of the United States armed forces in this country and overseas.

B-36 Crash Cause Remains Unsolved

Fort Worth, Tex., Sept. 16 (AP).—What caused the first crash of a B-36, which killed five men, is the big question at Carswell Air Force Base tonight.

The giant bomber should have flown—but didn't.

The great ship failed to take off last night and roared into a lake at 100 miles per hour. Three bodies have been found. Two are missing. Eight men escaped with slight injuries.

"After questioning all of the men involved in the accident, we are more in the dark than ever as to its cause," Maj. Gen. Roger M. Ramey, Eighth Air Force commander, said. "When we salvage the plane, we may find the answer."

A grim, silvery island—broken wreckage of a plane as big as three five-room houses—marked the scene of the crash in Lake Worth. A diver found the body of Maj. Joseph L. Lemming, jr., of Dayton, Ohio, in the plane today. He located one other body which was not brought to the surface immediately.

T/Sergt. William G. Seymour, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Seymour of Charleston, W. Va., died shortly after the crash. The three whose bodies have not been recovered were:

M/Sergt. John C. Stanko, relief flight engineer, Apollo, Pa.

Lieut. Herman S. Styles, jr., radioman-navigator-bombadier, native of Lynch, Ky.

Capt. Harold Kernodle, 30, spare pilot, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Kernodle of Hampden Sydney, Va.

"Maj. Toy B. Husband, the pilot, said everything checked out before the takeoff," General Ramey declared. "Everything was in good shape. He started down the runway, got to a speed of 110 miles per hour, felt the ship become light and take off and then felt it begin to settle back to the runway.

"He then called for emergency power . . . The emergency power was indicated on the instruments, but the plane was not delivering it. It did not become airborne again . . ."

The world's largest land-based bomber was built to carry a 10,000-pound bomb load 10,000 miles.

Self-Defense Claim Made By Judge

Atlanta, Sept. 16 (U.P.).—Judge Robert Carpenter testified today that he shot John Lockwood in self-defense after the man he brought into his home as a friend stole his wife's love.

Miss Carpenter

Carpenter said, "if ever a man was justified in doing what I did, I believe that I was."

He testified at his trial on charges of assault with intent to murder. Earlier his foster daughter, Barbara Carpenter, 20, testified that Lockwood had wrecked a happy home.

The girl said Lockwood visited her mother in her bedroom at their home.

Carpenter related that he stopped by his home, which he had vacated some months previously, the night of July 26 when he saw the lights blazing. He met Barbara in the driveway and the girl appealed to him to do something about Lockwood and her mother, he said.

Then he said he received an anonymous telephone call advising him that his wife was at that moment leaving a tourist camp on the Marietta hwy.

"I took my revolver and drove to my former home and shortly Lockwood came in with Mrs. Carpenter cuddled up beside him," he said.

He said he followed Lockwood after he let Mrs. Carpenter out and caught up with him at an intersection.

When Lockwood made a motion as if to draw a pistol Carpenter fired his own gun, the judge testified.

Unions Ask $4 Pay Boost In England

London, Sept. 16 (NYHT).—Delegates representing more than 2,500,000 British unionists today voted to press wage increase claims which would add up to $520,000,000 to the annual wage bill.

This decision, taken by the Confederation of Shipbuilding and Engineering Unions, represents a repudiation of the government's wage-freeze policy. It renders farcical the overwhelming vote of support of the Trades Union Congress last week for the wage stabilization program.

The principal demand is for a flat $4 a week increase.

Last week an arbitration tribunal turned down a demand for a $2-a-week raise sought by the National Union of Railways.

As a consequence, go-slow demonstrations have broken out in several rail centers.

Spreading strikes today also threatened to blow the lid off Britain's wage controls.

Royal Navy stokers kept electric power stations operating in northern Ireland today after 3000 electrical workers walked off their jobs.

King Receives U. S. Oilman For Greek Rites

Athens, Sept. 16 (AP).—King Paul today received William G. Helis, New Orleans oilman who heads an American delegation here to dedicate $5,500,000 worth of health centers and hospitals in Greece.

Helis is the American vice president of the Greek War Relief association. His name recently figured prominently in the United States Senate's inquiry into activities of Washington's five-percenters. Helis, a New Orleans horse racing figure, was called an excellent collector of Democratic campaign money.

With Helis here are Tom Pappas of Boston, George Xanthaky of New York, Dr. John Levandis of New York and Peter Bourdoures of San Francisco. They represent the Greek War Relief and the Pan-Arcandian Society.

Gets Annulment

Spouse Gave Her Rash, Wife Says

MRS. JOYCE HOLDRIDGE
Don't say Noland

Los Angeles, Sept. 16 (AP).—Pretty Joyce Holdridge, who says she breaks out in a rash even when her husband's name is mentioned, won an annulment today.

Mrs. Holdridge, 27, testified she loved Nolan Holdridge, 26, San Francisco watchmaker, and he loved her, but:

"Whenever I was with him, I would break out in a rash from head to toe. This would clear up 24 hours after I left him . . . but it would recur even at the mention of his name."

Holdridge was not in court.

Superior Judge Ray Brockmann called the Holdridges "guinea pigs" and commented:

"Courts may be forced to recognize what medical science has discovered—that such aliergies as Mrs. Holdridge complains of are a fact and not a caprice."

GanglandGuns Riddle Murder Czar's Old Pal

Valley Stream, N. Y., Sept. 16 (AP).—Gangland gunmen made a bullet-drilled corpse today of Philip (Little Farfel) Cohen, pal of the former Murder, Inc., czar, Louis (Lepke) Buchalter.

Cohen

The 43-year-old close-mouthed former convict, Lepke's only trusted henchman in the epic murder-for-cash mob, was taken for just the kind of ride that the supposedly smashed Murder, Inc., decreed for scores of its victims.

Little Farfel—the nickname means "Noodle"—got three slugs in the head and three others in the back. His still-warm body was found dumped on Long Island's Southern State Parkway late last night.

Police broadcast an alarm for what they believed to be the murder car—a 1949 Chevrolet with a cracked front window.

The dapper, red-haired Cohen was slain eight years to the day after the opening of the trial that sent Lepke and two other Murder, Inc., mobsters to the electric chair.

Cohen was indicted with Lepke. For unexplained reasons, the murder charge was droopped and he went to prison on a narcotics charge instead. There were plenty of rumors that Little Farfel had "squealed."

But former New York assistant district attorney Burton Turkus, who prosecuted the case, said today that wasn't true.

"There was no reason for any member of Murder, Inc., to go after Cohen," Turkus said. "We could not get a word out of him. He just brushed us off and laughed in our faces."

Police worked on a theory that Cohen, who recently bought into a Brooklyn gas station business, was slain because of activities as a bookmaker or for preying on bookmakers.

Cohen was released only recently from Atlanta Federal Penetentiary, where he did seven years on the narcotics' charge

His elderly mother, with whom he lived in Brooklyn, never knew he had been in prison. When she learned he had been killed, she moaned:

"Oh, Farfel. Oh, Forfel. Such a good boy. He came from California eight months ago, and bought this house a month later. Such a nice house."

5 Poles Seize Plane, Force It to Sweden

Stockholm, Sept. 16 (AP).—Five young Poles, armed with four loaded guns and a toy pistol, forced their way through the Iron Curtain by air today.

Flashing the mixed weapons, they took command of a Polish airliner on a domestic flight and had the plane land in Sweden. Seven other passengers watched helplessly.

The plane put down on a military airfifeld near Nykoeping, 70 miles south of Stockholm.

The five youths asked for asylum in Sweden as political refugees and said they wanted to go on to the United States.

The other passengers, one a woman, and the three crewmen men told Swedish authorities they wished to return to Poland. The plane will head back to Poland with them Saturday.

Police did not disclose the names of the five, but said none was prominent and they appeared to be average clerks or workers. The plane was identified first as a Douglas DC-3. Swedish experts discovered on closer inspection it was a Russian plane made on the lines of the DC-3.

Son Disowns Reimann, Calls Him Misguided

Ahlen, Germany, Sept. 16 (U.P.).—Joseph Reimann, 23-year-old son of West Germany's Communist boss, today disowned his father and denounced him as ignorant and misguided.

Young Reimann, who fled a "peoples' police" training school in the Soviet zone and asked asylum from the British, was reunited with his mother today in this Westphalian town.

Joseph was three years with the Wehrmacht. He was captured in 1945 and spent the next four years at Novgorod, U. S. S. R. making bricks.

"When I told him that I was badly treated in Russia he told me only that Russia was a young country and there would be a steady improvement," Joseph complained.

"My father knows nothing except communism," Joseph said. "We have different ideas of freedom." He called his father "misguided" and said he had no intention of seeing him again.

"We are too far apart," he said.

In Frankfurt, Max Reimann also washed his hands of his son. The elder Reimann, who was divorced in 1939, issued a statement blaming Nazi education for influencing Joseph.

When Reimann took over as West Germany's top Communist he arranged for the return of his son from the Russian prison camp.

On his father's advice, Joseph entered the Soviet police training school at Torgau.

"All around me there was barbed wire and there was no personal freedom," he said.

Joseph said he made his escape on his way to a football game.

The news of Joseph's defection was broken to the elder Reimann as he demanded a purge of Communist unreliables.

((In a speech to the Communist Party executive committee here he said:

"We cannot tolerate any deviation from the policy of the Soviet Union."

Reds Enter Kwantung in Drive to South

Hongkong, Sept. 16 (U.P.).—Two thousand Communist troops of Gen. Liu Po-cheng's Fourteenth Army were reported today to have knifed across the Kwangtung province border into an area only 100 miles north of Canton.

Reports searching Hongkong said the troops—advance forces of some 500,000 men the Reds have massed for the South China battle—were operating near Yungyun, 96 miles north-northeast of Canton, and only 32 miles from the Canton-Hankow railway.

A well-informed Chinese source said at Nanking today that Mme. Sun Yat-sen probably will be chosen first chairman of a Communist-sponsored coalition government expected to be formed in Peiping on October 10.

Mao Tze-tung, leader of the Communist Party, is expected to stay out of the government but will retain his leadership of the party, the source said.

Madame Sun is the widow of the founder of the Chinese republic.

Ding Dong Daddy of D Cars Takes 14th, Maybe 20th, Bride

Associated Press WIREPHOTO
PAROLE AND A BRIDE—Superior Judge Herbert Kaufman (center) congratulates Francis Van Wie, 62, the streetcar casanova who served two years in San Quentin on bigamy charges and his bride, Mrs. Mary Aba, 49, yesterday in San Francisco

San Francisco, Sept. 16 (U.P.).—The "Ding Dong Daddy of the D Car Line" took his fourteenth "or maybe twentieth" bride today—he didn't remember which.

Francis van Wie, 63, former conductor who was disclosed five years ago as the husband of five wives along his streetcar line, married Mary Aba, 49, an Oakland chambermaid, before Superior Judge Herbert Kaufman.

The five-foot-two former carbarn Casanova said:

"This is the real thing, and this is going to be the last one for me."

Kaufman lifted the ban the court had placed against further matrimonial ventures as part of Van Wie's probation on the three bigamy convictions that put him in San Quentin for two years.

The "I do's" were said in Kaufman's chambers.

His record of multiple marriages—mostly without benefit of intervening divorce—extended over 45 years, beginning in 1904 with Miss Elizabeth Kexel, in Fort Atkinson, Wis.

The new Mrs. Van Wie was unperturbed over his past and said she wouldn't be troubled by jealousy of Elizabeth, Clara, Evelyn, Mabel, Sadie, Juliana, Myrtle or Josephine—or by his prison record.

She said she was a comparative novice at marriage. It is her second.

"One thing about him—he works hard to provide," she said.

During Van Wie's three-year stint as a conductor he earned $43.20 a week and supported Mrs. Sadie Levin van Wie, Mrs. Myrtle Wheeler van Wie, Mrs. Louise Weller van Wie, Mrs. Josephine Bergman van Wie and Mrs. Evelyn Brown van Wie, after a fashion. He explained his absences by claiming he was an "undercover man for the Government."

He now works in an Oakland coffee shop as a porter, making his meals and $68 a week.

Columbia, S. C., Sept. 16 (U.P.).—Shapely Anne Pierce lowered her head demurely today when nude photographs of her were introduced in the court where a college professor is being tried on charges of beating her after she jilted him.

Miss Pierce charges that Prof. Russell B. Maxey beat her almost to death August 3 after she refused to marry him. She testified that he had a hold over her because of nude photographs he snapped of her at the beach in the days when she admired his technique as a photographer.

Maxey said Miss Pierce could have had her pictures any time she wanted them. In his testimony he pictured himself as a steadfast lover, who thought Miss Pierce loved him until just before the attack.

Miss Pierce testified that she didn't really love him when she posed for him, but she admitted spending nights with him in hotel rooms.

The professor said he made the $1000 down payment on her bungalow and helped her move in and arrange the furniture. He asked his wife for a divorce, he said, and she went home to mother, while he began staying fairly regularly at Miss Pierce's place.

Defense witnesses testified that Maxey was buying groceries with her and parking his car all night in her driveway long after she said their affair had cooled.

Rejects Jerusalem Plan

Tel Aviv, Israel, Sept. 16 (U.P.). Foreign Minister Moshe Sharrett today rejected the United Nations plan to internationalize Jerusalem.

Lonely Hearts Jurors Shown Human Ashes

Dover, Del., Sept. 16 (AP).—Human ashes and a charred stick were presented at the lonely hearts trial today in an effort to establish the corpus delicti—that is, to prove that a murder was committed and the slain man was Wade N. Wooldridge.

The prosecution claimed the ashes, which were in small cardboard containers, were those of the 67-year-old suitor of Mrs. Inez Brennan. Also, that the charred stick was used by 16-year-old Robert Brennan to stir the ashes when he was cremating the body.

Wooldridge, a 67-year-old Bedford County, Va., carpenter, purportedly was shot to death last October 10—the day he arrived at the Brennan farm to meet the woman he came to know through lonely hearts correspondence.

Robert is being tried on a first-degree murder charge; his 46-year-old mother as an accomplice.

The State also produced a gold watch which it contends was Wooldridge's property and which Mrs. Brennan allegedly sent to her father, John, at Gettysburg, Pa., three weeks after the murder.

Joint Chiefs of Staff Back From Alaska Tour

The Joint Chiefs of Staff returned by air late yesterday from a nine-day inspection tour of military installations in Alaska.

Making the trip were Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs; Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, Air Chief of Staff; Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Army Chief of Staff, and Vice Admiral Arthur D. Struble, Deputy Chief of Naval Operations.

Struble substituted for Admiral Louis E. Denfeld, Chief of Naval Operations, who was suffering from a cold when the tour began.

McCarran Alien Bill Under Fire

Vigorous opposition by Secretary of State Acheson to proposed legislation aimed at tightening immigration barriers against subversive aliens was disclosed yesterday.

He has written Chairman McCarran (D., Nev.) of the Senate Judiciary Committee, author of the bill, that the legislation would "drastically interfere" with the conduct of U. S. foreign relations.

One part of the bill, Acheson said, "would virtually result in a break of diplomatic relations, at least with all Communist-dominated countries, and perhaps with others as well."

He added "it would also mipair the activities and functions of the United Nations and might even render mipossible the maintenance of its headquarters in the United States."

The bill on which a judiciary subcommittee now is holding hearings would arm the Government with new powers to block the entry of subversive aliens and to throw out any already here.

Acheson's letter was dated July 15. McCarran now is on his way to Europe and the letter was made public by Senator O'Conor (D., Md.), acting chairman of the subcommittee.

It said Acheson was advised by the Budget Bureau that the measure "would not be in accord with the program of the President."

McCarran has made clear that the bill is aimed particularly at foreign agents who use the cloak of diplomatic immunity to gain entry to this country.

Belgrade, Sept. 16 (NYHT).—The newspaper Glas charged today that Hungarian Communists had reconnoitred northern Yugoslavia earlier this year to learn how the population would react "in the event of moves by the Hungarian army directly aimed at the territorial integrity of Yugoslavia."

The Glas, which frequently publishes reports directly inspired by the Yugoslav government, based its charges today upon testimony at a spy trial in Novi Sad, three months ago.

The accusation was clearly made in connection with the trial in Budapest, of Laszlo Rajk today.

A strong attack against Marshal Tito by Premier Enver Hoxha, of Albania, was monitored here in a broadcast by Radio Tirana tonight.

War Psychosis Seen In Yugoslavia

Bucharest, Romania, Sept. 16 (AP).—Yugoslavia was pictured in the Cominform Journal today as a land with a war phychosis, her troops mobilizing on the borders and frontier fortifications being built feverishly.

A writer identified only as I. Leontic made the charges.

(Recent dispatches from Belgrade emphasize that the Yugoslavs have appeared calm, during the propaganda conflict.)

A Prague newspaper called Nova Borda, organ of Yugoslav exiles in Czechoslovakia, declared anti-Tito guerillas are fighting government forces in the Slavonian hills of northeast Yugoslavia.

Baltimorean Flees Torture of Soviet Prison

Berlin, Sept. 16 (AP).—Four Western soldiers, an American and three Britons, broke to freedom last midnight from a Soviet prison in which they said they were tortured, beaten and poorly fed for months.

The American is Pvt. John J. Sienkiewicz, 26 of Baltimore, Md., a veteran of 21 months of the Pacific war, who disappeared from the Sixteenth Infantry here last November 5.

The Britons, who face charges of being absent without leave at the time of their arrest 18 months ago, were identified by British army authorities as John Boniface, Morris Sullivan and Arthur Taylor.

Weary, dirty and marked by prison pallor, the four made their way on foot to the western sectors early today. All were hospitalized. The Britons were reported "in poor physical shape." The United States Army said Sienkiewicz was "in generally weakened physical condition, but not undernourished."

Sienkiewicz said he was seized by a Russian officer when he rode a street car into the Soviet sector by mistake November 5 and his name led the Russians to believe he was a Polish displaced person being used as a spy.

The stockily built soldier told tales of ice water dunking, of long questioning, of standing 24 hours in a cell without room to sit or kneel and of "having the hell slapped out of me." He said he was "questioned day and night" for the first 16 days of his arrest.

"They asked me about guns, tanks and troops of the American Army and promised that if I told them they would let me go," he said. "When I refused to answer, a high-ranking Russian officer slapped me in th eface."

The British soldiers also told of ice immersions and other tortures. They reported a fourth British soldier, a Private Tyrell, still is in the Soviet prison.

Sullivan pierced his cell wall, either with a knife or a metal leg off his bed, and then battered off the locks of the cells holding the others. They fled over a high wall topped by jagged glass.

Sienkiewicz said he had escaped from the prison twice before, but was recaptured. Another time, he said, he whittled out a wooden pistol for an escape attempt, but the Russians found it

Sienkiewicz's Mother Is Too Happy to Eat

Baltimore, Sept. 16 (AP).—Mrs. Mary Sienkiewicz was so happy today she couldn't eat. Her son was safe.

"I'm so afraid of what they did to him," she said with heavy Polish accent.

"I'm afraid he might be hurt or sick. I came from the old country. I know what it is over there. It is not good there like it is here in America."

Mrs. Sienkiewicz is 65. She was widowed while very young, but she has reared seven children born in Baltimore and supported them.

Part in Coup Plot Admitted by Rajk

him of the Tito plan and said Rankovic promised: "When action starts, the United States will somehow paralyze the Soviet Union so the people's democracies will be unable to act."

Names Chapin, Two Others

Rajk named a former United States Minister to Hungary, Selden Chapin, and two other Americans in the plot. He accused by name Yugoslav officials and others on trial as British and French spies.

Rajk said he told Chapin about his talks with Rankovic, including the asserted promise to contain Russia.

"Chapin hesitated, but later he admitted that such plans existed in the United States, Rajk said.

(In Washington, Chapin denied any talks with Rajk about a plot to overthrow the regime and said Rajk was certainly a victim of Communist police pressure. He recalled Rajk as "severe, disagreeable and uncooperative" in talks they had on official matters. Chapin now is assigned to the United States State Department in Washington.)

The chief defendant in the treason trial, Rajk said that he got his first orders as a spy for the United States in 1945 from Lieut. Col. George Kovach, a Hungarian-speaking member of the United States Military Mission sent to Hungary after the country was liberated from German control.

He said Kovach had learned Rajk was a police informer who trapped Communist university students in 1933, and threatened to unmask him unless he followed American orders.

"I, of course, agreed," Rajk testified. "Having been a high-ranking government official, I agreed to report only about questions of high politics to American officials in Budapest, information they otherwise could not get."

Nonsense, Says Kovach

(In New York, Rajk's statement was declared "strictly nonesense" by Kovach, who retired from the Army as a colonel and went back to civilian life as a hotel manager. Kovach denied he ever met Rajk.)

Rajk said that in 1946 his orders came from a Martin Himmler, member of an American Army counter-intelligence force that delivered fugitive Hungarian war criminals for trial in Budapest after they were captured in Germany and other countries.

Later in 1946, Rajk said, Himmler told him that he would get his orders thereafter from Yugoslavia.

Rajk and his codefendants, including Lieut. Gen. Gyorgy Palffy, former inspector general of the Hungarian army, wore black suits and were freshly shaven. They were pale and walked rigidly, but to those who have known them in the past they did not appear to have suffered physical mistreatment.

Uniformed soldiers stood beside each defendant.

Rajk was sent to the witness dock. The other defendants were returned to their cells for appearances later.

General Palffy is expected to enter the dock when the five-judge court reopens Saturday.

Rajk described what he called the "Tito plan" to convert Hungary and the other countries into an anti-Soviet bloc.

Marked for assassination "if necessary," he said, were Deputy Premier Matyas Rakosi, No. 1 Communist and former Comintern agent; Gen. Mihaly Farkas, the defense minister, and Erne Gero, Moscow-trained Communist finance minister.

Rajk himself would have become the "Titoist prime minister" of the new Hungarian government, he testified.

Piling confession on confession, Rajk said he served as a police informer against Communists in prewar Hungary, for anti-Communists during the civil war against Generalissimo Franco in Spain, for the French secret police in a French prison camp, and for the Gestapo during the German occupation of Hungary.

"The Communists always believed me to be one of the best comrades," he related.

(Rajk's detailed self-blame recalls similar trials under the Soviet type of criminal procedure. The most recent was the mass trial of Protestant pastors in Bulgaria, where wholesale confessions of treason were poured out.

(The Moscow purge trials of 1930 developed the first mass, wholesale guilt pleas of that type. Self-incrimination has since been a feature of treason and other anti-state trials held in Romania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia.

Guilt Determined First

(In the Soviet type of court procedure—which follows the French system developed under the Napoleonic code—the state says it has determined the guilt of the accused or he would not be brought to trial. The trial is held only to give the accused a chance to explain or weaken the charges.)

Rajk rattled off "guilty, guilty, guilty" as Peter Janko, presiding judge of the five-judge court, read the indictment for 55 minutes. Western observers were permitted in the courtroom.

Flanking Janko as judges were Sandor Bares, president of the Hungarian news agency and radio, and Lajos Stimon, Communist former deputy mayor of Budapest. An unidentified woman and another man completed the panel.

Rajak testified he told Kovach about internal political affairs—"that rightist elements, Trotskyites, right-wing parties like the Smallholders and the right wing of the Social Democratic Party were busily organizing against the Soviet Union and the Red army."

"The activities were being conducted under the direction of the United States with the aim of helping a rightist government come to power in Hungary, Kovach told me," Rajk testified.

He said that Himmler told him the Smallholders Party of former Premier Ferenc Nagy (who fled the country to the United States) and other elements aimed to overthrow the government and take over Hungary. Rajk's job was to form a anti-Rakosi faction on Himmler's orders and disorganize the Hungarian Communist Party, he said.

"This evidently was the general policy of the United States and not only Himmler's personal viewpoint," Rajk told the court. He also said Himmler instructed him to place "reliable elements with true-pro - American sentiments" into important government offices, and that he did so.

Husband Beat Her, Socialite Charges in Suit

Miami, Fla., Sept. 16 (AP).—The marriage of a $14-a-week lifeguard, son of a Turkish diplomat, and the heiress daughter of socially prominent Palm Beach parents, was on the rocks today.

Mrs. Aline French Lambiro charged in a divorce suit that her new husband, Oran Turk Lambiro, beat her.

Lambiro, son of the Turkish delegate to the United Nations, countered that his wife humiliated him by frequenting bars with another man.

Mrs. Lambiro filed her action June 27, just 12 days after they were married. Lambiro filed his answer yesterday.

Mrs. Lambiro is the daughter of the late Louis Michael Stumer, founder of the Old Guard Society of Palm Beach, and of Countess Blanche Casagrande of New York.

Mrs. Lambiro's attorney said she had an income of $700 a week.

Lambiro said he made $14 a week as lifeguard and beach boy at a hotel.

N. J. Candidates Take Mass Loyalty Oath

Trenton, N. J., Sept. 16 (U.P.).—Republican and Democratic candidates for high New Jersey offices took a mass loyalty oath today in the State House.

The candidates swore that they supported no subversive organization at work in this country.

Gov. Alfred Driscoll and his Democratic opponent for the governorship, State Sen. Elmer H. Wene, made speeches.

Trade Pact Victory

Defeat by the Senate of the peril-point amendment to the reciprocal trade bill means that the President can for the next two years negotiate trade agreements in accordance with the procedural methods that, until recently, were followed with signal success for many years. The Eightieth Congress introduced the peril-point plan last year. In effect it made the Tariff Commission the dominant factor in determining the limits of trade and tariff concessions. Although the Tariff Commission's decisions were not binding on the President and might not have been obstructive, retention of the peril-point system would in practice have made it more difficult to lower trade barriers.

The character of the debate and the division of the Senate vote along partisan lines is sufficient proof that the opposition was inspired by hostility to more liberal trade policies. The strength of protectionist sentiment was revealed again by the voting on other restrictive amendments that were defeated by the narrowest of margins.

While an Administration defeat would not have spelled finis to the reciprocal trade program, it would not only have seriously impaired its effectiveness but it would also have damaged our prestige in the eyes of the world. For it would have been regarded as a retrograde step away from the liberalizing trade policies that we have encouraged other nations to adopt and that the United States in its own interest as a creditor country ought to pursue. As Senator Lucas said, in considering the trade program, it is essential to "show the same understanding and statesmanship displayed so well in the consideration of the Atlantic Pact and the European Recovery Program. The political and economic aspects cannot be separated."

Cost Of Kashmir

For more than eight months the cease-fire in Kashmir has been frustrated by the inability of India and Pakistan to agree on the terms of a formal truce. Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, who has been designated by the United Nations Kashmir Commission to supervise a plebiscite in that disputed area, meanwhile has been cooling his heels in New York because a plebiscite is impossible without a truce. It was this deplorable delay, and the continued existence of large military forces in the area, which led President Truman and British Prime Minister Attlee earlier this month to propose arbitration, presumably with Admiral Nimitz as the arbitrator.

Pakistan now has signified its desire for an understanding by accepting the President's proposal and deserves the utmost credit for her action. Although the Indian reply has not been formally announced, it is understood that the reply rejects arbitration. That is highly unfortunate, because without a willingness to come to terms, the prospect is for a continued drain on the economies of India and Pakistan, which neither country can afford.

The dispute over Kashmir, a mountain and desert region about the size of Minnesota, arose during the partition of India and the establishment of Pakistan. At that time the Hindu maharajah of Kashmir put his state in the new Dominion of India. The Moslems in Kashmir outnumber the non-Moslems by a ratio of 3-1, however, and a number of Kashmir subjects resisted the decision in company with invading Moslems from Pakistan's Northwest Province. India meanwhile sent troops to back up the maharajah. Fighting has been sporadic since the fall of 1947, but on January 1 of this year both disputants agreed to a cease-fire as the first part of the procedure suggested by the United Nations Commission.

In the meantime, both India and Pakistan have been devoting more than 50 percent of their respective budgets to their military forces. It is this situation which makes settlement of the Kashmir dispute a factor in the larger picture of world recovery. For economic stability in Pakistan and India is impossible so long as this totally disproportionate expenditure continues. Both countries have raw materials needed by the rest of the world; Pakistan, for example, produces 75 per cent of the world's jute. But trade and badly needed outside capital investment are jeopardized by the hostilities.

The implementation of the Kashmir truce thus is directly related to the commonwealth financial crisis, and it is high time that both disputants regarded it as such. Fortunately, Pakistan Foreign Minister Sir Zafrullah Khan is now in this country, and Indian Prime Minister Nehru is scheduled to arrive on a good-will visit in October. American officials should lose no opportunity to impress upon them the compelling necessity of a truce as a fundamental requirement for their own and the world's economic health.

North Atlantic Council

As the statesmen of the North Atlantic Treaty countries meet in Washington today, interest is centered in the defense committee they are about to create. To this committee will be entrusted the vital task of putting into effect strategic plans for the resistance to an attack upon any signatory of the treaty. On the necessity for such joint defense there is now general agreement in the free world. But the broader issues of how this defense is to be organized and how a harmonious foreign policy within the group is to be maintained still require the most earnest consideration of which twentieth-century minds are capable.

If the Atlantic Pact is to mean anything more than a desperate effort to avoid war in the immediate future, the nations that have joined their fortunes in it will also have to join their defenses. The greatest mistake of the Economic Recovery Program is that it has merely extended aid to our neighbors individually without requiring an approach to economic unity through which genuine economic strength can be attained. It is of the utmost importance that this mistake be avoided in setting up the free world's security mechanism. A mere coordination of nationalistic defense plans and organizations might stave off potential aggression in the years immediately ahead. But we are convinced that real security can come only from the progressive relinquishment of the protective function into the hands of a body that can act, not for any one nation, but for a cohesive group of free peoples.

For this reason the Atlantic Pact Council, which meets for the first time today, is likely to be even more important than the defense committee. The functions of the council have not been spelled out. It is the agency through which the 12 signatories to the pact "will consult together whenever, in the opinion of any of them, the territorial integrity, political independence or security of any of the parties is threatened." In some quarters there seems to be an assumption that it will concern itself with nothing more than resisting attack. We do not believe that its duties can be so circumscribed. Indeed, the conversations which have taken place here this week clearly suggest that the council must afford guidance on many broad issues of foreign policy.

Defense and foreign policy are merely opposite sides of the same coin. It is not to be supposed that 12 countries can successfully pursue a common defense policy for any length of time without also giving their foreign policies a common direction. For example, the mounting hostility between Soviet Russia and Yugoslavia is engaging the attention of the North Atlantic statesmen even before the council meets. If Marshal Tito's defiance of Moscow should lead to the invasion of Yugoslavia, Italy, France and Britain would be especially alarmed at the prospect of having Soviet power extended in such dangerous fashion to the Mediterranean. What policies would they adopt in the face of such a threat? Obviously their action would be of the most vital interest to all the other signatories of the pact, since under its terms an attack upon any one of them would be regarded as an attack upon all their allies. Consequently the situation would demand adherence to, not an Italian, French or British policy, but an Atlantic Pact policy. The new council is the agency to which we must look for such foreign policy decisions.

In drawing this conclusion, we do not overlook the United Nations. President Truman has again affirmed the United States' devotion to that peace-promoting agency, and it may be assumed that the U. N. will be utilized in every dispute on which it may be reasonably expected to act. Everyone knows, however, that the Atlantic Treaty came into being only because the U. N. is stymied by Russia's veto. In that area in which the U. N. cannot function and in which the free world must have unified and clear-cut policies in order to survive, the North Atlantic Council will have to fill the gap in conformity to U. N. principles. There are many indications that the statesmen assembled here are fully aware of this responsibility. We believe the cause of security and peace would be well served by a frank statement on their part of the inescapable implications that follow from the fact that the council has come into being.

Strange Asylum

It seems to us that the immigration authorities have been pursuing a very stiff-necked policy concerning the 45 persons of Hungarian nationality and anti-Communist politics whom they arrested en masse last July and have been detaining ever since at Ellis Island, pending deportation proceedings. Technically, perhaps, the authorities have acted within the letter of the law; as a matter of justice, the whole business seems a rather sorrowful travesty. Almost without exception, these people had political reasons for fleeing from Hungary, so that deportation in their cases would be tantamount to a sentence of death or imprisonment in some penal labor camp.

The Hungarians, it seems, were among the thousands of refugees from Central Europe who have entered the United States on transit visas on passports to various Latin-American countries. Had they arrived before April 1, 1948, however, they would have been eligible for permanent residence under the Displaced Persons Act. They were led to believe that act would be amended in their behalf, and appear to have been encouraged in this belief by the Immigration and Naturalization Service. In many cases legislation was specially introduced in Congress to admit them under the Hungarian quotas. In the anticipation of this legislation, and with what appears to have been the tacit approval of the immigration authorities, they remained in the country after their visas had expired.

When, however, the bills in their behalf were thrown out by Senator McCarran's committee, and amendments to the Displaced Persons Act blocked, the immigration authorities reversed their policy and began rounding up the refugees. Later it was alleged that the visas of the passports had been in some cases forged. So far as we can determine this has not been proved, and some of the Hungarians insist that their passports were entirely valid at the time they entered the country.

The treatment of these anti-Communist refugees, all, evidently, persons of education and of unexceptionable character, contrasts curiously with the treatment of Gerhart Eisler and other Communists under similar circumstances, and with the curious lack of vigilance that apparently permits agents of the Cominform and N. K. V. D. to enter and leave the country at will. It seems to suggest that the real mistake of the refugees was in the very conventionality of their conduct.

Senator Dulles has introduced a bill that would qualify 6 of the 45 prisoners under the Displaced Persons Act, and, we understand, intends to do so in behalf of the others who are certified by the immigration office on the score of character. It seems to us that the Judiciary Committee, which after all is responsible for the technicality under which these people have been arrested and placed in danger of deportation and death, must in all conscience clear Senator Dulles' bill.

Self-Interest

Much of what Senator Vandenberg told the visiting foreign newspapermen at the Press Club Thursday night had been said before, but the Michigan Senator found new and impressive ways to say it. As we interpret it, the purpose of his talk was two-fold: first to convince the visitors, if they needed convincing, that the American commitment to the free world is a deep and cardinal principle supported by the American people and their legislators; second, to sound again the tocsin that here is a limit to the amount of tangible aid the United States can give.

In a ringing phrase, Senator Vandenberg enunciated the American determination to avoid appeasement, which is but surrender on the installment plan. However, he called for recognition that "our unweakened strength is a common asset for us all." In other words, self-help, mutual aid and cooperative effort are the necessary corollaries of the partnership which this country has entered, not for reasons of charity, but because of intelligent self-interest. This is a two-edged epigram which deserves to be pondered both by the forces of political and economic nationalism in western Europe and by those in this country who regard the Marshall Plan as either a dumping ground or a giant WPA. The European editors have both reassurance and a challenge to take back with them.

Talent Vetoed

Whether or not caprice entered the Senate decision to reject the nomination of Carl Ilgenfritz as chairman of the Munitions Board, the effect seems capricious. What the Senate has done is to veto the man regarded by President Truman and Defense Secretary Johnson as the best-qualified person for this intricate job of industrial planning. One may readily sympathize with the feeling of Senators who believe that to permit Mr. Ilgenfritz to retain his $70,000 salary while on leave from his post as vice president of the United States Steel Corp. would set a bad precedent. Yet the precedent already exists with the scores of dollar-a-year men who served during the war. The 40-28 Senate vote adds up to an unrealistic view of the difficulties encountered in persuading a competent man to take this job; for the position calls for a particular type of talent not easily found, and Congress has provided no alternative inducement for men to whom Government service means a whopping salary cut. Where does the President go from here?

UNDER THE SUN

The sun comes warm across the mountains and touches the sea with yellow spray;
The sun warms the shoulders of men as they go to work in the morning,
And lights their faces golden as they turn to the end of day.

To walk on the earth under the sun is good,
Accepting light and shadow following—
And to return at dusk to eat the warm clean food.
To sleep through the dark in peace of heart is a wonderful thing.

And yet the hungry and the homeless men
Pass by the doorways seeking shelter
From wind and rain—

And the guns coming and the nearing plane.
So many are the dead that their names are forgotten
In their own land.

Who shall know these things and go in peace under the sun again?

Malmedy Trials

Your September 14 correspondent on the Malmedy Trials, William Osten, appears to be quite unperturbed by the alleged mistreatment of the defendants in those trials apparently on the ground that "two wrongs can make a right." This is a dangerous and shocking concept, one which makes a mockery of the declared aims of the United Nations in the recent war and of the hope for a better world in the future.

When Allied troops overran Germany, three basic courses of action were open to the victors: do nothing, shoot or imprison everybody associated with Nazi institutions and activities, or attempt to punish those evildoers actually guilty of criminal acts.

We chose, despite the obvious difficulties of proof, the third path, the technique of determining guilt through the judicial process because it was the only procedure consonant with our stated war aims, our culture and our desire to foster "law and order" and to encourage a sense of justice in the cesspool of indecency and brutality created by the Nazi ideology.

Having done so, we assumed at the same time the formidable obligation of assuring the accused a fair trial, and that is precisely what each defendant was entitled to receive unless we are willing to accept with complacency the hypocrisy attendant upon the Malmedy trials if they were, in fact, conducted with the outward trappings, but not the substance, of justice.

It is imperative that the truth in the charges made by the accused should be ferretted out. They should not be sloughed off with the irrelevant obse.vations that the SS troops were butchers anyway, and that the Congress could better use its time and energy to investigate slum conditions in the United States.

"Hunting The Ark"

After reading your editorial on Noah's Ark (September 4) as printed in the Decatur (Ill.) Herald of September 8, in which you give some statements for and against some of the Bible claims, may I add the following to that list:

According to the Bible, Noah's Ark was "300 cubits long, 50 cubits wide, and 30 cubits high." A cubit was considered to be the number of inches from elbow to end of middle finger—about 18 inches, or 1½ feet. If that was the length of a cubit the Ark would be 450 feet long, 75 feet wide and 45 feet high—not an unreasonable size for a boat.

But the 40 days and 40 nights of rainfall only raised the waters upward 15 cubits in all, or to a depth of 22½ feet, which would not cover an ordinary hill, certainly not the mountains. Genesis says hills and mountains were covered, and everyone drowned except the persons in the Ark.

Someone claims that perhaps the cubit named in the Bible was much longer than 18 inches. That is, long enough so that 15 cubits would be as long as, say, a 5-mile high mountain, or more. In that case a cubit would be one third of a mile long. And that would make the Ark 100 miles long, 16 2/3 miles wide, and 10 miles high, which, of course, is out of all reason.

Hence, again taking the 18-inch recognized cubit, the conclusion would be that Mount Ararat was not covered by the flood and that in all probability the Ark never rested atop Ararat. And regardless of the debatable length of the cubit, a 40-day and 40-night continuous rain would not supply enough water to cover the earth's mountains.

It is considered by the United States Weather Bureau to be quite a downpour of rain if 2.81 inches of rain falls in one hour. Now, counting a heavy rainfall to be 3 inches per hour, we'd have for 40 days and 40 nights a heavy rainfall the following: 960 hours of heavy rainfall at 3 inches per hour, 2880 inches or 240 feet, which would not cover any mountain.

"Genocide Convention"

As one deeply concerned that the United States assume leadership in the ratification of the Genocide Convention, I was particularly gratified with the excellent editorial in your issue of September 11. Its great value lies in its clear and concise explanation of the provisions of the convention and the manner in which these provisions safeguard both national and individual rights. I hope that we may have more on this subject from time to time, creating the informed public opinion referred to by Senator Brien McMahon in his statement of August 29, on this subject.

As chairman of the subcommittee of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to study the Genocide Convention Senator McMahon referred to hearings to be held in January, 1950, stating "In the meantime, the American people will have full opportunity to continue their study and discussion of the Genocide Convention and its implications. I am confident this will serve to expedite committee consideration and public hearings and that favorable Senate action will be prompt and supported by a strong body of informed public opinion."

Fresco-Cide

There are several disturbing factors in the fresco-cide at American University that I wish Jane Watson Crane had discussed in her column of September 11 rather than play upon the hypothetical statement that the university and its publication, Right Angle, always pursued a "liberal policy" in relation to the creative arts. Right Angle has always been the mouthpiece for a small esoteric group of derivative painters who depended upon European modernism (so-called) for support and who deliberately ignored or fought against realism in art, creative American art or any form of social content in the arts.

As for destruction of the mural, we must assume that it was done with the knowledge and consent of the university, either because the faculty considered it unworthy of posterity or because the faculty considered the destruction a clever act to obtain publicity for both the artist and the school.

There have been other fresco-cides upon several competent WPA murals in local high schools and no hue and cry was raised about their destruction, although these murals were made with public funds by public consent. There is probably no artistic loss in the American University fresco-cide, but there is some loss of artistic freedom in the casual destruction of murals without the artists' or public consent.

Price-Support Cost

Allow me to join "American," of Norfolk, Va., whose letter appeared in your issue of September 6, in a demand for the unqualified repeal of the idiotic farm-price-support law. In the first place it is class legislation of the rankest kind and I am sure would be declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court.

I see in the papers that the party leaders of both parties are going to try to find out what the farmers want. How would it do to make some effort to find out what is wanted by the man who pays for all this mumbo-jumbo, which is in fact only another way to get and hold more power.

Devaluation And British Living Costs

This letter is in reference to Mr. Clarence K. Streit's article on devaluation in your September 14 issue. Mr. Streit's main theme against devaluation concerns the threat to the middle classes inherent in such a step. He notes that one of the few remaining symbols of these middle classes is their large holding of Government bonds, insurance policies, savings deposits, mortgages, etc. What Mr. Streit does not realize is that these bonds have already lost part of their value, and that devaluation is necessary as a result of this and other factors.

British prices have risen over 200 percent since 1938 and are still climbing. The purchasing power of these long-term securities has thus been correspondingly reduced. Devaluation against the dollar would amount to an across-the-board cut in prices on all British exports and make them more competitive on the dollar market.

True, a rise in import prices and the cost of living would result, which in turn would tend to raise prices and wages. However, prices and wages could be kept to a fraction of the total cut in export prices and the over-all export price reduction would still remain in effect.

The basic economic difficulties of high-cost production, low labor productivity and restricted world trade will still have to be solved if Britain is to be self-supporting in the foreseeable future. In any case, the crutch of Marshall aid coupled with the increased demand for British exports which should result from devaluation will insure continuance of economic progress until the more basic solutions have been worked out. The middle class will certainly benefit by facing hard reality now while American aid is still politically feasible than by having to make basic economic readjustments in 1952, when no guarantee of American generosity can be made.

Mr. Streit's solution is equally subject to criticism. A monetary union between the Atlantic Federation powers would not solve the dollar crisis but rather would merely translate balance of payments deficits into one currency.

The basic fact that Europe is not selling as much as it buys from the dollar area means that under a monetary union all the dollars (or other currency) would eventually flow to the United States, leaving Europe in a state of depression. This result is exactly what Marshall aid has prevented for reasons obvious enough. In addition, a monetary union would place national economic policy functions in the hands of the power issuing the currency. This would deprive individual governments of a large part of their functions in the fields of employment, inflation and deflation, social welfare, public works, etc. Clearly, this is an unworkable solution at this time.

A freeing of European trade coupled with realistic exchange rates strikes me as a far more constructive way to maintain free enterprise and re-create a multilateral trading system.

Washington Calling

By Marquis Childs

Insulating Influence

THROUGH the questioning of a witness before a Senate committee it was disclosed that Senator Styles Bridges of New Hampshire was serving as a paid trustee for the United Mine Workers' welfare fund. His compensation is $35,000 a year.

Bridges said at the time that he paid out of this sum special costs in connection with administering the trust. In part, at least, this was refuted by subsequent testimony showing that lawyers and accountants received compensation in addition to the salaries given the trustees. The Senator now says he will resign as trustee within a month or two when an actuarial study is completed.

This is an example of what threatens to become an accepted practice—for members of Congress, who are paid $12,500 a year, plus a $2500 tax-free expense allowance, to take fees for outside jobs. As the Government intervenes to an ever-increasing degree in the Nation's economic life, it becomes an increasingly serious matter. The more favors that can be passed out by men in power, the more likely they are to remain entrenched in power.

One of the most conscientious members of Congress, Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon, felt so strongly about this that in both the Eightieth and Eighty-first Congresses he has tried to do something about it. After it was disclosed in an executive session of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee that a certain Senator had a large stock interest in a corporation directly affected by proposed legislation, Morse put in a bill requiring Senators to disclose annually all their sources of income.

This would include fees, salaries, income from trusts and estates or dividends received or credited to the account of the Senator. And, under the language of the bill, income derived from a law firm or a partnership should list the names of clients from whom fees are received. No action has been taken on this bill.

WHILE a majority of Senators would repulse anyone seeking to buy their influence, there are avenues of approach through the law firm back home that in the instance of certain Senators seems to have worked magic in bringing support for a cause or an individual. Reports persist of the large amounts spent by representatives of the Chinese Nationalists in this country to persuade influential men in and out of Congress to champion Chiang Kai-shek.

Some Senators apparently feel not merely the right but the obligation to serve in trusteeships. From August, 1945, until his resignation the other day to become Attorney General, Howard McGrath of Rhode Island was a trustee of the Rhode Island Charities Trust.

Facts about this trust were brought out in a Senate investigation a year ago. The Bureau of Internal Revenue had at that time challenged the right of the trust to tax exemption, alleging that its income of $4,500,000 for the period under inquiry was subject to taxation. There was shown to be a close relationship between the trust and Textron, Inc., a textile manufacturing firm. The investigation was conducted by Senator Charles H. Toby of New Hampshire after Textron had closed down some of its New Hampshire Mills.

It was shown that McGrath and the other two trustees each received $15,547 for 1947. At his own request McGrath testified under oath about his work as a trustee.

McGRATH testified that shortly after he became chairman of the Democratic National Committee, he called up the Bureau of Internal Revenue to make an appointment for the trustees. Because of an important White House conference, McGrath could not keep the appointment.

He testified:

"He (Trustee Sturges) therefore went to the bureau himself and he had that conference as a result of which it was agreed that we would file a legal brief in support of our contentions. The brief was prepared. I went over it very thoroughly with Mr. Sturges and Mr. Simonds (the third trustee), and the brief was submitted to the bureau."

McGrath has a high reputation for integrity. He has extensive business interests in Rhode Island. But it is straining credulity to expect anyone to believe that the Chairman of the Democratic National Committee and a leading Administration Senator would not have a greater influence at the Bureau of Internal Revenue than just any lawyer. On inquiry at the bureau one is told that the Rhode Island trust matter is "being processed in a routine way."

It's probably naive to think the Senate will do anything about Senator Morse's bill. A valid argument can be made that it would be a further discrimination against the officeholder and tend to keep men of substance and means from running for the Senate.

But it seems to me that the time has come to take some action that will check an abuse that may finally come to be taken for granted. That is essential, if only to protect the majority of scrupulous members of Congress.

Malvina Lindsay is on vacation. Her column, which appears in this space on Wednesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, will be resumed in the issue of October 5.

13.9% Phone Rates Hike Asked in D. C.

Extra messages would continue at 4½ cents each. The service is used by 4300 customers.

There would be a 50-cent increase for users of individual business lines. The rate would go up from $6 to $6.50. Extra messages would continue at present rates for 200 calls, then would be boosted one quarter of a cent per call.

The basic rate covers 100 calls; the next 100 cost 5 cents each, the next 100 cost 4 cents each, and all additional calls cost 3¼ cents each.

Under the new rate, the extra messages after the 4-cent bracket would be 3½ cents each. This service is used by 14,400 subscribers.

The company proposed continuing two other types of business phone service for present customers only. One is the individual line, limited-service phone; the rate would go up from $3.75 to $4.50 for the first 50 messages. Extra messages now are 5 cents each for the first 150, and 4 cents each for all others. The new plan calls for a 5-cent charge for each call over the basic allowance of 50.

The plan also would increase the two-party line, limited business service rate from $3.25 to $3.75 for 40 messages, with each additional call continuing to cost 5 cents. The party line service, since January 11, 1948, has been open only to those who then had it.

Filed by Vice President

The rate increase petition was filed with the PUC by C. H. Johnson, vice president and general manager of the C. & P. Telephone Co., through Attorneys John T. Quisenberry, William G. Gassaway and Blake T. Newton.

Johnson said that the 1.8-million-dollar requested increase in net earnings after taxes is "the minimum amount needed to meet today's higher costs of operation." He pointed out that the rate increase two years ago was the company's first in 27 years.

Two major cost factors were cited by company officials. Wage increases, they said, had taken some 87 percent of the rate increases granted two years ago. Second, high building costs have doubled the cost-per-added-telephone of plant expansion. Post-war plant expansion has cost about 55 million so far, officials said, and "the company will be required to spend many millions more for additional telephone facilities within the next few years."

Company officials pointed out that parallel petitions have been filed for rate increases in the Maryland and Virginia portions of the Washington metropolitan area. The Virginia request is in hearings now, and Maryland hearings are to begin next month.

John M. Howard, general commercial manager of the company, estimated that of the $3,200,000 gross increase in revenues, 47.5 percent would be paid by residential uses and the rest by commercial users, including Government agencies.

Variation in Increases

Howard said that a sampling of typical phone bills of commercial users indicated a wide variance in the percentage increases that the new rates would mean for individual firms. He said the sample showed a five percent increase for one, and varying amounts up to 23 percent for others. He said the figures depend on the amounts and types of services the commercial customers use.

Other proposed rate increases contained in the petition follow:

Business and residential extension phones and private branch exchange stations, now 50 cents a month, would be 75 cents a month.

Monthly charges for private branch exchange systems and equipment would go up.

The monthly charge for a key switchboard with seven stations and three trunks would go from $4 to $5; for one with 12 stations and 5 trunks, the charge would go from $5 to $7.

For nonmultiple, cord switchboards, with 40-line-or-less station capacity, the monthly charge would go from $7 to $10; for those with 41- to 80-line station capacity, the charge would go from $10 to $15, and for 81- to 320-line station capacity, the charge would go from $15 to $20.

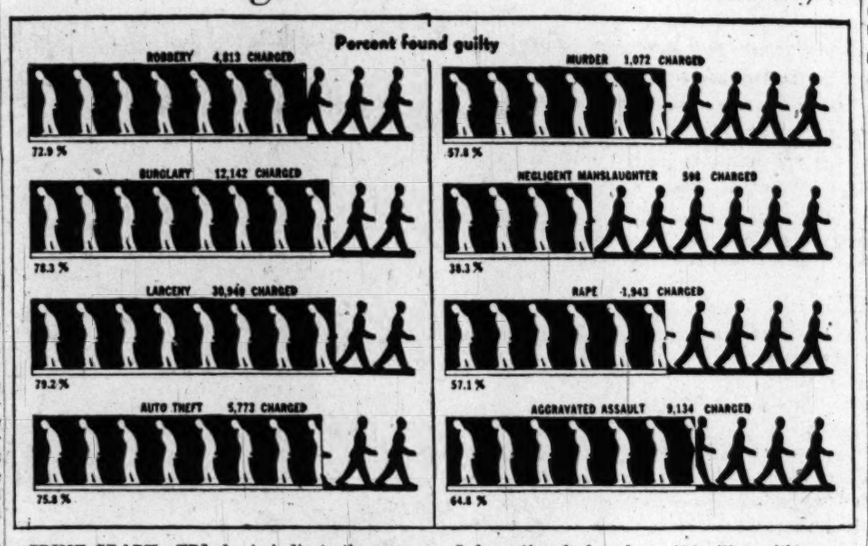
With multiple switchboards, having standard features only, the monthly charge per position would go up from $20 to $30. The rate for adding a single flashing recall feature would increse from $20 to $35.

For adding double flashing recall, universal cord circuits, machine ringing, and audible ringing features, the charge would go up from $20 to $65. These rates would apply to dial systems with 3200 lines or less, and manual systems with 1700 lines or less. For larger systems, the monthly charge with standard features would go up from $20 to $50 and the charge with double flashing recall added would go up from $20 to $65.

The monthly charge for 12 button manual key station sets would be increased from $1 to $1.25. Rates for 24 and 36 button key sets would be withdrawn in the new schedule. The charge for these is now $1.25.

Rates for moving and connecting phones would be left unchanged. Rates and installation charges for auxiliary and supplemental equipment would continue unchanged, but would be listed in the schedules filed with the PUC.

Persons Charged and Percent Found Guilty



CRIME GRAPH—FBI charts indicate the number of persons charged and found guilty of crimes against the person and property in 1948.

FBI Reports Crime Rise

$50 or more, decrease of 219; larceny under $50, decrease of 855; auto theft, decrease of 256.

The crime figures for the first half of 1948 were furnished by the Metropolitan Police Department.

Inspector Floyd Truscott, acting superintendent of police, said the figures in the semiannual bulletin released in September, 1948, contained errors. He said the adjusted figures were sent to the FBI but too late to be corrected in the printed report.

In robbery cases, for example, the FBI was originally informed by local police that there were 676 such cases in the District during the first half of 1948. It was later found, Truscott said, that in certain robbery cases where two defendants were arrested, the statistics counted them as two cases. The robbery figure, Truscott said, was adjusted to 494.

For the Nation as a whole, the FBI reported all crimes increased 2.7 per cent in cities and 7.6 per cent in rural communities the first half of this year compared to the first half of 1948.

In most urban areas, there were increases in aggravated assaults, burglaries and larcenies, while murders and auto thefts declined.

For all the Nation (of which the FBI report covers 60,600,000 of the nearly 150 million inhabitants) the rate of aggravated assault per 100,000 persons rose from 35.9 to 39.8 in the year. However, the percentage figures are based on the 1940 census, admittedly out of date.

For the 35 cities of over 250,000 the assault rate was 6.3 per 100,000, again using the 1940 census figures. A total of 24,116 offenses were reported.

The FBI reported that for the Nation over 77 per cent of the persons charged by police during calendar 1948 were found guilty on trial. For every 100 murder cases, convictions resulted in 50, the FBI said.

Percentages of conviction for other crimes were: Aggravated assault, 39; rape, 38; negligent manslaughter, 32; robbery, 21; auto theft, 13; burglary and larceny, 12.

In murder and negligent manslaughter cases over the Nation, the police in 1948 "cleared" some 90.9 per cent, that is, disposed of by arrest of the offender or by some other legal means.

As a footnote, the FBI reported that of every 100,000 persons in the 1525 cities reporting 19,071 were involved last year in a parking violation—about one of every five citizens.

Georgia High Court Upholds Law to Curb Negroes' Voting

Atlanta, Sept. 16 (AP).—Georgia's voter reregistration law—a new wrinkle in Southern efforts to curb Negro voting—was upheld unanimously today by the State Supreme Court.

The measure was Gov. Herman Talmadge's pet bill of the 1949 legislature.

It wiped out the State's record-breaking old list of 1,200,000 registered voters, including 120,000 Negroes. It ordered a completely new registration under stiffened qualifications.

"Bloc Voting" Assailed

Talmadge said this fulfilled his loudly shouted campaign pledge to halt "the evils of bloc voting." By this, he explained, he meant lining up of Negroes to vote en-masse in a controlled bloc.

Talmadge said if he couldn't have an all-white election, he wanted one "just as white as we can get it."

The Governor's forces shaped Georgia law carefully. They were aware of a long series of court decisions striking down all previous efforts by Southern States to deny Negroes a ballot.

In many places they used the exact language of these decisions to define powers of registrars and establish qualifications for voting.

Talmadge charged that many unqualified Negroes had been permitted to register on the old voting list.

Provisions of Law

To tighten the State's voting requirements, the law says a citizen first must satisfy registrars that he can read any section of the Constitution "intelligently" and write any section "legibly."

Failing this test, the prospective voter was given a list of 30 simple questions on government—the name of the President, name of the Governor, etc. Correct answers to any 10 of these 30 questions qualified a citizen to vote.

Registrars were given complete power to decide whether an applicant could meet these tests.

The questions:

1. Who is the President of the United States?
2. What is the term of the office of the President of the United States?
3. May the President of the United States be legally elected for a second term?
4. If the President of the United States dies in office, who succeeds him?
5. How many groups compose the Congress of the United States?
6. How many United States Senators are there from Georgia?
7. What is the term of office of a United States Senator?
8. Who are the United States Senators from Georgia?
9. Who is the Governor of Georgia?
10. Who is the lieutenant governor of Georgia?
11. Who is the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Georgia?
12. Who is the Chief Judge of the Court of Appeals of Georgia?
13. Into what two groups is the General Assembly of Georgia divided?
14. Does each Georgia county have at least one representative in the Georgia House of Representatives?
15. Do all Georgia counties have the same number of representatives in the Georgia House of Representatives?
16. In what city are the laws of the United States made?
17. How old do you have to be to vote in Georgia?
18. What city is the Capital of the United States?
19. How many States are there in the United States?
20. Who is the commander in chief of the United States Army?
21. In what congressional district do you live?
22. Who represents your congressional district in the national House of Representatives?
23. In what State senatorial district do you live?
24. Who is the State Senator that represents your senatorial district?
25. In what county do you live?
26. Who represents your county in the House of Representatives of Georgia? If there are more than one representative, name them.
27. What is the name of the county seat of your county?
28. Who is the ordinary of your county?
29. Who is the judge of the Superior Court of your circuit? If there is more than one, name one additional judge.
30. Who is the solicitor general of your circuit?

Senate Turns Down Ilgenfritz To Avoid Dual-Pay Precedent

ceded Ilgenfritz had "superior" qualifications but told the Senate:

"I don't think we have gotten down to the point where we must have Government positions subsidized by outside interests."

The 58-year-old Ilgenfritz, vice president in charge of purchases of the United States Steel Corporation of Delaware, who worked his way up from a steel puddler, said he couldn't relinquish his private salary without losing his pension rights.

Would Serve Gratis

Yesterday he wired Stephen T. Early, Deputy Secretary of Defense, he would be willing to forego the $14,000 pay that goes with the munitions post and "serve gratis" but was advised he could not do that legally.

If confirmed, he said he would request a legal opinion on whether he could decline Government pay, and abide by that opinion.

If not confirmed, he said he would "nevertheless be grateful for the honor the President has done me and will continue to look forward to some other opportunity to serve the public good."

The Senate debate further highlighted the Administration's dilemma in persuading top flight men to sever private connections to take high Government posts.

Vote Is an Upset

The vote itself was an upset. Only a few days ago the Senate Armed Services Committee approved the nomination, 9 to 4, with every GOP member save one and all but three Democrats voting confirmation.

Neither in the committee nor on the floor was the appointment a party issue. The Senate divided this way: For confirmation—six Democrats and 12 Republicans. Against confirmation — eighteen Republicans and 22 Democrats.

Most Southern Democrats voted with Byrd against the nomination, but they were joined by many a Northern and Western "Fair Deal" Democrat.

Leading the futile fight for confirmation, Senate Armed Services Chairman Millard E. Tydings said no other man available was so well qualified for the job.

Tydings warned that more than one nation may soon have the atomic bomb, that the drop of a bomb may signal the next war and "one of the indispensable things . . . is that we have this country's planning done so that we can meet overnight that emergency when it shall come."

Must Be Practical

He said Ilgenfritz didn't seek the post, the job sought him, and he agreed to accept it "as a patriotic service."

Implying the Senate was taking a "holier than thou" attitude, Tydings said:

"How many members of the Senate own stock in some corporation? I am not disparaging those who own stock, but we must be somewhat practical about human nature and life.

"We have put wings on ourselves and flown all around the atmosphere, making love to the angels, with a purity that defies description, because a man who has been a poor man and who finally climbs the ladder . . . has been called on by the Government to take this job."

Tydings said Ilgenfritz testified "he did not own a share of stock, had no interest in any corporation and that he is dependent entirely upon his salary for income."

The post has been vacant since June 22, when Donald F. Carpenter, of Remington Arms and the Du Pont de Nemours Co., resigned.

Byrd maintained that Carpenter gave up outside pay and worked "regularly" at the job, while Tydings insisted he worked only a few days a week and "it wasn't a satisfactory arrangement."

Byrd said he opposed the nomination reluctantly because Ilgenfritz "impressed me favorably and I believe him to be a gentleman of the highest integrity."

He said he did not believe Ilgenfritz would abuse his powers but "if the Senate approves this nomination we will be establishing a precedent which if continued may end in seriously undermining the confidence of the people in our form of government."

Byrd argued that while the Munitions Board chairman would not directly make contracts he would have supervision over the agencies that do.

He said U. S. Steel was the largest seller of munitions of war to the Government, and questioned the "propriety" of it "subsidizing" the salary of a public official even for a year.

Senator Virgil Chapman (D., Ky.) backed up Byrd, saying: "No servant can serve two masters."

Senator Leverett Saltonstall (R., Mass.) backed up Tydings. He said Ilgenfritz "stands for all that is best in public life" and was clearly the best qualified man for the post.

Senator William Langer (R., S. Daka) said, however, that there wasn't any such thing as an indispensable man and every state in the Union could produce equally qualified men.

Senator Chan Guerney (R., S. Dak.,) said he didn't like the dual salary arrangement but "we've got to have him right away."

Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D., Cola.,) suggests Congress pass special legislation permitting Ilgenfritz to work for the Government on a token basis. Tydings favored the idea but Byrd said it wouldn't solve the problem.

The Adimistration was said to have no other man immediately in mind for the post.

and maintenance of harmony among the services been a source of embarrassment to the Navy Department.

"While there is no intent to impair your right to free expression of views, I believe a more appropriate and effective procedure would be to transmit them to me through channels in accordance with . . . Navy regulations.

"The views so transmitted will, I assure you, be used in support of the integrity and efficiency of the naval service.

"The cooperation of all personnel affected by the foregoing will be greatly appreciated."

The Air Force already has instructed its officers to keep out of the melee stirred up by Crommelin's attack on the unified military establishment.

Matthews' telegram followed closely on his action late Thursday in ordering Crommelin shifted from a job which normally would be filled by a rear admiral to a captain's billet under command of a rear admiral.

"Obviously Disqualified"

After Matthews announced that Crommelin's outspoken criticism of unification had "obviously disqualified" him for further service with the unified staff of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, it became known Crommelin had been assigned as director o fnaval aviation personnel. That job had just been vacated by a rear admiral.

Within a few hours, Matthews announced that Crommelin wouldn't get that job after all, but would be assigned to duty with the Air Warfare Division. There he would hold a post calling for the rank of captain.

The 46-year-old naval aviator is one of five brothers, all of whom were Annapolis graduates and all of whom served with distinction in World War II. Two were killed in action.

ance policy represent a return to the insured person of the excess of premiums he paid over the amounts required to pay claims and to set up necessary reserves. He pointed out that the dividend rate is not necessarily proportional to the premium paid for the insurance.

VA officials said that about nine million veterans already have filed applications for the dividends. All veterans must submit applications in order to receive their dividends.

Old Forester Cut $5 a Case

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 16 (U.P.).—Brown-Forman Distillers Corp. today announced a reduction of $5 a case to wholesalers of Old Forester bonded bourbon.

No indication was given as to what the cut to consumers will be. A short time ago, Glenmore Distillers cut its Kentucky Tavern bonded bourbon by $1 a fifth to consumers.

Cook Named AEC Chief Of Oak Ridge Operation

Richard W. Cook yesterday was appointed manager of the Atomic Energy Commission's operations at Oak Ridge, Tenn.

Cook has been acting manager. He succeeds J. C. Franklin, who resigned last June.

Cook will be in charge of Uranium-235 production, the Oak Ridge National Laboratory, the community of Oak Ridge, and related activities.

Telegrams Call Democrats In House Back to Capital

House Democratic leaders have wired congressional Democrats to be present when the House returns this Wednesday from its month-long "vacation."

Telegrams sent out jointly by Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas and House Democratic Leader John W. McCormack of Massachusetts simply said it was "important" that members be on hand.

While no specific program was mentioned, it was learned the leadership is anxious to speed to conference three Senate-passed appropriation bills stalled during the recess and to get legislation and committees under way.

Wires to Be Forwarded

Rumors had circulated the House really wasn't going to transact much business before the week beginning this Monday, and many members were planning to take their time about hopping Washington trains.

The telegrams sent to members offices here for forwarding to legislators everywhere, even those touring Europe, was designed to spike any such notion and assure a working quorum.

The wire did not make clear whether the summons applied to committees making investigations overseas.

For example, 13 members of the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee arrived in England five days ago to begin a two-month survey of European public health plans.

Leave For Sweden

Yesterday the group left Dublin by air for Sweden, Chairman Beckworth (D., Tex.), spokesman for the party, announcing:

"We are only on a fact-finding mission. We will come to no decisions as a body until we have completed our survey."

Rayburn and McCormack have not yet returned to Washington, but one informed House source said the call went out to all and sundry and, except for illness or pressing official or personal business, the notice applied to all.

Republican leaders, advised of the Democratic notice, were expected to call in their own members.

With more than 21 billion dollars in appropriations still tied up, and more than 10 weeks overdue, the House is expected to open a drive to clear the money bill docket by October 1. On that date the last emergency extension of stopgap funds to Government agencies expires.

Thus, even if the House goes immediately to work Wednesday, it will have only nine days to beat the next money bill deadline.

2 Bills In Conference

Two big appropriation bills, Army civil functions and foreign aid, already are in conference, but not a lick of work has been done on either since the House recessed.

Three other major money measures, National Defense, Interior and third deficiency, have been passed in different forms by House and Senate, but the House hasn't yet sent them to conference.

Leaders haven't yet announced what major legislation the House intends to move first, but a session-end program will be worked out at an early House Democratic policy huddle.

GSI Reveals Net Of $181,300 for Past 8 Months

Government Services, Inc., showed a total net revenue of $181,300 in the first eight months of 1949, Herbert L. Willett, jr., secretary-treasurer, announced yesterday.

The profit, he said, will offset nearly half the loss of the organization in 1946 and 1947 with discontinuance of special wartime facilities.

Gross income from all activities during the eight months was $7,004,000, an increase of 9 per cent over the comparable period of 1948, Willett said. GSI operates cafeterias, snack bars, refectories and other facilities in Government buildings and properties.

Chicago Police Seek Maniac For Raping Nurse

Chicago, Sept. 16 (AP).—A 19-year-old nurse was raped last night by a sex maniac who robbed and bound the young woman's escort.

The attack heightened a police search for a gunman who last Friday shot to death Fred Ahlgrim, 49, when Ahlgrim resisted efforts to kidnap him and a woman companion.

The nurse told police her assailant told her he was "a sex maniac" and had killed a man who resisted him last Friday "over in Maxwell." Ahlgrim was killed in the Maxwell police district.

The nurse's escort, Louis L. Kerfman, 21, a truck driver, was bound and robbed of $43 and forced into the trunk of the car.

Eastland Proposes Farm Export Stimulus

Senator Eastland (D., Miss.) introduced yesterday a bill to stimulate exports of farm supplies with aid of a $1,500,000,000 revolving fund.

Eastland told the Senate that "the entire farm problem is a problem of surplus."

By extending credit through the fund, he said, world trade can be revived.

Postal Officials Take Steps To Settle Polio Drive Feud

New York, Sept. 16 (AP).—Postoffice officials have taken steps to smooth out a dispute between two organizations seeking funds to fight infantile paralysis.

The controversy was disclosed as the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis last night extended for a second week its emergency drive for $14,500,000.

Criticism of the foundation's fund-gathering methods came from the Sister Elizabeth Kenny Foundation, Inc., which also is conducting a campaign for funds.

Rex G. Williams, eastern area director of the Kenny Foundation, claimed the National Foundation had scheduled its special drive to coincide with the Sister Kenny campaign in a deliberate effort "to stymie us."

He said the Sister Kenny Drive has been conducted every year in September.

Principal concern of his group, he said, is over a postoffice directive authorizing transmission to the National Foundation of all mail addressed merely to "Polio."

In a telegram to Postmaster Jesse M. Donaldson, Williams asked that postmasters be instructed to "guard against" getting contributions for the Sister Kenny group mixed with those going to the National Foundation.

Postoffice representatives were reported to have assured the Sister Kenny group such steps would be taken.

A spokesman for the National Foundation said Williams' claims were "ridiculous."

New School Named For John Carroll

The new Catholic high school for boys will be named in honor of Archbishop John Carroll, founder of Georgetown University, first Bishop of Baltimore, and first member of the American Roman Catholic hierarchy.

Announcement of the name of the school was made yesterday by the Most Rev. Patrick A. O'Boyle, Archbishop of Washington. Construction of the school at 4300 Harewood rd. ne., will begin late this fall.

The school, which will accommodate nearly 1000 students, will be erected a a cost of more than one million dollars. Archdiocesan officials expect it to open in the fall of 1951.

The school, Archbishop O'Boyle said, "will be a memorial to a great man of God, patriot and educator."

Archbishop Carroll was the brother of Daniel Carroll, signer of the Constitution and one of three commissioners who surveyed and laid out the District of Columbia. His cousin was Charles Carroll of Carrollton, signer of the Declaration of Independence.

Born in Upper Marlboro, Md., in 1735, Archbishop Carroll attended St. Omar's School in France, was ordained a Jesuit priest in 1771 and became a professor of philosophy and theology at Bruges, Belgium.

He returned to America in 1774. Pope Pius VI named him Prefect Apostolic of the United States in 1784 and five years later he was appointed the first American bishop. He became Archbishop of Baltimore in 1808.

Archbishop Carroll was instrumental in founding a number of Catholic schools. Among them were Georgetown University, founded in 1789, and Visitation Academy for Girls, founded in 1799.

She has been also a public school teacher and was a social worker in Omaha, Nebr.

3 Holy Days Nearing for Area Jewry

Three of the major Holy Days of the Jewish year will be observed during the next four weeks.

On Friday at sundown Jews throughout the world will begin their celebration of Rosh Hashonah, the New Year. At sundown on October 2, the Day of Atonement, Yom Kippur, will begin.

The third Holy Days, most joyous and longest in the year, will begin at sundown on October 7. It is known as Sukkos, the Feast of Tabernacles.

With Rosh Hashonah, Jews will begin a period of 10 days of prayer and penitence which come to a climax on Yom Kippur, a day of fasting and worship which is the most solemn in the religious year.

Traditional part of the Rosh Hashonah service is the blowing of the shofar, or ram's horn, by the cantor of the congregation. Similar horns were used in ancient Palestine to summon citizens to assemble or to intimidate the enemy in times of war.

According to the Jewish system of computation, the creation of the earth took place 3760 years before the beginning of the Christian era. For this reason, the present year is 5709, the year beginning Friday is 5710.

Both Rosh Hashonah and Yom Kippur are profoundly serious days in which the moral responsibility of the individual is stressed. Thus, they are sometimes called "The Days of Awe," and the month of Tishri, in which they fall, is sometimes called "The Month of Spiritual Strength."

Many Yom Kippur services open with the chanting of the melancholy and moving Kol Nidre by the cantor. On this day of total abstinence from food and drink, devout Jews ask God for forgiveness of their sins.

In contrast to the first two Holy Days of the month, Sukkos is a joyous festival. During it, Jews give thanks for the good things they have received during the past year.

Its name comes from the "sukkoh" or booth which is constructed of twigs and branches in the temples and homes as part of the celebration.

Rosh Hashonah will be observed for two days by Orthodox and Conservative Jews, and for one day by Jews in Palestine and by Reform congregations. Yom Kippur will be observed for one day by all groups.

Orthodox and Conservative Jews will observe Sukkos for nine days, with the first two and last two as full holidays and the days between as semi-holidays. Reform Jews and those in Palestine will observe the feast for eight days, with the first and eighth as full holidays.

Episcopalians To Convene in San Francisco

A delegation of clergymen and lay church workers from Washington and southern Maryland will attend the Fifty-sixth General Convention of the Episcopal Church in San Francisco September 26 through October 7.

The triennial gathering of bishops, clergy and laymen is the supreme legislative body of the church in the United States. It is composed of two bodies, the House of Bishops and the House of Clerical and Lay Deputies, which meet separately except for joint sessions at which the church budget and program are discussed.

Youth Convention to Be Held

The Woman's Auxiliary to the National Council of the Episcopal Church will meet at the same time as the general convention, and the National Youth Convention will meet September 29 through October 2.

The Right Rev. Angus Dun, Bishop of Washington, will lead the delegation from here. Clerical representatives of the House of Deputies will be the Rev. Charles W. Lowry, rector of All Saints' Church, Chevy Chase; the Rev. William MacD. Sharp, rector of St. John's, Georgetown; the Very Rev. John Wallace Suter, dean of the Washington Cathedral, and the Rev. Theodore O. Wedel, Cathedral Canon and Warden of the College of Preachers.

Lay deputies will be Ernest W. Greene, senior warden and treasurer of St. Margaret's Church; Thomas E. Robertson, vice president of the diocesan executive council; H. L. Rust, jr., treasurer of the diocese, and Ogle R. Singleton, secretary of the convention of the diocese.

Six women will represent the diocesan woman's auxiliary. They are Mrs. Theodore O. Wedel, president of the Washington branch of the auxiliary; Mrs. Waldo Burnside of Hyattsville, former president; Mrs. Robert M. Eaves, treasurer; Mrs. Myron Scribner, vice president of the Prince Georges County branch; Mrs. Robert W. Wilson of St. David's Church, and Mrs. Harold L. Quivers, assistant secretary of the department of social relations.

Youth representatives will be Patricia Wood of Esther Memorial Church and Montagu Pearse of Trinity Church, Takoma Park.

St. Margaret's Names Organist, Choirmaster

Election of Robert Ruckman as organist and choirmaster of St. Margaret's Episcopal Church, Connecticut ave. and Bancroft pl. nw., has been announced by the church.

Ruckman is dean of the Washington Chapter of the American Guild of Organists and for the past four years has taught at the Washington College of Music.

He is a graduate of Peabody Conservatory of Music in Baltimore, and has studied organ with Wallace Goodrich in Boston, Lynnwood Farnan and David McK. William in New York.

2 Fall Retreats Sponsored By Federation of Churches

The Rev. Thomas M. Steen, director of the Department of Christian Education of the Washington Federation of Churches, has announced two federation-sponsored fall retreats.

Fifty young adults left yesterday for the fourth annual young adult retreat at Camp Bennett, near Olney, Md., which will continue through Sunday afternoon.

25 Going to Camp Matoaca

Next Friday about 25 committee chairmen and assembly members of the Washington Federation of Christian Youth will leave for a three-day retreat at Camp Matoaca, on the Chesapeake Bay.

Dr. A. T. Mollegen, professor at the Virginia Theological Seminary in Alexandria, will be the main speaker at the young adult retreat this weekend at Camp Bennett. Theme of his four talks will be "The Search for a Living Christian Vocabulary."

To Lead Discussions

Discussion group leaders will be the Rev. R. Edward Dowdy, assistant pastor of First Baptist Church, 16th and O sts. nw., the Rev. Arthur F. Elmes, pastor of People's Congregational Church, 624 M st. nw.; Howard Rees, director of Baptist Student Work in Greater Washington, and the Rev. C. William Sprenkel, director of Lutheran student work.

The Washington Federation of Christian Youth retreat next weekend will consider plans for work during the coming year. John Preston, a member of First Congregational Church, is the president of the youth federation.

Dr. White Starts His Sixth Year At Metropolitan

The Rev. Dr. K. Owen White, pastor of Metropolitan Baptist Church, 6th and A sts. ne., will enter his sixth year as pastor of the church this week.

Dr. White

Metropolitan Church, which has been at its present location for more than 70 years, has a membership of 3300. During Dr. White's pastorate nearly 2000 members have been added. Sunday school attendance has jumped from 582 to 905, and the annual budget has increased from $52,000 to $123,000.

Before coming to Washington, Dr. White held pastorates in California, Kentucky and Georgia. He is a member of the Executive Committee of the District of Columbia Baptist Convention and the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board.

He will preach at 8:15 and 11 a. m. Sunday on "How Much Do You Owe?" and at 7:45 p. m. on "Dost Not Thou Fear God?" The evening service will be broadcast by WWDC at 8 p. m.

Archbishop of York Will Preach in D. C.

Sunday CHURCH EVENTS

Youth Sunday will be observed at Luther Place Memorial Church, Thomas cir. nw. In the afternoon the Young People's Fellowship will have a picnic in Grove 7 of Rock Creek Park, followed by a Luther League meeting at 6:30 p. m. Theme of the meeting will be "Listen, He Speaks," first in a series on "Operational Spiritual."

Dr. Earl Franklin Fowler, pastor of Sixth Presbyterian Church, 16th and Kennedy sts. nw., will discuss the fountain of Elisha at 11 a.m. The sermon is the first in a series based on places Dr. Fowler visited during a trip to the Holy Land this summer.

Young married couples will meet at 6 p. m. at Chevy Chase Baptist Church, 5671 Western ave. nw., to discuss formation of an organization under the direction of the pastor, Dr. Edward O. Clark. They will consider the question, "Is Religion Important and Why?"

The Rev. Dr. E. Felix Kloman, new rector of St. Alban's Episcopal Church, Wisconsin and Massachusetts aves. nw., will preach for the first time at the church at 11 a. m. Dr. Kloman will also conduct the morning service of Holy Communion at 7:45 a. m.

A series of sermons on important religious doctrines in the light of today's needs will be given by the Rev. Dr. Carl Heath Kopf at First Congregational Church, 10th and G sts. nw. The first in the series, at 11 a. m., will be "Faith in Life."

James Niederjohn, a former member of Calvary Methodist Church, will speak at the 8:15 p. m. service at the church, 1459 Columbia rd. nw. Niederjohn recently returned to the United States after living in Warsaww, Poland, for two years.

National Church On New Schedule

National Presbyterian Church, Connecticut ave. and N st. nw., will inaugurate a new schedule on Sunday.

Children and adults will go to church at 11 a.m. and will participate in the same service until after a children's sermon, when the children will go to church school classes while the morning worship continues. After the service, the children will have their own social hour in the church house while adults attend the regular reception in the church hall.

On Sunday, October 2, the church will begin holding two morning services, one at 9 and one at 11 a.m. Adult religious education classes will meet at 10 a.m. and church school for children will convene at 11 a.m.

Dr. Braskamp Back

The Rev. Dr. Bernard Braskamp, pastor of Gunton-Temple Memorial Presbyterian Church, has returned from his summer vacation. At 11 a.m. Sunday he will preach on "The Code of a Christian."

Archbishop Garbett

The Most Rev. and Right Hon. Cyril Forster Garbett, Archbishop of York, Primate of All England and Metropolitan, will preach at 11 a. m. Sunday at the Washington Cathedral.

The Archbishop is stopping in Washington while on a speaking tour of the United States. He will be guest of honor at the General Convention of the Episcopal Church in San Francisco September 26 through October 7, and will speak at a joint session of the convention.

On his way to the convention, Archbishop Garbett will speak in the Mormon Tabernacle in Salt Lake City, Utah, at a mass meeting on September 23. President George Albert Clark of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, will welcome the archbishop, and the tabernacle choir will sing at the service.

The Archbishop last visited the United States in 1944, when he participated in services at which the Right Rev. Angus Dun was consecrated Episcopal Bishop of Washington.

The Rev. Crawford W. Brown, canon precentor, will conduct the 4 p. m. service of evensong at the cathedral. Holy Communion will be celebrated at 7:30 a. m. in St. John's Chapel by the Rev. G. Gardner Monks, and at 9:30 a. m. in Bethlehem Chapel by Canon Brown.

Church Plans Special Rites

Special events will be held each night during the coming week at Bon Air Baptist Church, North Illinois st. near Wilson blvd., Arlington, Va.

Members of the congregation will worship in their new building for the first time at 11 a. m. Sunday, when the Rev. U. S. Knox, pastor of the church since it was founded, will preach. At 8 p. m. the guest preacher will be Dr. John E. Briggs, pastor emeritus of Temple Baptist Church, Washington.

The new structure, an educational building, is the first unit in a proposed plan. It replaces the former church at 8th rd. N., near Jefferson st.

Services Sunday and each evening during the coming week will be preceded by a song service from 7:30 to 8 p. m.

Monday will be community night, with pastors of several county churches as special guests, and Tuesday will be young people's night, with Howard Rees, Baptist Student leader, as the guest speaker.

On Wednesday members of Columbia Baptist Church in Falls Church will join in the services and on Thursday, Sunday School night will be observed with Dr. John B. Hill of the State Baptist Convention as guest speaker. Friday will be "grand rally" night.

Rush to Reds On in China

against communism in the Far East, as the State Department sees it, is the encouragement and building up of the native nationalisms in southeast Asia.

Secretary Acheson is expected to tell Schuman again today that the United States welcomes the recent French efforts to make Indo-China as nearly self-governing and as prosperous as possible.

In line with this policy, the State Department instructed Gen. Douglas MacArthur in Tokyo this week to transfer 37 million dollars' worth of former Japanese gold to Indo-China and 43 million to Thailand. Japan had set aside this gold in wartime to pay for Indo-Chinese and Thai goods and services, but had never delivered it.

Had to Exercise Veto

The United States had to exercise its veto in the 11-nation Far Eastern Commission before authorizing the payment. Six nations—Australia, New Zealand, India, China, the Philippines and Russia—voted against authorizing the gold shipment; Britain, the Netherlands and Canada abstained.

The objections were based on the plea that the gold should have been kept as part of the reparations pool, to be apportioned among the claimants to reparations from Japan. The British were cool to the transaction chiefly because they like to keep in step with their Pacific Dominions in Far Eastern affairs.

Church Appoints Air Force Musician To Lead Choir

Robert L. Landers, director of the Air Force Glee Clubs "Singing Sergeants," has been named minister of music of Eldbrooke Methodist Church, River rd. and Wisconsin ave. nw.

He will lead the choir at 11 a. m. Sunday. Landers, who is also associate conductor of the Air Force Band, received his musical education at Eastman School of Music in Rochester, N. Y., and studied under Sir Thomas Beecham, conductor of the London Philharmonic Orchestra.

He later served as assistant conductor of the San Carlo Opera Co. orchestra and has appeared as guest conductor of the St. Louis Symphony.

Atlantic Pact Defense Plan Almost Ready for Council

obviously Russia in the present world situation.

The top piece of this machinery already is known, since it is provided in the Atlantic Treaty which the Foreign Ministers of the 12 member countries signed here April 4.

It will be a Defense Committee composed of the Defense Ministers, or their representatives, of each of the 12 countries, possibly excepting Iceland. That island rampart has no armed forces and therefore no top defense structure. For the United States the defense committee member presumably will be Secretary of Defense Johnson.

Under the defense committee, the Council is expected to create a series of committees to be concerned with organizing the particular defenses of each region of the Western European North Atlantic area.

Apparently well-informed speculation is that the plan provides for five of these regions as follows:

1. The North Atlantic—All 12 nations will be directly involved in strategic problems of the great ocean area, mainly problems of keeping sea and air lanes open in event of war.

2. North America—Canada and the United States would have primary responsibility for making plans in this field. These two already are linked under a wartime defense agreement.

3. Northern Europe—The countries chiefly involved here are Britain, Norway and Denmark.

4. Western Europe—This basic grouping already is provided through the Brussels Treaty membership composed of Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg. Its defense forces are under a joint command headed by Field Marshal Bernard Montgomery.

5. Western Mediterranean — Italy, France and Britain.

One of the problems the preliminary planners had to solve was the relationship between the Brussels Pact and the Atlantic Treaty.

No Over-All Command

Diplomatic officials believe the regional system—whereby each country shares directly in responsibility for planning its own defenses under general direction of the defense committee—will solve this difficulty effectively.

Informants said the Atlantic Alliance, unlike the Brussels bloc, would not have a single overall high command. It was stressed by these authorities that the functions of the defense agencies under the Atlantic Treaty will be to make plans and recommend them to the member governments, but it will be up to the governments themselves to adopt the plans once they are proposed.

The question of establishing a high command for the whole sprawling area covered by the alliance will not arise, officials said, unless there is a danger of war or a war actually begins.

Mediation Bid Is Accepted

to reach a "general formula" for settling the dispute.

Meanwhile, Murray called his union's wage-policy board together for an emergency meeting in Pittsburgh Wednesday. District leaders of the union began sending out strike instructions to their locals.

William F. Donovan, District 28 director, wired ris locals as follows:

"It begins to look as though a strike will be called in basic steel at midnight September 24, due to the fact that the steel companies are showing no inclination to accept recommendations of the President's fact-finding board."

Murray fired another telegraphic shot at Fairless yesterday, charging the U. S. Steel head with "deliberately and premeditatively forcing upon this Nation a strike." He wired the other steel companies demanding they accept the fact-finders' recommendations before sitting down to new negotiations. Reaction from the companies in general was along the lines of U. S. Steel.

Lone exception appeared to be the Colorado Fuel and Iron Corp., which, while rejecting Murray's demand, announced it has formulated a proposal it believes will be acceptable to the steelworkers. Details were not made public.

erators had demanded his resignation because of the disclosure that he was accepting $35,000 a year" from the fund.—Editor's Note.]

Van Horn, a veteran negotiator for coal concerns dealing with UMW President John L. Lewis, attended yesterday's meeting of the welfare fund's board, at which the trustees voted to suspend payments of miners' pensions and other benefits from the fund because of its decreased revenues.

Van Horn reportedly cast the lone vote against bringing welfare payments to miners to an end.

It was Van Horn who carried the brunt of the coal operators' fight in the first place against making any payments out of the 100 million dollar a year welfare fund except on an "actuarily sound" basis.

Most of the decisions of the trustees were taken with him dissenting.

He had contended all along that the fund should be spent only on limited basis, in accordance with each miner's equity and with adequate reserves against future benefits.

At his home in Cleveland, Van Horn said he had "no comment at all."

Church to Dedicate New Memorial Lights

New memorial lights in the nave of All Souls Memorial Episcopal Church, Cathedral ave. and Woodley pl. nw., will be dedicated at 11 a.m. Sunday.

Registration of children for the church school will be at 9:30 and 11 a.m. Sunday. The Rev. Dr. Frank Blackwelder is pastor of the church.

Soft Coal Miners' Aid Fund To Suspend Payments Today

the coal operators, and Senator Styles Bridges (R., N. H.), neutral trustee.

Lewis' statement said that the fund is "being faced with diminishing revenues" and that the trustees felt an "obligation to protect the sound operations and continuity of the fund."

The mine union leader refused to say whether or not the fund payment suspension would speed up the execution of his recent implied threats to strike at a number of mines where Southern producers have refused to send their 20-cents-a-ton contributions to the welfare fund since July 1, when the management-union work contract expired.

Some 8000 miners in the Utah-Wyoming district walked out of the coal pits yesterday, but Houston Martin, president of the district, said the work stoppage was of a local nature, and not on orders from John L.

In suspending the fund payments, the trustees made provision for continuing cash benefits for emergency hospital and medical cases. The suspension will be lifted, the trustees said, when funds are again available.

The welfare fund was set up early in 1946 with a 5-cent-a-ton contribution. The contributions were later raised to 10 cents and then to 20 cents a ton. The fund has provided $100-a-month pensions for some 19,000 aged miners, and aid for 331,000 other beneficiaries including disabled miners and their dependents, widows and orphans of miners, wives of pensioned miners, and the sick and ailing members of miners' families.

The fund was bringing in about 100 million dollars a year during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1949, but the outlay was several million more. Senator Bridges, in a curbstone conference with reporters after the meeting of the trustees, disclosed that between July 1—when the miners went on a three-day work week and some of the Southern producers stopped making their payments—and August 31, the fund's treasury dropped from 30 million dollars to 14 million dollars.

Bridges also remarked that the fund's expenditures have been 10 million dollars a month. His figures would indicate that the welfare fund now amounts to less than 10 million dollars, not enough to carry the fund through another month.

The New Hampshire Senator disclosed that the turstees also voted to suspend the $35,000-a-year payments made to Trustees Bridges and Van Horn. Lewis has not been taking the fee. Bridges said he would withhold his anticipated resignation as neutral trustee of the fund until its treasury is back in working order.

Meanwhile, in Arkansas yesterdisclosed that th trustees also day a United State District Court judge held hat the UMW work contract calling for the 20-cents-a-ton payments into the welfare fund violates the so-called "freedom to work" amendment of the Arkansas constitution, and is therefore invalid.

Store Sales Up 6% Here, Off Elsewhere

By S. Oliver Goodman

Dollar volume of Washington department stores continued to climb in the week ended September 10, despite a general dip elsewhere in the Nation.

The latest week showed a 6 percent increase here over the same 1948 week, according to the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond. Nationally, store sales were reported 4 percent down in the week ended September 10.

For the four weeks ended last Saturday, local sales were reported 4 percent higher than in the like period last year. Baltimore stores reported a 6 percent drop and other cities in the Fifth Federal Reserve District displayed a 3 percent dip.

Dun & Bradstreet in its weekly retail review said that cool weather and increasing consumer interest in fall goods combined to raise the dollar volume of retail trade in the week ended Wednesday "moderately above that of the previous week."

The research agency added that stores with adequate stock generally equaled their sales figures of a year ago, while those with lower inventories were showing declines.

UTILITY RISE: An indication of why Potomac Electric Power Co. stock is reaching new highs daily (151¼ yesterday) is contained in a recent survey by Standard & Poor's. Said the statistical agency: "Combined net income of electric operating companies in the first half of 1949 was up 12.7 percent. An increase of at least 10 percent is likely to be shown for the full year, reflecting well-maintained revenues, rate increases, more efficient operations in new plants, and declining fuel costs."

BUYS INTO BANF: Lewis W. Douglas, United States Ambassador to England, has acquired "a substantial amount" of stock of the Southern Arizona Bank & Trust Co. of Tucson. He was joined in purchasing the stock of the late Hubert H. d'Autremont by Harry and Isabella Greenway King. Mrs. King is a former Arizona Congresswoman. The announcement of the transaction said that when his public duties permit, Douglas plans to return to Arizona and, subject to the wishes of the stockholders, serve as chairman of the bank's board. The bank's assets are listed at 50 million dollars. Douglas' son, James Stuart Douglas 2d, is an employe of the bank.

SALES DIP: Safeway Stores reported sales for four weeks ended September 10 totaled $89,802,715, a decline of 2.7 percent from $92,301,326 in the similar 1948 period. For 36 weeks ended September 10, total sales of $830,311,906 were down 5.2 percent from $875,889,487 in the like period a year ago.

ODD LOTS: Thirty-six area representatives of the Acacia Mutual Life Insurance Co. have qualified for attendance at a meeting in Swampscott, Mass. . . . Alleghany Corp. board has voted to allow holders of the prior preferred and Series A preferred stock to exchange part of their holdings for dividend-paying stock now in the Alleghany portfolio . . . About one billion out of 2½ billion dollars in college endowment funds is now invested in business and income-producing real estate, according to Business Week . . . Commerce Dept. notes that July sales of retail grocery and grocery-fresh meat stores were $2,115,000,000, a gain of 97 million over June but 72 million below July, 1948.

DIVIDEND: Prince Georges Bank & Trust Co. declared a semiannual dividend of 6 per cent, payable October 1 to stock of record September 20. This is the same rate approved in April, but is 2 per cent in excess of that paid during 1948, according to Treasurer J. Robert Sherwood.

AIRLINE REPORTS: All American Airways, Inc., reported gross operating revenues of $1,430,000 in the 12 months ended June 30, compared with $1,478,000 in the previous fiscal year. After adjustment for income tax credits, a net loss of $285,765 was shown as compared with a def.cit qf $144,340 in the previous year. All American Airways this year moved its headquarters from Wilmington, Del., to the Washington National Airport. The system operates in the middle Atlantic area.

FRUITS: The average American will eat about 142 pounds of fresh fruit this year, says the Agriculture Department. You'll consume 25 pounds of apples, 20 pounds of bananas, 17 pounds of peaches and 80 pounds of citrus fruits, the Government agency states. No reference is made to plums, grapes and other popular fruits.

WHO'S WHO TODAY: Milton J. Drake, vice president of The Detroit Bank, was elected president of Robert Morris Associates, national association of bank credit men and lending offices . . . John J. Maguire, night manager of the Congressional Hotel, has been elected president of the Washington Hotelmen's Breakfast Club . . . Malcolm Adam is the new president of the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Co., succeeding the late John A. Stevenson . . . C. Benson Branch has been named manager of Dow Chemical Co.s technical service and development division.

Talk About Kicking? That's Justice, Too

Editor's Note: This is another in the series of articles on 11 leading college football teams of this area. Morris Siegel discusses outstanding players on various squads. Today's feature deals with the kickers.

By Morris Siegel
Post Reporter

YOU'RE BOUND to get a big kick out of area football this fall because there are some talented players around to do the kicking.

If punting is your kicking specialty, there's Charlie Justice, Buddy Lex of William and Mary, Lou Surman of Georgetown, Walt Michels and Jimmy Lesane of Virginia; Johnny Shullenbarger of George Washington; Earl Roth of Maryland, Billy Cox of Duke, and Ray Leister of Washington and Lee.

Siegel

They're all capable of putting their best foot forward and giving the football a merry ride down the gridiron.

First and foremost of these, as usual, is North Carolina's jack-of-all-trades, Justice.

If you're getting tired of reading about the exploits of Justice, don't fret. Just put yourself in the shoes of the coach whose team must face Justice this fall and you're reaction will be something more akin to frustration than fatigue.

THERE MAY BE better runners (Carolinians say there aren't) or better passers (you get an argument there, too) in college football, but the records show that there are certainly no better punters than Choo-Choo.

The 44-yard average he compiled topped the Nation last fall.

Justice's kicking leg is still as good as ever, so there's no reason to believe he won't be as good, if not better, this year.

Makes no difference to Justice if it's a quick-kick or one to the coffin corner or a high end-over-end kicking job to be done. He's capable of doing each one expertly.

JUSTICE'S greatest performance last year resulted in Maryland's greatest disappointment. The Terps had stormed to within 12 yards of the Carolina goal twice early in the fray that turned out to be a 49-20 cakewalk for the Tar Heels.

Each time the butter-fingered Terps fumbled and each time the Tar Heels recovered and turned to the Department of Justice with their troubles.

He solved them neatly the first time with a 66-yard kick. The second time he quick-kicked and this one carried 84 yards, the ball bouncing out of the end zone and into the Nats' dugout.

More amazing than the distance of the two kicks was the fact that Justice actually fumbled the ball momentarily each time. After he fumbled and recovered and followed with his 84-yard punt, Terp Coach Jim Tatum told his linemen:

"Don't rush that boy too much. He kicks better when he has to get it away quickly than when he has plenty of time. Maybe we ought to just stand still and let him punt."

JUSTICE HAS COME a long way as a punter when his first punt as a big-time player is recalled. It happened at Bainbridge Naval Training Station five years ago when he was inserted into the battle

Parnell Wins No. 23; Stephens Has Two Homers

Boston, Sept. 14 (AP).—Junior Stephens slammed two home runs and paced the Boston Red Sox to a 12-4 victory over the St. Louis Browns here today.

Lefty Mel Parnell, backed by the Soxs' robust 17-hit attack, notched his twenty-third victory, and kept Boston 2½ games behind the league leading New York Yankees who were winning from the Detroit Tigers, 4-1.

38 For Junior

Stephens' homers, his thirty-seventh and thirty-eighth, were consecutive, against Relief Pitcher Tom Ferrick, in the fifth and seventh innings.

They accounted for three runs to boost Stephens' RBI total to 149. He pulled into a tie with teammate Ted Williams for the league's homer leadership.

Lou Stringer, filling in for ailing Bobby Doerr at second base, came up with his first homer in 33 trips to the plate at the expense of Portsider Joe Ostrowski in the eighth with Billy Goodman aboard.

Lou Has 4 for 4

Stringer also collected a two bagger, a pair of singles an a base on balls. Al Zarilla banged four singles and drew one pass for another perfect performance at the plate.

Lanky Karl Drews opened the two-game series for the Browns but was yanked in the fourth inning after the Bosox pulled into a 3-1 lead. The Browns bunched three of their eight hits in the fifth to pull Ferrick into a deadlock which Stephens broke with his first homer of the day

It was the Bosoxs' fourteenth triumph in 21 starts against the Browns this season.

Byrne Hurls 2-Hitter As New Yorkers Keep 2½-Game Margin

New York, Sept. 16 (AP).—Tommy Byrne granted only two singles today as he pitched the league-leading New York Yankees to a 4-1 victory over the Detroit Tigers in the first of a two-game series.

The triumph was the erratic southpaw's fifteenth of the season and it protected the Yanks' 2½ game margin over the runner-up Boston Red Sox. The Sox thumped St. Louis, 12-4, in Boston.

Byrne, as usual, was his own worst enemy. Byrne walked six and fanned six, with the free tickets leading to the lone Detroit run.

Freddie Hutchinson also pitched well for the Tigrs, yielding six hits in the six innings he worked. But two of the blows were doubles by Bobby Brown who drove home three runs.

The Tigers broke a scoreless tie in the third on Bob Swift's single, two walks and Pat Mullin's long fly to left field.

Byrne launched a Yank comeback in the bottom of the third with a triple. Byrne stayed glued to the bag as Phil Rizzuto grounded out but when Cliff Mapes followed with a bouncer to second, Byrne was out attempting to score. Brown followed with his first double, a drive down the left field line t score Mapes with the tying run.

The Yanks struck again with two out in the fifth, scoring twice to break the tie and win the game.

Gerry Coleman singled to start the frame and two outs later was on second. Hutchinson walked Mapes and Brown followed with a double to right to score Coleman and Mapes.

Hutchinson left for a pinch-hitter in the seventh and the Yanks tapped Reliefer Ted Gray for their final run in the last of the seventh without hitting the ball out of the infield.

Coleman scratched a hit to short, moved to second on a groundout, advanced to third on a wild pitch and scored on Rizzuto's grounder to Eddie Lake. Lake threw to the plate but Coleman slid across safely.

Pat Mullin singled with one out in the ninth for the final Detroit safety but died on first as Johnny Lipon flied out and Neil Berry popped out.

Scarborough Jolts Tribe Hopes, 5 to 4

By Morris Siegel
Post Reporter

Giant-Killer Ray Scarborough felled another big one for himself and the Nats last night.

He beat the Cleveland Indians, 5-4, to make their dim pennant hopes even dimmer. The defeat dropped the world's champs 7½ games back of the league-leading Yankees with only 14 left to play.

Scarborough's triumph, a seven-hit job, was his twelfth against 11 defeats. Three of his last four successes have been against pennant contenders. He licked the Yankees last Saturday and two weeks before he whipped the Indians in Cleveland.

Robinson Delivers Punch

Eddie Robinson helped sadden the evening for the Indians and gladden the occasion for the 9026 Griffith Stadium clients. He knocked in the tieing run with a double in the seventh and later in the same inning he scored the winning run.

The loss was pinned on Satchel Paige, the second of three Cleveland hurlers, but Bob Feller pitched it across. Relieving Paige in the two-run Washington seventh, Feller walked Jake Early with the bases loaded to force Robinson in with the tally that broke the Nats' five-game losing streak.

Scarborough gave up only three hits, all singles, after the fourth when the Indians scored all their runs, but two of the safeties came in the ninth when the Tribe threatened to score again.

After fanning Thurman Tucker and Luke Easter, Scarborough pitched singles to pinch-hitter Bob Lemon and Dale Mitchell. He wound up the game two pitches later, however, as Hal Peck forced Mitchell at second.

With the Tribe leading 4-3, the Nats unseated Paige, who had relieved starter Mike Garcia in the sixth inning.

Eddie Stewart, whose three singles led the Nats 12-hit attack, launched operations with a single. Robinson then whacked a tremendous double against the scoreboard in right center to score Stewart and tie the game. Buddy Lewis grounded to Joe Gordon and all hands were safe when Bob Kennedy dropped Gordon's throw to third attempting to nail Robinson.

Eddie Yost was intentionally walked, filling the bases, and Feller relieved Paige at this point. He got Sam Dente on a fly to short left with no advance, but pitched four straight balls to Early and Robinson walked in with the tie-breaker.

Sherry Robertson knocked in the first two Nats runs with a double in the fourth and Eddie Yost's single paddled in the third run in the fifth.

Two walks, a hit batsman, errors by Early and Lewis and singles by Thurman Tucker and Jim Hegan produced Cleveland's four runs in the fourth inning.

Record Field Races In Regatta Today

By Happy Walker

The President's Cup Regatta's record-breaking power boat entry list continued to mount late last night as last-minute entries indicated a field of about 12 for today's races. Nine started last year.

Regatta headquarters buzzed with pre-race predictions as the cream of speed racing greats gathered for the famed Potomac classic.

Jack Shafer, Detroit baking tycoon, jolted the boiler factory calm of headquarters on his arrival by announcing that he was entering both Such Crust I and Such Crust II. Danny Arena, last year's mug winner, will pilot Such Crust II while Lou Fageol, Kent (Ohio) motor czar, will be behind the wheel of Such Crust I.

A newcomer to the Washington scene is D. Cameron Peck, Chicago, Ill., whose Astraea II last night was a surprise entry.

Already checked in were such big names as Horace Dodge, Bill Horn, Charles F. Chapman, Roy Dossin and party, Bill Cantrell, Guy Lombardo, Harry Lynn, George Sarant and many others.

General Chairman Eric Greenleaf is confident of a million-dollar field for the starting event, 11:20 this morning.

Thousands are expected to line the shores of the course.

In addition to the spectators on the banks, boats will be anchored so those aboard can see the race. The boats have been located so they won't interfere with the view of those ashore.

For the past 23 years in which the President's Cup Regatta has played host to the Nation's top-ranking speed boat kings, Washington has never boasted a Gold Cup entry.

Here are the home-towners area fans can root home:

Joe Palmer, last year's Gordon Trophy winner in Tommy Boy (135 c.i. hydro) No. A-22; John Wege, in We Gee (D Service) No. 4-D; Jack Kerley, a comparative newcomer to speed racing, and Roy Bagley in Stinky (E Service) No. 63-E.

Aubrey Thacker, a veteran pilot, is piloting his new Davis hull, delivered last week, with his Auburn motor, called the Jezebel VII (D Service) No. 20-D.

Earle Hildebrand and his new Visel-hulled, Crosby-motored, Jo Jo (48 c. i. hydro) and former outboarder Amato Taneal in his yet unnamed 48 c. i. runabout are hopeful.

15,000 See Marines Play VPI Today

By Jack Walsh
Post Reporter

The powerful Quantico Marines seek their twenty-sixth consecutive triumph facing a V. P. I. team that failed to win a game last year in the area's college football curtain-raiser today in Alexandria.

Site is George Washington High's enlarged stadium and the sponsoring Chamber of Commerce predicts that its 15,000 seats will be filled. Marines will occupy 3000 of them.

The C. of C. advanced $37,000 to increase the capacity from 11,500 and today's contest launches an ambitious football program for the 200-year-old city across the Potomac.

Today's kickoff is slated for 3 p. m., allowing an hour for pre-game bicentennial ceremonies. Supplying the music will be Alexandria's 40-piece citizen band and the 60-piece Quantico Post musical aggregation.

The goodly supply of brass will be headed by Gen. Clifton B. Cates, Marine Corps Commandant, and Maj. Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd, jr., Quantico commander.

And now for the football game. Quantico, heavier and more experienced, rates a slight edge. A veteran team represents the Marines who have swept all service opposition before them for two seasons. Since dropping its 1947 opener to Washington and Lee, 13-0, Quantico has been unbeaten, winning 13 last year.

Cards Win, Bums Lose, Drop 2½ Behind

St. Louis, Sept. 16 (AP).—The St. Louis Cardinals stretched their National League lead to two and a half games tonight when they downed the hapless Boston Braves, 7 to 5, while the second-place Brooklyn Dodgers were being drubbed by the Pittsburgh Pirates.

It was the redhot Redbirds' sixth straight triumph and the 13th setback in 14 games for the Bostonians, whom the Birds are out to supplant as league champions.

The Braves gave the Cards a battle and succeeded in driving starter Max Lanier to the showers with a three-run blast in the seventh. But they could not overcome the effects of their own misplays and an early assault on their star southpaw, Warren Spahn.

After Boston had pushed over a first inning run on Elbie Fletcher's double and Bob Elliott's single, the pennant-hungry Birds forged into the lead with two in their halt and were never headed. Singles by Chuck Diering, Stan Musial and Marty Marion, plus an error by Ed Stanky accounted for the tallies.

Giants Lose

Owen's Hit In 10th Wins For Cubs, 5-4

Chicago, Sept. 16 (AP).—Pinch-hitters Mickey Owen, Herm Reich and Forrest Burgess came through with base hits today to give the Chicago Cubs a 5-4 ten-inning victory over the New York Giants.

Owen broke up the game with a bases loaded single in the tenth while a double by Reich and a single by Burgess in the ninth sent the game into over time.

Larry Jansen went all the way for the Giants. He gave up three runs on four hits in the third and then blanked the Cubs on two singles until the ninth.

The Giants overcame a 3-2 deficit in the sixth when Wes Westrum clubbed starter Doyle Lade for a two-run homer.

Raffensberger Hurls 3-Hitter, Phils Win, 2-1

Cincinnati, Sept. 16 (AP).—Ken Raffensberger was in rare form today, holding Philadelphia to three hits while Cincinnati pounded Ken Heintzelman for seven to win, 2 to 1.

In only two innings were the third place Phils able to hit safely. Richie Ashburn got a double in the fourth, and scored on an infield out and a long fly and Andy Seminick hit safely to open the eighth.

The seventh place Reds scored their two runs in the first inning after two were out. Danny Litwhiler counted first with his tenth homer of the season and two singles and Granville Hamner's error.

Blount Becomes Landon Coach

Tom Blount, former Navy fighter pilot, has accepted the post as athletic director and football coach at the Landon School For Boys.

A varsity halfback with the Naval Academy under Coaches Hank Hardwick and the late Swede Larsen in 1938-39-40, the 31-year-old Blount was retired recently with the rank of commander. During the war, he flew from the carrier Bennington with Admiral Halsey's forces off Japan. His most recent duty was as athletic director at the Navy's Honolulu bases.

Miss Bauer Bows, 1 Up, On Stymies

Ardmore, Pa., Sept. 16 (AP).—Two players who never before got beyond the third round today climbed to the finals of the Forty-ninth Women's National Golf Tournament as Mrs. Mark A. Porter of Manoa, Pa., and Dot Kielty of Long Beach, Calif., won over staunch opposition in their 18-hole matches at the Merion Golf Club.

Mrs. Porter, 25-year-old mother, who as Dot Germain, won the Western Amateur twice in a row, ruined the hope of Dorothy Kirby to become a finalist for the third time. She turned back the Atlantan, 3 and 1, and Miss Kielty eliminated 15-year-old Marlene Bauer of Los Angeles, one up.

Although the Mrs. Porter-Miss Kirby match was tight all the way, being decided by the Pennsylvanian's victory surge on the last four holes, it was the stirring battle put up by the little Bauer girl which provided the real thrills, and won the hearts of the sizable gallery.

Stymies Ruin Marlene's Chances

Apparently hopelessly out of the running at the end of nine holes when she was four down, the stocal youngster staged a spectacular comeback to cut the margin to one hole with a fine par 35 on the home nine.

It was a pair of partial stymies which ruined whatever chance Miss Bauer had to at least square the match. On the 14th and 16th greens she found a clear path to the cup blocked by her opponent's ball.

Miss Kielty, a tough campaigner who last year disqualified herself by calling attention to an error on her card, clung to her one-hole advantage through the final three holes and finished the round with a five-over-par 76. Miss Bauer, with a 42 going out, registered a 77.

Miss Kielty, who outdrove her young opponent consistently played a steady, almost methodical game, taking advantage of Miss Bauer's difficulties on the out nine. Although trying for the putt on the two holes on which she stymied her rivals she nevertheless played her ball so if she missed, the stymies would result.

Mrs. Porter went ahead to stay on the fourteenth, taking the hole with a one-over par five.

British Cuppers Spurt Into Surprise 3-1 Lead Over Yanks

2d Win in Row

Anacostia Beaten, 13-6, By Gonzaga

By Don Lief

The Gonzaga Eagles won a hard-fought 13-6 game over Anacostia High yesterday at Anacostia before 2500.

Frank Duane bulled his way a half-yard for a late fourth-period score that cinched the game for Gonzaga. It was the second straight win this season for the Eagles.

The touchdown had been set up four plays before, when the Indians' Bill Butler fumbled a punt on his own 14 and Gonzaga End Tom Welch grabbed it. Tommy O'Keefe went for 7 yards to the 7. Billy Haley skirted end to the ½, and Duane plunged over.

Gonzaga scored early in the game with a series of seven smartly executed plays, O'Keefe's pass to End Mike Nolan was good for 42 yards to the Anacostia 33. Haley then chucked to Welch who ran to the 15. Two plays later, Haley ripped around end for a 17-yard touchdown.

The Indian's' lone tally came early in the second period when, aided by 35 yards in penalties, they moved from the Eagle 43 to ½-yard line. Butler ran off tackle for the score.

Alumni Wins, 18-0

Parker-Gray High School Alumni defeated the Parker-Gray varsity, 18-0, yesterday at the school field in the Parkers opening game.

Arthur Carter bucked over from the 4 and again from the 1-yard line for the Alumni scores in the first two periods while a pass from Ralph McGuire to Robert Adkins which gained 5 yards was good for the final score in the third quarter.

Wellings' 142 Wins Federal Golf Title

T. F. Wellings, jr., 24-year-old Naval Communications employee, won the J. Edgar Hoover trophy, symbolic of the championship of the Federal Golf Association yesterday at Argyle Country Club.

Wellings had 71, 71—142 for the 36 holes to win by three strokes over George Thornton, Army Map Service, 72, 73—145, and E. J. Williams, Department of Justice, 74, 71—145.

Mangrum, Snead Lose On Last Hole

Ganton, Eng., Sept. 16 (AP).—By the margin of tantalizing inches, Great Britain gained a three-to-one advantage over the United States today in the opening foursome golf matches for the treasured Ryder Cup.

A snaky eight-foot putt by Lloyd Mangrum that skirted the cup on the 36th hole let the British pair of Dick Burton and Art Lees win their team's third victory, 1 up.

Mangrum and Sam Snead needed to win the last hole to get a split, which would have been worth half a point to the Americans. Cup matches end on the last green even if they are tied.

Two Other Surprises

Two other surprising victories sky-rocketed British hopes of winning the cup, trophy of world supremacy for professional golf teams, for the first time since 1933:

Jimmy Adams and Max Faulkner defeated Johnny Palmer and E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, 2 and 1.

Fred Daly and Ken Bousefield whipped Skip Alexander and Bob Hamilton, three and two.

Only the rainbow-hued Jimmy Demaret and his husky partner, Clayton Heafner, could salvage any American glory on a leaden day that brought the first rain here in almost three months.

They cut down Sam King and Charlie Ward, 4 and 3, gaining three holes in the afternon round.

Three-to-one British edge was "just what I expected," insisted British Captair Charles Whitcombe, although before the matches he said he would be happy with an even break the first day.

Course Baffles Yanks

"My boys will whip them again tomorrow," he predicted.

Tomorrow the team feud between the pros ends with eight singles matches.

Laughter was missing from the American camp. Angry silence replaced the wisecracking of practice days. Captain Ben Hogan had nothing to say. He forced a grim smile, then herded his squad away.

The greatest players America can offer couldn't manage the tight little Ganton course that was covered with 10,000 spectators.

They found deadly enemies in its many treacherous sandtraps and made firsthand acquaintance with gorse, a prickly little evergreen that abounds in Ganton's rough.

Faced with the necessity of winning six of tomorrow's eight singles matches to assure an American victory, Hogan shuffled his line-up and substituted long-driving Chick Harbert of Detroit for Alexander, who was wild in spots today.

The British, scenting their first major sports victory over America since before the war, countered by sending in Dai Rees, a stout singles competitor, to replace Bousefield. The singles pairings:

Harbert vs. King, Hamilton vs. Rees, Palmer vs. Adams, Harrison vs. Faulkner, Snead vs. Ward, Heafner vs. Burton, Demaret vs. Lees, and Mangrum vs. Daly.

Brownell, Bogart Play For D. C. Golf Title

By West McLean
Post Reporter

Bobby Brownell, Manor Country Club, and Ralph Bogart, Chevy Chase Country Club, advanced to the finals of the District Amateur championship at Kenwood with double victories yesterday.

Brownell, who won his first District Amateur in 1936 at the age of 16, was five strokes over par for the twenty-eight holes he played yesterday.

Bobby, who still has not gone past the fourteenth hole in any of his four matches to date, defeated Bill Briggs, Kenwood, 5 and 4 in the morning's third round and ousted Don Miller, also of Kenwood, by the same score in the afternoon.

Bogart, meanwhile, was ousting Bob Morris, Prince Georges, 3 and 2, in the morning and Roger Martino, 8 and 7, in the afternoon.

Bogart, who won the first District Amateur championship he entered in 1939, is trying for a clean sweep of major amateur titles in this area. Ralph, has already won the Maryland State and the Middle Atlantic amateur titles this year.

Bogart was three over par for his day's efforts. All three extra strokes came in the morning. He matched regulation figures in the afternoon, losing only one hole, the fifth, where he took a bogey five to Martino's par four. They halved the seventh in birdie fours and Bogart won all the other holes as he marched to his 8 and 7 win.

Brownell has never lost a match in the District Amateur, running up 22 straight wins on his way to four titles, the last three in a row. He defeated his business partner, Bogart, in the semifinal last year before dumping Billy Griffin, Manor, in the final.

Bogart and Brownell tee off at 9:30 this morning in the first 18 holes of the 36 hole championship match. The afternoon 18 is scheduled to start at 2 p. m.

Yesterday's results:

THIRD ROUND—Bobby Brownell, Manor, defeated Bill Briggs, Kenwood, 5 and 4. Don Miller, Kenwood, defeated Larry Imhoff, Kenwood, 5 and 4. Ralph Bogart, Chevy Chase, defeated Bob Morris, Prince Georges, 3 and 2. Roger Martino, Argyle, defeated Tom Manning, Bethesda, 3 and 2.

FOURTH ROUND—Brownell defeated Miller, 5 and 4. Bogart defeated Martino, 8 and 7.

TODAY'S CHAMPIONSHIP MATCH, 9:30 and 2:00—Bobby Brownell vs. Ralph Bogart, 36 holes.

Marines Play VPI Today

mer great center who coaches the Marines, has a squad that will outman the fighting V. P. I. squad. His backs are light, but clever. Rudy Flores, Roy Russell, George Greco, Bennie Moore and Dick Ambrogi will lead Quantico's attack.

At end is Bob Smith who took seven passes 108 yards to lead the wingmen in that department last season.

Quantico rolled up 419 points last season; V.P.I., scoreless in its first five games, 28. Nonetheless, the game figures to be close.

A standout against service clubs, Quantico's record shows it to be in the small college class. The Marines were extended last year to beat Wayne U., 7-0; Xavier, 26-15, and St. Francis, 26-0.

In his first season as head coach at V.P.I., Bob McNeish fielded a squad that lost to Duke only 7-0. G.W. started the Gobblers on their losing streak, 13-0, and Maryland inflicted a 28-0 defeat. In nine games, the boys from Blacksburg lost eight and tied Richmond, 7-7.

High scorer was End Ron Caston, who tallied two of the Gobblers' four touchdowns. Leading back for the collegians is speedy Sterling Wingo, Southern Conference sprinter. Two sophs in the backfield, Quarterback Dick Goodman and Fullback Eustace (Useless) Frederick are being counted upon for some offensive help.

State Suggests Md. Race Dates

Baltimore, Sept. 16 (AP).—The Racing Commission recommended today that Maryland tracks accept the fact they have to compete with other States and adopt a schedule doing away with complicated split meetings.

In a radical departure from the long past of Maryland racing, Commission Chairman H. Courtenay Jenifer proposed the four major mile tracks all take their 25 days consecutively. Pimlico, Bowie and Havre de Grace usually operate split meetings while Laurel is the only one to run 25 days straight in the fall.

"Racing is increasing so rapidly in other States we've got to hoe our own row," said Jenifer who was named chairman this year.

"I'd like to avoid Jersey competition, but we're simply up against it," he continued. "We always have competed with New York and now we'll simply have to compete with other tracks."

The schedule making was complicated the past two years by introduction of night harness racing. Next year there will be four harness tracks in operation and Jenifer recommends they race from May 22 to September 8.

Talk About Kicking? That's Justice, Too

to kick—the specialty which won him a berth on the rugged squad.

The 18-year-old youngster, who had astounded Coach Jim Maniaci with his tremendous kicking in practice, fizzled completely. The snap from center was perfect, Justice caught it cleanly and then humiliation! Charlie missed it completely.

Bob Gilley, who's listed on the Virginia Tech roster as an end, but who's used chiefly as a punter, had a similar experience last year against William and Mary. In VPI's first three games, Gilley was second in punting nationally.

On his first attempt at punting against the oncharging W & M linemen, he swung his foot into the air as neatly as yo'll ever see it done, but alas and alack, he overlooked the formality of kicking the ball.

LATER IN THE SEASON he was told to fake a punt and run with the ball. That venture didn't turn out too well, either, because the inexperienced Gilley took two steps and then tripped over his own feet.

Now Coach Bob McNeish has him punting and punting only. He's a 40-yard kicker.

If Virginia's Lesane could get the distance Justice gets, he'd be a wow. He's a left-footed punter and when the ball bounds off his foot it takes a peculiar spin, much like a Carl Hubbell screwball. It dips and spins exactly opposite from the way a right-footed kicker's punt does.

The Cavaliers are hopeful that they'll have linemen down the field quickly enough to recover the fumbles they're confident Lesane's punts will bring.

NAVY FULLBACK Roger Drew is also a kicking specialist, but of a different nature. He doesn't get into the act until Navy scores—which was too infrequent last year—and then Drew completes the scoring act with a precision conversion.

He batted 1.000 last year, kicking eight out of eight. Throw out five of these conversions and neither Drew nor Navy will be angry. The other three were against Army and were a trifle important inasmuch as they enabled the Middies to tie Army, 21-21.

Drew didn't like the idea of being a specialist this spring—probably because there wasn't enough work attached to it last year—and has now come up as a hot candidate for the Navy's first-string fullback job.

He may win that berth, too, but you can bet his principal duty will be to add the point after touchdown, particularly against Army.

High costs force us to ask for an increase in telephone rates

WHEN rising costs forced us to ask for increased telephone rates in 1947, it was our first request in 27 years. The increase requested was the minimum needed based on 1947 cost levels.

Since then our costs, like those of every other business, have gone up. Wage increases and the higher costs of construction, materials and supplies have brought our expenses to the highest level in history.

The rate increase previously granted is not enough to meet today's costs of operation.

That's why we are forced to ask the Public Utilities Commission for another increase in telephone rates.

Our earnings are not enough to attract investors' money

In addition to sufficient income to meet our day-by-day operating costs, there must be enough left to pay a fair return to investors—the people whose money has been used to build telephone plant. Otherwise, people will not continue to put their savings into the telephone business.

Since 1939, our plant investment has increased by over $60,000,000—or more than doubled. But our earnings for each dollar invested in the business are 30% lower than they were in 1939.

Today, this company's earnings are insufficient to attract from investors the additional capital we need to meet public demand for more and better service.

More than $55,000,000 spent for better telephone service here

To maintain good telephone service, we have spent since the war more than $55,000,000 for buildings, central office equipment, cable, wire and other telephone plant. And we must spend many millions more in the next few years to meet your telephone needs.

This program will help provide more individual lines for party-line subscribers, additional facilities for faster local and long distance service, and more service for more people in Washington.

Good service at fair rates is in the public interest

We don't like to ask for higher telephone rates, but there is no other course open to us. There is no margin in our earnings to absorb today's higher operating costs.

It is our job to furnish the kind of service you want and need. We are asking for only enough to do that job—and no more.

Telephone rates are up much less than Washington prices in general

MUDDLING in High Places

It is time for men in Washington and London to stop toying with the problem of international trade. We of the democratic West are at a turning point in our economic affairs. A false step by either the United States or Britain could lead quickly to disintegration of trading between the people of the world as we have known it for the past hundred years. Recent meetings of diplomats in London and Washington have not lifted us out of this danger.

By two simple tests you and I can measure the sincerity of the men in Washington and in London who are trying to solve what they call "the dollar crisis."

One test applies to the British: Is Britain making an honest effort to re-establish itself as a real competitor in world markets?

The other test applies to us in the United States: Are we willing to see Britain re-emerge as a strong competitor in world markets—even in our own home market—and to help her do so?

Today the answer to both these questions probably is no.

I

The situation we face is, in fact, unprecedented. In every important industrial country of the non-Communist world, except Germany and Japan, production is above prewar volume, thanks largely to the Marshall Plan. Yet trade between nations is shackled as it has never been since the 18th century. And the shackles grow day by day. What is worse, two distinct trading areas—the dollar area and the sterling area—have grown up in the non-Communist world, and the gulf between them grows wider.

What kind of leadership have the United States and Britain had in the face of this crisis? President Truman late in August wisely checked the trans-Atlantic bickering over the dollar crisis. But Mr. Truman showed no awareness of the basic question that the American people must soon decide: Is the United States able and willing to generate trade between nations, as Britain did in the 19th century?

What have British leaders offered us? Foreign Secretary Bevin and Chancellor Cripps called their September visit to Washington "one of the most important missions in history." But they did not tell the British people, and perhaps do not admit themselves, that their Labor government must change its internal and external policies if Britain is ever to earn its living in a competitive world.

Admittedly, the problem Britain has faced since 1945 is a colossal one. But, in the face of its grave difficulties, what has Britain done? The working day was shortened. Welfare economics have run riot. High taxes have sapped incentives. Labor and capital have clung to their prewar psychology of cartels and featherbedding. Government controls and government trading have hamstrung private initiative. Nationalization schemes have injected politics into the struggle for industrial recovery.

Thus the policies of the Labor government have made Britain's adjustment to its new position in the world immensely more difficult. But Americans who attribute the danger of an international breakdown to British socialism greatly oversimplify the problem. Virtually every country in the world, socialist or not, faces the same dollar crisis that Britain faces.

We Americans must recognize that our economic strength unbalances world trade, as does Britain's weakness. World War II increased America's superior power to produce goods. It also made the United States more self-sufficient. Thus, while the world demand for American goods has risen, our demand for foreign goods, except for basic raw materials, has not increased. Today we sell more to every major area of the world than we buy from it—and yet we wonder why there is a dollar crisis.

It is time for us to recognize that there are two fundamentally conflicting pressures at work in the United States. One is our desire for a big surplus of exports over imports. The other is our desire for a system of free-wheeling trade around the world. We can not have both unless we as taxpayers wish to subsidize our exports. Which do we want?

Curtis E. Calder, chairman of the International Relations Committee of the National Association of Manufacturers, says, "The battle of the foreign trade gap is essentially that of reconciling our urge to export our surpluses with a reluctance to accept imports in payment for them . . . The dilemma is an uncomfortable one to face."

II

Here, then, are the basic questions that confront men in Washington and London. Does Britain really want expanding world trade or a high-cost welfare state? Does the United States really want expanding world trade or a huge surplus of exports? So far politicians in Washington and especially in London have ducked these issues because they are political dynamite.

If the people of Britain decide they want to regain their position as a competitive trader in expanding world markets, here are specific objectives that men in London should set for themselves:

1. Lower government costs. The British Treasury has asked for cuts of 5% in 1950. But a cut nearer 15% will be necessary, even if that means fewer government subsidies and health services. Enterprise will never revive nor costs come down while taxes take 40% of the British national income, including roughly 60% of business profits.

2. Fewer government controls. Only by removing controls and allocations (except on a few necessities) can Britain begin to return to prices fixed by competition rather than by government fiat.

3. Stronger anti-monopoly legislation for both business and labor. Britain needs a concerted drive against all forms of restrictive, high-cost practices. This drive should put teeth in the anti-monopoly act and supplement it with legislation to end restrictions imposed by trade unions.

4. Less restrictive trading practices. Britain should retreat gradually from its international barter between governments if competition is ever to have free play in international trade.

5. Devaluation of the pound. This move, however, might be delayed until the actions above have begun to be effective.

Meanwhile, if we of the United States sincerely want multilateral world trade, men in Washington must face up to four problems and hammer out workable solutions:

1. Use of the International Monetary Fund to back a devalued pound. In time the Fund, in which we have the controlling voice, might be used to promote convertibility of pounds into dollars

2. Help for Britain in meeting war-created external debts. This might mean support for London in getting a reduction of the war debts Britain owes India, Pakistan and Egypt, for example. To achieve such a debt reduction for Britain we might have to underwrite a part of a Southeast Asia recovery program.

3. Encouragement of American investments abroad. Such investments should be directed primarily into enterprises which will earn dollars, such as the development of new sources of raw materials, or which will raise productivity abroad.

4. Our own tariff barriers. Our attitude toward this critical issue will be the acid test of how deeply we believe in the merits of free world competition.

If we really want free, competitive trading between the people of the world, these issues must be met and resolved by leaders on both sides of the Atlantic. If we do not want to face these issues, then let us resign ourselves to a world walled off into three trading areas: the Communist bloc, the sterling area, and the dollar area. So far, Washington and London have muddled along, not facing these alternatives. Clarity and courage are long overdue.

The Federal Diary

by Jerry Kluttz

U. S. Urged to Do More of Own Work To Avert Layoffs

A plea that the Government do more of its own work to prevent layoffs of employes was made to the White House yesterday by a delegation from the International Association of Machinists.

John Steelman, the President's assistant, was told by the delegates that an excessive amount of industrial work was being awarded to private concerns by the Army, Navy and Air Force. The delegates contended the work could be done better and cheaper in Government installations. Steelman and other officials promised to look into the matter.

The widespread layoffs in the military agencies were the No. 1 concern of the Federal machinists who ended a five-day convention here yesterday at the Hamilton. Resolutions urging earlier retirement, dismissal pay, unemployment compensation, and a halt to the layoffs were adopted.

Meantime, there was a widespread report at the Naval Gun Factory here that 1000 of its discharged employes would be called back to work. The rumor was quickly denied by the management.

STORY: Civil Service got one of those pathetic but amusing letters the other day from a jobseeker who wrote:

"Once I was up in the world, but now I am down to 30 acres and a wooden leg."

NOTES: Jack Shelley, AFL leader in San Francisco who has been offered several high Federal posts, is a good bet to be elected to succeed Representative Richard Welch, who died the other day . . . William H. Deck is retiring from Government at 63 after 42 years of service in the Coast and Geodetic Survey. He was an administrative assistant in the personnel division . . . The State Department is helping the new War Claims Commission get office space and get into operation generally. It won't recruit and hire for the agency.

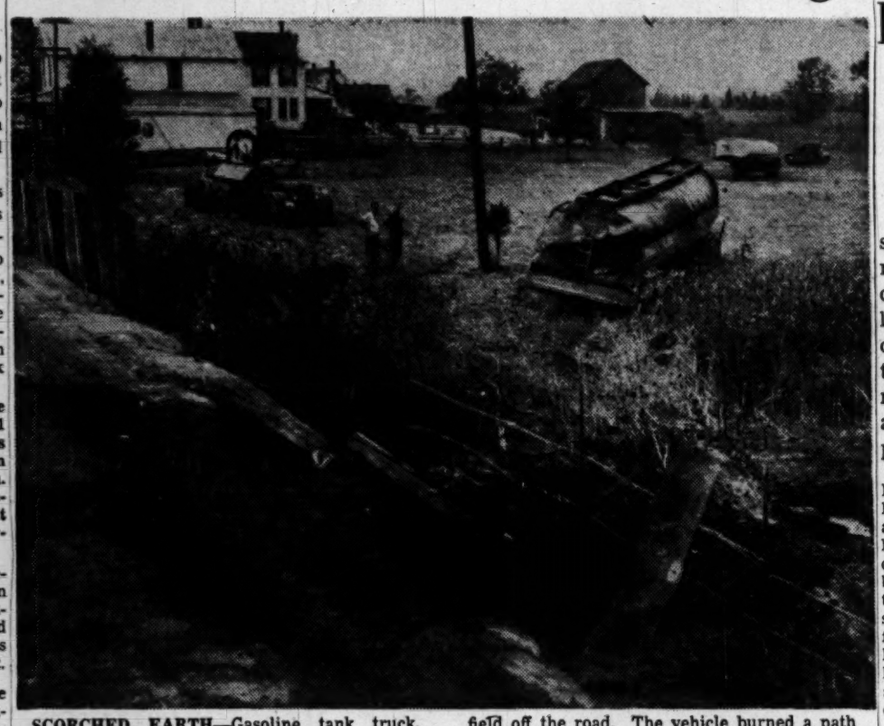
AFGE: C. J. Wainwright of Bolling Field, has been elected president of the District Department of the AFL's American Federation of Government Employes. Vice presidents are Dr. F. T Godfrey, Commerce; Dr. Robert Browning, Civil Service; Verna Flagg, VA; W. H. Brown, Federal Power; R. K. Baisch, Public Buildings; Floyd C. Willmar, D. C. Sanitation; Janet Donnelly, Adjutant General's Office, and Frank Sherry, Patent Office. F. R. Zeeman is treasurer and H. L. Simpson is secretary. Jim Googe and Helen Voss are members of the auditing committee.

POSTOFFICE: A new personnel office to lay down policies for the 500,000 postal employes is slated to be set up soon by Postmaster General Jesse Donaldson.

If present plans are carried out, an assistant postmaster for personnel now is divided among the the No. 3 official in the department. The responsibility for personnel new is divided among the four assistants.

First Assistant Postmaster General Vincent Burke is about to be promoted to Deputy Postmaster General with the rank of undersecretary. The deputy job recently was recreated. The assistant for personnel would take over many of Burke's present functions.

2 Drivers Are Burned to Death In Tank Truck Crash on Bridge



SCORCHED EARTH—Gasoline tank truck, which exploded and killed its driver yesterday after colliding with another truck on Route 50, near Chantilly, Fairfax County, Va., rests in field off the road. The vehicle burned a path through the area and scorched the ground surrounding it. Cab of the tanker is hooked to tow truck at left

A truck loaded with oxygen tanks and a gasoline tank truck collided on a narrow bridge in nearby Virginia yesterday and touched off an inferno that burned both drivers to death.

Painter

The victims were identified as:

Chester L. Painter, 26, of 4804 52d ave., Edmonston, Md.

John C. Miller, 29, of 1436 Meridian st. nw.

The accident occurred at about 6:45 a. m. at Cub Run Bridge on Route 50, about 2 miles west of Chantilly in Fairfax County.

John Markley, 43-year-old construction worker of Paris, Va., was trapped in his blazing automobile beside the wreckage of the oxygen truck, but escaped through a rear window unhurt.

Markley told police he stopped his car behind a third truck to allow the westbound gasoline truck to cross the narrow bridge.

As the gasoline tanker lumbered onto the bridge, he said, the oxygen truck pulled out from behind him, sideswiped his car and crashed almost head-on into the gasoline truck.

The gasoline truck crashed through wooden guard posts and plunged in flames down a 10-foot embankment. The oxygen truck flared into the flame with a roar.

Markley said the oxygen truck was thrown against the left side of his car. His car caught fire. The right door was jammed and wouldn't open.

"I just kept my head," said Markley. "I realized I had to get out somehow, so I kicked out the back window and climbed out."

Volunteer fire companies from Herndon, Fairfax and Chantilly fought the flames, but it was nearly two hours before Dr. Nelson A. Podolnick, Fairfax County coroner, could reach the bodies of the two truck drivers.

One of the first witnesses at the scene was Pvt. William Haines of the Fairfax County police force, who lives several hundred yards from where the crash occurred.

He said he was getting ready to go to work when he heard a tremendous explosion. As he ran from his house, he said, there was a series of explosions and flames erupted several hundred feet into the air.

Painter was employed as a driver by the Southern Oxygen Co., 2900 Kenilworth ave., Bladensburg, Md. His company said he left here Thursday to deliver tanks of oxygen to Virginia points and was returning with a load of empty tanks at the time of the crash.

Miller was a contract driver for the O'Boyle Tank Co. of 817 Michigan ave. ne. His body was identified by another O'Boyle driver, Melvin Moran, of 723 Silver Spring ave., Silver Spring, Md.

Moran said Miller left Baltimore early yesterday morning about 45 minutes ahead of him with a load of gasoline.

Early morning traffic on the heavily-traveled highway had to detour on side roads to bypass the spot blocked by the wreckage.

The bodies were taken to the Reed funeral home in Herndon.

Painter is survived by his wife, a son, Chester, jr., 4; a stepson, Donnie Studebaker, 9; his mother, Mrs. Rita Marie Painter, of Kittanning, Pa., four brothers and four sisters. He was a Purple Heart Marine veteran of World War II.

According to his wife, Painter suffered a shrapnel wound in one eye while serving with the Sixth Marine Division in the Okinawa campaign in 1944.

The Painters have lived in Edmonston for nearly three years and Painter had been employed by the oxygen company for about 18 months. He was a native of Kittanning.

Mrs. Painter, who was widowed once before, in 1941, said services will be held at 1 p. m. Tuesday at the Chambers funeral home in Riverdale. Burial will be in Arlington Cemetery.

Miller, the second victim, owned two gasoline trucks, which did contract hauling for the O'Boyle firm and other firms. His father, Charles Miller, drove the second truck for his son. Miller's mother, who has remarried, is Mrs. J. K. Cartwright of 943 C st. sw.

Miller's wife, June, is employed as a secretary at the Southern Dairies here. He had a child by a previous marriage.

A veteran of one year's Army service, Miller received a disability discharge in 1943 and since then had been driving trucks.

Locally, two men were in Emergency Hospital after an early-morning scooter crash in the 7400 block of Georgia ave. nw. Responding to an accident call at 2:08 a. m., police found Joseph Novak, 60, of 1413 Rhode Island ave. nw., and Edward C. McNaulty, 34, of 9906 Sidney rd., Silver Spring, Md., lying in the street.

Loading Platform Hit

Police said the motor scooter on which they were riding had crashed into a streetcar loading platform. Police also said that although Novak is the owner of the scooter it has not yet been determined who was driving it.

Both men suffered head injuries. Novak is in serious condition, but McNaulty's condition is not serious.

At 6:15 a. m., Milton M. Owen, 22, of 61 Hawaii ave. ne., drove into the rear of a parked truck on Overlook dr. se., near Bolling Air Force Base. He was admitted to Casualty Hospital and treated for severe lacerations to his face and head. His condition is fair.

FTC Upholds Wholesale Liquor Firm

Examiner Reports Milstone Charges Of Illegal Price Policy Not Valid

A Federal Trade Commission trial examiner yesterday recommended dismissal of a complaint against a wholesale liquor firm here based on charges that the company entered into unlawful agreements with retail stores in an attempt to set minimum resale prices.

At an FTC hearing Maurice Milstone, owner of the Acme Liquor Store, 927 Pennsylvania ave. nw., had charged that the Middle Atlantic Distributors, Inc. cut off his supply of Hiram Walker brands after he failed to stick to their suggested retail prices. Milstone also has sued the distributors for $75,000 in District Court for alleged violation of the anti-trust law. Wendell Berge, his counsel, said last night "we intend to proceed" with this suit.

The FTC examiner, William L. Pack, concluded that "a seller has the right to select his own customers" and "may legally establish the prices at which he wishes his goods resold" provided he does not enter into price-fixing agreements with dealers.

Charges that the distributor had entered into such agreements were not substantiated by testimony of retailers at an FTC hearing, Pack declared.

The case, he said, "is not one of greement between a seller and his customers' but one "in which a seller had adopted and announced a resale price policy and has sought to maintain such policy by refusing to sell to those not adhering to it." In this, he said, the company was within its right.

Boy Charged With Assault In Shooting

A 14-year-old boy, arrested at 2:30 a. m. yesterday with a loaded .38-caliber pistol under his pillow, was charged yesterday with assault with a dangerous weapon.

The charge grew out of the critical wounding Thursday afternoon of 6-year-old Aubrey Jasper, jr., 309 14th pl. ne., near his home. The boy, shot through the neck, was still in critical condition yesterday at Gallinger Hospital.

Police reports said that conflicting stories were told by a group of children who witnessed the shooting, but that the 14-year-old apparently was showing off the weapon, aimed it at a telephone pole, but struck young Jasper when the weapon fired.

After the shooting, the youthful gunman fled and disappeared, but not, police said, before he threatened harm to a 13-year-old girl if she identified him to officers. He did not return to his parents' home, officers said, and they finally found him at an aunt's home, on information received from another relative in Alexandria.

When officers went to the aunt's home, they said, the boy was asleep, and they found the gun, with five live shells in it, under his pillow.

Questioned, he admitted breaking into the home of Paul Norman, 1522 D st. se., a week ago, and taking the weapon, police said. They said he insisted it was the only thing he took.

At the District Receiving Home, where the boy was held last night, officials said he had been there previously on a housebreaking charge. He walked out once to celebrate his birthday, but returned voluntarily, and was subsequently released. He will be turned over to juvenile authorities to face the assault charges.

Deadline Set Today For Police Tests

Today is the last day policemen can file to take the Civil Service examination for promotion, it was announced yesterday by Sergt. Lewis Peters, administrative assistant to Maj. Robert J. Barrett.

So far, Peters said, 1062 policemen, more than 50 per cent of the force, have filed applications for the examination.

Secretaries Here Pooh-Pooh Falling in Love With the Boss

The Washington Post

COMPARING NOTES—At the Southeastern Regional meeting of the National Secretaries Association, Mrs. Arlene Seward (left) and Frances Crawford discuss the requisites of a good secretary. Mrs. Seward is chairman of the Washington Chapter and Miss Crawford of Vicksburg, Miss., is national vice president

By Bill Brinkley
Post Reporter

This thing of secretaries either wanting or having to fall in love with their bosses is so much baloney. Hang it all, what a woman wants when she gets off work is a change from those same old faces, it developed at a secretaries' symposium here yesterday.

The Southeastern Regional Section of the National Secretaries Association, an organization devoted to "elevating the standards of the secretarial profession," was in town for a three-day session at the New Colonial Hotel.

"This love-life in the office, this idea of a secretary having to be an office-wife is so overexaggerated," Miss Frances Crawford, Vicksburg, Miss., the trim, regional vice president, said. "Personally I'm in favor of forgetting the word office-wife. We have to live it down."

'Anticipates' the Boss

But, the symposium of secretaries from several States concluded, a good secretary "anticipates" her boss's home life so he will be happy at least in the office if he isn't at home.

"If his wife sleeps on the boss's shirttail," one secretary crisply put it, "you have to be tactful and know what to do about it."

One struck this apt comparison: "A man marries a woman to manage his home beautifully. He hires a secretary to manage his office the same way."

About dating your boss: "Most secretaries are so glad to leave their boss after eight hours . . ."

But, it was pointed out, it is entirely possible for a boss and secretary to have one life together in the office and another, completely separated from the office, dating outside. "If you were a good secretary, that wouldn't make any difference."

The "bull"-fest of a dozen secretaries lined up these further attributes of a good secretary:

"When the boss is wrong, she shows him so in a tactful way—she lets the new idea, which she has, become his idea."

"She is always well groomed. She does not wear off-the-shoulder blouses to the office. She does not use feminine wiles. We want to be treated just as another man."

One partial dissident added:

"It is all right to use feminine wiles if you're efficient, office-wise besides. It is feminine wiles without efficiency that are unjustifiable."

She never brings her own home life into the office.

"A good boss, though," one said, "will notice if you have personal problems and, in a discreet way, help you solve them." If the boss starts talking about his home life, there's not much you can do about it, though your degree of sympathy should be dictated by how long you've been with him.

Age Not a Factor

"A good secretary knows what's going to happen before it happens. A stenographer is paid to do. A secretary is paid to think."

What makes a good boss, the girls decided, is mainly two things:

He is a real executive and delegates authority. "He doesn't say, 'I want you to do this job' and then keep asking, 'Have you done it, did you put a period there, did you . . .'"

He shows his gratitude. "Lack of appreciation hurts a girl more than anything."

How old need a good secretary be? "Age has nothing to do with it," most replied. But still another dissident said:

"One big executive told me he'd always had a flighty young girl for his secretary. When he left the office everything flew apart. Then he got a woman about 35 and got rid of the young girl. Now, he tells me, everything is smooth as can be in the office."

Housing Firm Head Is Charged Of Larceny

Lusk Arrested On Complaint He Failed to Deliver Home to Veteran

Richard S. Lusk, head of the Veterans Housing Corp. which is promoting the Woodlawn Manor subdivision in Fairfax County, was arrested last night on a charge of larceny by embezzlement.

The complaint was sworn to by Channing L. Pace, 3100 S. Hill st., Arlington. Pace said he was one of a number of war veteran "depositors" with Pace for a home he never received.

At the same time, it was disclosed that papers were served on Lusk yesterday in an involuntary bankruptcy action brought in Federal District Court in Alexandria. The suit was filed by Andrew Clarke, of Alexandria, as attorney for Pace and three other veterans who alleged they have made deposits with Lusk and the Veterans Housing Corporation, without receiving any return.

To Seek Injunction

At the same time also, Clarke announced he will go before Fairfax County Circuit Court this morning to seek an injunction to hold up a foreclosure sale of two properties in Woodlawn Manor. The foreclosure sale is scheduled to take place in front of the Fairfax County Courthouse at noon today.

Clarke said also that an action was filed in Fairfax Circuit Court yesterday by an investment banking firm which has been involved in financing of the Woodlawn Manor project.

Clarke said that his client, Pace, deposited $3000 with Lusk for a home at Woodlawn Manor. Clarke said that some homes have been built in the subdivision, and a number of improvements such as streets, water supply system and others have been installed. None of his clients, Clarke said, has received the promised homes.

$3000 Bond is Posted

Lusk was arrested shortly before 7 p. m. yesterday, by Fairfax County Police and taken to the Groveton station.

Shortly before 11 p. m., $3000 bond was posted by a professional bondsman for his release. He is scheduled to appear in Fairfax Trial Justice Court for preliminary hearing on the larceny by embezzlement charge on September 21.

Lusk was not available for comment after his release last night.

1400 Miles

2 Youths Sail From District To Michigan

Cheboygan, Mich., Sept. 16 (Spl.).—Two teenage Silver Spring, Md., youths arrived here at 12:30 p. m. today completing a 1400-mile sailing trip from Washington.

The voyage of Thomas L. Eesley, 18, of 239 Dale dr., and Lewis Chesley, 17, of 10115 Pierce dr., in in a Chesapeake Bay bateau with a 20½-foot hull, "took 62 days on 40 days of money."

"Since August 26 we have had only 23 cents," Eesley said upon their arrival at the summer home on Black Lake, just south of Cheboygan, of Tom's father, Leonard Eesley, a Federal Power Commission lawyer in Washington.

"We were washed out in the middle of Georgian Bay, 45 miles from land, in a terrible storm with waves running about 10 feet high," the youth said.

"We had to swamp the dinghy we were towing and pull it as a sea anchor. We finally made it to Point Au Brail, Ontario. From there we lived on islands.

"We made it to Brusters Island lighthouse, and stayed with the lighthouse keeper for five days. He is the best cook and breadmaker in the world.

"The storm washed all the labels off the canned goods we carried, making it a job to make up a meal shaking cans to decide what was in them."

(Editor's note: Eesley and Chesley sailed from the Buzzard Point boatyard shortly after dawn July 15. They planned to use their 5-horsepower outboard motor only in canals. They estimated it would cost them $2 a day for food, cooking aboard with a gasoline stove, and $125 for gasoline and other expenses for an approximately 40-day voyage.)

Falls Injure Four Persons in D. C., One Critically

Four persons were injured, one critically, in falls yesterday in the District and nearby area.

George R. Fant, 48, of 1724 L st. ne., rolled down the front steps of his home and struck his head against the sidewalk after falling out of a chair. He was admitted to Casualty Hospital for a possible skull fracture. His condition was listed as critical.

James Booth, 39, of near Beltsville, Md., fell off the roof of a building he was repairing at the Beltsville Agricultural Experiment Station and injured his back. He was admitted to Providence Hospital.

George Jackson, 30, of 919 P st. nw, was treated at Gallinger Hospital for a broken leg after he fell from the second to the first floor of a building he was working on at Bladensburg rd. and R sts. ne.

Edwin Williams, 47, of 2014 Perry st ne., fell off a 10-foot pile of cinder blocks when one of the bricks gave way at the National Brick Company, Terra Cotta, D. C. He was treated at Casualty Hospital for contusions of the right shoulder and a possible concussion.

Truck Drivers' Wage Talks to Resume Today

Representatives of some 450 truck drivers and their employers will resume negotiations this morning over a wage issue which left them deadlocked Thursday.

The drivers are asking a boost of 17 cents an hour over their present $1.15 rate. Management spokesmen have offered 13½ cents, the increase agreed to by striking Baltimore drivers Wednesday when they returned to work.

Today's negotiations were scheduled, it was learned, after Charles J. Bell, president of Truck Drivers Local 639 (AFL), and Linwood Trainham, the local's business agent, attended a strategy meeting of the union's executive council in Baltimore.

Joseph McGarraghy, attorney for the labor relations council of the District Trucking Association, said negotiations would resume this morning in his office. He said the association's offer would remain the same.

Man Arrested; $172 Found in Truck Hupcap

A construction laborer was arrested on a larceny charge yesterday after Montgomery County detectives found $172 in cash hidden inside the hub cap of his truck and a watch valued at $125 and a wallet containing a $50 bill buried in a nearby ditch.

The arrested man, Wilbur M. Cleveland, 20, of Fairmont Heights, Md., was accused of taking the money and watch from a construction shed on a housing project where he is employed in the 7100 block of Western ave. Police said they were the property of Sanford L. Martin, 24 Hamilton st. ne., a carpenter on the project. The theft occurred Thursday, they said.

Cleveland was held under $1000 bond for appearance in Bethesda Police Court at 10 a. m. Monday.

Man Is Accused Of Robbing Woman Of Money in Bra

Victor A. Samulck, 25, of 736 6th st. nw., was charged yesterday with robbery in dipping into a woman's brassiere and coming out with $25.

Police quoted the complainant, Dorothy Costello, 24, of 1205 N st. nw., as saying that Samulck approached her early yesterday in the Purity Food Shop, 6th and G sts. nw., and asked her if she had any money. She said that she told him that she had none.

When she left the restaurant, police said, she was grabbed, dragged into an alley, and her dress jacket torn off. Then, according to police, Samulck reached into her brassiere and took the money.

In Municipal Court he was held under $2000 bond for a hearing Tuesday.

Rejected by Mother, 'Grunt,' The Baby Hippo, Dies at Zoo

The Zoo was in mourning last night. Grunt, the baby hippo, died unexpectedly at 12:30 p. m.—a half hour before his initial press conference was scheduled. He was 72 hours and 30 minutes old.

It maked the sixth time the progeny of Pinky, the 4000-pound mama hippo, have died soon after birth. As it was, Grunt lived over twice as long as any of the others.

Hopes were high this baby might thrive. At 120 pounds, 3 feet in length and 30 inches high, he looked the picture of health. His very name, after the small noise he kept making as he lay outside his tiny pool, denoted robustness.

It is true that bottle-fed hippos don't usually live—Pinky won't nurse her own—but her Grunt took his quart every three hours with exceptional gusto.

The best sign was when Dr. William M. Mann, Zoo director, called in photographers yesterday morning. This is a step usually taken only whre there is a fair certainty a new baby is going to make it.

Grunt had spent a fine night, taking his milk. But at 10 a. m. feeding he was disinclined. Then he just lay mournfully by the edge of his pool. When photographers arrived at 1 p. m. they were told he had died thirty minutes earlier.

It might be different some day if Pinky only would nurse her own.

Mom, a previous Zoo female hippo, had babies from the same papa, the 6000-pound, strapping Bongo, and they lived. Pinky is a good hippo in all ways but one—she lacks maternal instinct. If a baby is left with her, she keeps poking it, prodding it around. This means it has to be taken away and bottle-fed.

Mainly her babies don't live, Dr. Mann thinks, because Pinky, a former circus hippo, is of weak stock. But also: "There's no substitute for mama's milk."

Gallinger Hospital's New Nurses Are Capped . . .

Sand Firm Owner Fined in Stream Pollution Case

A Branchville, Md., man was convicted of violating the Maryland antipollution law yesterday in the first criminal case brought to court by the State's Water Pollution Control Commission.

A. H. Smith, owner of a sand and gravel company, was fined $50 in Marlboro Police Court by Judge Arthur P. Owens on the commission's complaint that he disregarded a warning that his firm was polluting Indian Creek. Smith admitted "muddying up the stream," but denied that quantities of sand and gravel discharged into the water were harmful.

Paul W. McKee, executive secretary of the pollution control commission, said Smith was the first person taken to court on a criminal complaint since the commission was formed in 1947. However, he said, several hundred notices of violations have been sent out.

Police Arrest Six In Vice Raids Here

The new and tighter vice law enforcement system inaugurated by Maj. Robert J. Barrett, superintendent of police, two months ago, has begun to "roll," it was disclosed yesterday.

Two liquor and gambling raids were made yesterday by precinct officers in as many precincts, and another one under similar circumstances Thursday.

Investigations leading to the raids were made by precinct officers rather than the headquarters vice squad.

Major Barrett, in his departmental order on July 14, made every officer in the department individually responsible for vice law enforcement, and set up a coordinating officer in each precinct to implement the new set-up.

In the first raid yesterday, Capt. Beverly Beach of the Seventh Precinct, with a squad of officers, moved in on the Town and Country Club, an after-hours drinking spot at 3135 K st. nw. Three persons were arrested.

Ernest E. Byrd, 29, of 1763 Columbia rd nw., alleged by police ot be the owner, was charged with keeping liquor for sale. Leighton Williams, 43, of 5193 MacArthur blvd. nw., who police said was manager, was charged with keeping and selling whisky. And Sue R. Garren, 24, a waitress, whose address was not obtained by officers, was charged with selling whisky.

In Municipal Court yesterday, all three denied the charges and demanded a jury trial, which was set for November 4. They were released under $500 bond each.

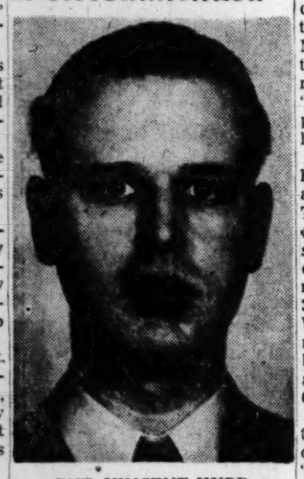
Police said warrant for the place was obtained on a "buy" by an undercover man a week ago. Early yesterday a policewoman entered and made a "buy" of liquor, the officers said, and this was the trigger that set off the raid.

In the second raid yesterday First Precinct officers, headed by Lieut. David McCutcheon and Sergt. Alexander Douglas, invaded a newsstand at 17 H st. ne., and arrested three men. The officers said that the place was a front for both after-hours sale of bottled liquor and for numbers operations.

Arrested were Floyd Banks, 47, of 42 I st. nw.; Jerome King, 27, of 416 I st. ne., and Willie Moore, 40, of 1125 Chapel Oaks dr. ne. All three were charged with operating a lottery and possession of number slips. Banks and King posted $1500 each and Moore $500 for appearance September 22 before United States Commissioner C. S. Lawrence. In addition, Banks and King were charged with keeping and selling whisky without a license and will face Municipal Court today on those charges.

Sandy L. Smith, 37, and Gabriel Evans, 27, both of 1308 Q st. nw., posted $1500 bond each yesterday before Commissioner Lawrence on lottery and numbers slips charges for hearing September 22. They were arrested Thursday by Lt. Joseph H. Hunt, and a squad of 2nd precinct officers, in the 1400 block of Q st. nw. The officers said they were arrested on a warrant and had been under observation for two weeks.

His Dismissal Is Recommended



PVT. VINCENT HURD
Accused in shortage

Policeman's Dismissal Recommended

A Police Trial Board yesterday recommended that Pvt. Vincent S. Hurd, 36, of the Ninth Precinct, be dismissed from the force for a shortage of $332 in the funds he collected for the Metropolitan Police Retiring Association.

Hurd, through his attorney, Charles E. Ford, entered a plea of nolo contedere and asked that the board be lenient in recommending a penalty. He did not testify at the hearing. He is given five days to appeal the recommendation to the District Commissioners.

Pvt. Lawrence D. Johnson, auditor for the association, testified that when he examined Hurd's books September 1, Hurd admitted dipping into the fund, but stated he intended to repay what he had taken.

"He told me he took about $100 to pay a bill, but that he didn't know what happened to the rest of the missing money, collected during July and August. He said he had the locks on his desk changed twice, but that other persons had keys," Johnson stated.

Capt. Irvin H. Umbaugh, Hurd's commanding officer, told the board it was "possible but improbable" that anyone but Hurd could have taken money from the desk without being seen by others.

Ford described Hurd's life as one filled with misfortunes and told the board he was "in poverty." He said Hurd's first wife was admitted to a sanitarium in 1941, leaving him with two young children. She probably will remain there the rest of her life, Ford said.

To provide a home for his children, Hurd remarried. His second wife had a child of her own. Hurd must care for his good-sized family as well as his first wife—a tough job on a policeman's poor salary, Ford declared.

In addition, Hurd has been in ill health and has lost 35 pounds in recent months, Ford said. Hurd was on sick leave as of August 20 and is suffering a stomach ulcer, officers said.

At the time the shortage was discovered, Hurd, a member of the force for 11 years, told officers he had planned to repay the money with his lump-sum payment under the District retroactive pay increase, but congressional delay in passing the measure prevented it.

Members of the trial board were Inspector Roberts Pearce and Capts. John Agnew and Beverly Beach.

May Gambling Count Against Lions Dropped

Gambling charges against four members of the Southwest Harbor Lions Club were dropped in Upper Marlboro Police Court yesterday.

State's Attorney A. Gwynn Bowie said he had asked that the charges, placed after a raid on the river boat Mount Vernon last May, be nolle prossed. He said the men involved "obviously were not gamblers as such," and there "clearly was no element of private profit" in the operations which led to their arrest.

The four were arrested after Prince Georges County police went aboard the boat in plain clothes. They had received a telephoned complaint that "big-time professional gamblers" were operating on the steamer. The Lion Club members were William B. Smith, 314 Franklin ave., Silver Spring; William E. Atkinson, 823 Tuckerman st. nw.; William R. Hildebrand, 7108 Gloster rd., Woodacres, Md., and David M. Perry, 6620 31st st. nw.

The men were not charged until two days after the raid. Later county police learned that the "big-time" gamblers actually were members of a civic club operating games of chance as a charity benefit aboard a ship chartered by their own organization.

An investigation by the Wilson Line, which operates the boat, established that the complain about gambling had come from a company employe, who asked police to come aboard the night of the Lions' cruise. Company officials said they did not learn the motive.

Bowie said the charges never would have been pressed had it not been for the fact that police were "put on the spot" by their action. He said the officers were "100 per cent" right in acting on the complaint, and added he was compelled to back the arrests to avoid an "embarrassing situation."

Hearing of the case has been delayed since June due to the illness of Bowie, who returned to work only 10 days ago after having been stricken with a serious heart ailment.

Montgomery Democrats Take Action

Aimed at revitalizing the Democratic Party in Montgomery County, a "spontaneous' session in Rockville attended by more than 350 persons last night produced three strong recommendations for the State Central Committee.

Most important, the group asked the State Central Committee to arrange immediately for each precinct to elect its own leaders. In the past, the committee has named precinct officials.

The group also recommended that the committee set up a publicity and speakers' bureau, and that the policy-making body meet monthly at specific places in the county after advertising the meeting two weeks in advance.

Last night's meeting was set up by the "Committee of Twelve," a group headed by Rockville Mayor G. Lamar Kelly, which evolved from earlier meetings as the steering committee for Montgomery County Democrats.

The 12-man committee was instructed to continue its work for the next 60 days. During that time, it is to hold public hearings over the county to learn the views of as many Democrats as possible. Findings are to be revealed at an open session at the end of the two-month period.

It was also recommended that the central committee, in arranging election of precinct officials by voters, advertise the time and place of the election.

J. Bond Smith, chairman of the central committee, attended last night's meeting but declined comment on the action taken.

School Annex Bid Accepted In Alexandria

The Alexandria School Board yesterday agreed to accept a $303,990 bid by Eugene Simpson & Bro. of Alexandria for construction of a 12-classrom addition to the Mt. Vernon elementary school.

Formal action by the City Council authorizing the expenditure from bond funds is necessary before the contract can be signed, but this has always been a routine matter.

Simpson promised to complete the work in 170 working days from the date the contract is signed. Plans call for 12 classrooms, an auditorium and music room. The building will connect with the Mt. Vernon Annex and extend across what is now Mt. Ida ave. to within 20 feet of the old school.

When the contract is signed, all seen units in the Group I $2,837,500 building program will have been completed or be under construction. The Ficklin School and additions to Maury and MacArthur Schools have been completed. The new Parkfairfax school, the new Negro high school and the George Mason School addition are under construction.

School Superintendent T. C. Williams said the board will have some money left over with which to rehabilitate the Parker-Gray and Lyles-Crouch Schools (Negro) and the Mount Vernon School cafeteria. The board has $36,640 left in the construction fund and expects a surplus in the equipment fund.

Dr. N. E. Himes Funeral Rites On Wednesday

Funeral services for Dr. Norman Edwin Himes, 49, chief of the Special Education Office Military Government for Germany and well known sociologist here, will be held at Fort Myer Chapel Wednesday at 2 p. m. Burial will follow in Arlington Cemetery.

Dr. Himes

Algeron Black, leader of the Ethical Culture Society, New York City, and Sidney French of the Colgate University faculty, two old friends, will say the service.

Died in Venice

Dr. Himes died in Venice, Italy, on June 6. First reports credited his death to a fractured skull suffered from a fall in the bathroom. Later investigation showed that he died from coronary thrombosis.

He was the author of numerous books on marriage and birth control, including "The Truth About Marriage," "Happy Marriage" and "Men, Groups and the Community."

Dr. Himes had been in Europe since 1946 when he taught sociology at the University of Biarritz. He later took over his AMG post which he held to his death.

Before Europe, Dr. Himes taught at Clark University and Colgate University. During the war, he was a major in the Office of the Surgeon General here, and immediately afterwards he was chief of the Wages and Hours section of the War Manpower Commission.

Jersey City Native

A native of Jersey City, N. J., he was a graduate of Harvard University, where he received a doctor of philosophy degree in 1932.

Dr. Himes' first wife, Mrs. Vera Carola Hokananson Himes, was killed in an American Overseas Airlines crash in 1946. In January 1947, he married the former Marian King Bailey of Jamestown, N. Y., in Germany.

While in Washington, Dr. Himes lived at 4429 N. 38th st., Arlington.

Mrs. Elliott Rites Today in Takoma Park

On Fishing Trip

Heart Attack Is Fatal to E. R. Burkins

Solomons, Md., Sept. 16 (AP).—Earle R. Burkins, 57, Harford County member of the Maryland House of Delegates, died of a heart attack today while fishing in the Patuxent River.

Burkins was attending the Chesapeake Bay fishing fair with his wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Burkins and Mr. and Mrs. Dewey F. Bowman, also from Bel Air, set out early today on a fishing trip aboard the Aldor, a cabin cruiser skippered by Capt. Rodney Dize.

Blue fish were biting and Burkins landed his first one. Bowman noted he looked ill. Burkins said there was a pain in his chest. He was taken to the cabin and the Aldor headed for Solomons Island. Burkins died before she docked.

Burkins, a Democrat, was mayor of Bel Air 12 years and had been in the House of Delegates since the start of the 1939 session. He also was an inspector for the State Racing Commission.

He served with the Twenty-ninth Division in France during World War I and was active in veterans' affairs.

Survivors beside the widow include his 90-year-old father; a brother, Kenneth T. Burkins, of Bel Air, and a sister, Mrs. Ruskin B. Warren, of Westminster.

Lieut. Wirth Dies; Navy Dental Officer

Lieut. Norman James Wirth, 31, dental officer with the United States Navy, died Thursday night at Bethesda Naval Hospital.

Lieutenant Wirth was found unconscious on the bathroom floor of his home, 2230 Washington ave., Silver Spring, Tuesday morning by his wife.

Montgomery County Coroner J. F. Broschart said a certificate of death will be issued this morning after the cause of death is determined.

He was born in Peoria, Ill., attended Wright Junior College in Chicago and graduated from Northwestern University in 1942. He taught dentistry at Northwestern after his graduation.

During the war he served with the Navy in the South Pacific.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Margaret Pickett Wirth; his father, Dr. Henry John Wirth, Chicago, Ill; two brothers, Henry John jr., Freeport, Long Island, and Dennis Patrick, Chicago; and one sister, Mrs. Virginia Yocherer, Chicago.

Funeral services will be held at Fort Myer Chapel Tuesday at 9 a.m. Burial, with full military honors, will follow in Arlington Cemetery.

William Henry Taubert

William Henry Taubert, 82, retired agent for the American Fire Insurance Co. of Baltimore died Thursday of pneumonia.

A native of Baltimore, Mr. Taubert was a graduate of City College there. He was known for his talent as a violinist and singer. His tenor voice was heard for many years in Baltimore churches.

Mr. Taubert, a world traveler, moved to Washington some 20 years ago. With his wife, Mrs. Sarah Virginia Taubert, his only survivor, he lived at 4718 Asbury pl. nw.

Funeral services will be held Monday at 11:30 a. m. at Chambers funeral home, 3072 M st. nw. Burial will be at Glenwood Cemetery.

Samuel Athey Ryan

Funeral services for Samuel Athey Ryan, 52, president of Herald Harbor Beach, Inc., Md., who died of a heart ailment at his home there Thursday, will be held at 2 p. m. today in the Millersville, Md., Methodist Church. Burial will be in Arlington National Cemetery.

Mr. Ryan was born in Sperryville, Va. He attended school in Rapidan and subsequently a business college in the State. During World War I he served in the Navy, and followed his discharge was a branch manager in the circulation department of the Times-Herald for many years.

Mr. Ryan was owner of Herald Harbor Beach, now a community of more than 500 homes, for ten years, and since its incorporation last year served as its president.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Thelma Sibley Ryan; two daughters, Mrs. Betty Reynolds and Mrs. Gloria Spence, both of Washington; a son, William A. Ryan of Herald Harbor; and a granddaughter, Valerie Spence.

Requiem Mass For L.A.Hardie To be Today

Requiem mass for Joseph A. Hardie, 74, former District bowling champion, who died Wednesday at Providence Hospital of a heart ailment, will be said at 10 a. m. today in St. Peter's Church, Second and C sts. se. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

Mr. Hardie joined the Bureau of Engraving as a plate printer in 1898, and retired in May 1940.

While at the peak of his bowling activities, Mr. Hardie in 1903 was the leader on every major tenpin classification in Washington, and the same year placed second in the American Bowling Congress doubles with Charles Lord of Washington as his partner.

In 1910 he was judged the most popular bowler in the District and presented with a gold watch.

Up to about 18 months ago the former champion continued his bowling activities, seldom missing bowling at least once or twice a week.

The son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John F. Hardie, he came to Washington from New Brunswick, N. J., about 50 years ago.

Mr. Hardie was a member of St. Peter's Holy Name Society and of the Plate Printers' Union.

His wife, Mrs. Mary Hassett Hardie, died in 1939. After her death he made his home with his sister-in-law, Mrs. James M. Hassett of 1749 Buchanan st. ne. Besides Mrs. Hassett, he is survived by a brother, John F. Hardie of 1921 N. Capitol st.

McCarthy Hanger, Sr.

McCarthy Hanger, sr., 69, formerly of Washington, died Thursday of a stroke while attending a convention in Chicago, it was learned here yesterday.

Mr. Hanger was formally vice president and a member of the board of directors of J. E. Hanger, Inc., 221 G st. nw., a firm founded by his father for the manufacturing of artifical limbs. He left Washington in 1941 to become president of J. E. Hanger, Inc., of Missouri, located in St. Louis.

Born in Churchville, Va., Mr. Hanger attended Georgetown Law School. He was a former member of the Harmony Order of Masons and was a past president of the Artifical Limbs Manufacturers Association.

He is survved by his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Hanger; a daughter, Miss Betty Hanger, both of St. Louis; three sons, Roger A. Hanger of Cleveland, Tenn.; William A. Hanger of Atlanta, Ga., and McCarthy Hanger, jr., of St. Louis; two brothers, H. Hoover Hanger of Washington, and Hugh H. Hanger of Philadelphia, and a sister, Mrs. Etta Collins of Princeton, N. J.

Funeral services will be held Monday morning at the Stanley Yelverton funeral chapel in Goldsboro, N. C.

Cash to Julian Heirs May End Court Fight on Will Probate

Cash settlements to heirs of the late William A. Julian, Treasurer of the United States, may end a court fight to have his will probated in Maryland rather than in Ohio, it was learned yesterday.

Informed sources disclosed that Julian's niece, Mrs. Elizabeth Julian White of Fort Leavenworth, Kans., has tentatively agreed to drop her petition to have the will probated in Montgomery County Orphan's Court as a result of the cash offer.

The offer, it was said, has been made by the four Cincinnati charitable institutions to which Julian willed the bulk of his estate—estimated at from four to five million dollars.

Hearing on Mrs. Whit's petition was postponed yesterday in Orphan's Court until September 28. Final terms are expected to be presented at the hearing. Her attorneys yesterday refused to reveal the amount of the settlement.

Orphan's Court was petitioned by Mrs. White to have the will probated in Rockville rather than in Cincinnati, because she might have benefited substantially under Maryland inheritance laws, her attorneys said.

Julian was killed in an auto crash May 29 while driving from his Montgomery County home to a golf date. He lived in Cincinnati for many years before coming to Washington.

His will was filed in District Court May 31 and shortly after admitted to probate in Cincinnati at the request of the executors there.

Atlantic Pact Conferees Join Finance Chiefs in Party Round

By Elizabeth Maguire

FINANCIAL festivities yesterday totaled three embassy receptions, a dinner for 400, at the Shoreham, and countless small luncheons and dinners. It was closing day socially for the Bank and Fund, but the Atlantic Pact session has just begun. Happily, visits from ministers of finance and foreign affairs have somewhat overlapped and resultant parties have often combined.

At the French Embassy yesterday, the Ambassador and Mme. Bonnet received with their Minister of Finance, Maurice Petsche, Mme. Petsche, and Pierre Menedes-France, governor of the Fund for France. As Minister Petsche and Mr. Mendes-France are co-chairmen this year of the Monetary Conference, their time was filled with finances and the two were unable to attend their own party until things were well under way.

Mme. Bonnet's artistic eye had arranged the flowers in the embassy rooms to perfection. White chrysanthemums decorated the green drawing room, orchid mums were placed about the yellow and white sun room, and in the pine-paneled library where guests were received were masses of bronze and white flowers.

Count Carlo Sforza, Minister of Foreign Affairs of Italy, and Countess Sforza, accompanied by the Italian Ambassador and Signora Tarchiani, were among the early arrivals. The Secretary of the Treasury, John W. Snyder, came with Mrs. Snyder and their daughter, Miss Drucie Snyder. And the Ambassador of the Philippines, Joaquin M. Elizalde, was accompanied by his daughter, Miss Cecilia Elizalde.

One of Washington's most popular couples, the Second Secretary at the embassy and Mme. Winckler, assisted at the party. The Wincklers will waltz this winter at the Lido and taxi about in gondolas, as the Second Secretary here has been appointed consul at Venice. Hardly a week will pass probably without a visit from one of their Washington friends.

Another guest at the reception, Minister K. T. Jutila, had just returned from a trip to Minnesota. The landscape and the climate there are like Finland, he said, and the people are like the Finnish, too.

The British Ambassador and Lady Franks are among Washington's most indefatigable hosts and party goers. Since their return from Nantucket a week or so ago, they have entertained Bishops, students and cabinet ministers. And they have attended every major party at other embassies. Yesterday they were at the French Embassy party with Sir Gordon Monro, Governor of the Bank for Great Britain.

Mme. Pandit, Indian Ambassador, and the President of the World Bank, Eugene Black, and Mrs. Black, the Ambassador of Belgium; Baron Silvercruys, and the Ambassador of Denmark, Henrik de Kauffmann, were also guests.

Mexican Reception

THE Mexican Secretary of Finance, Dr. Ramon Beteta, was also host at an embassy reception yesterday, receiving with the Ambassador and Senora de la Colina between the hours of 5 and 7. Hundreds of guests filled the blue patio and cool roof garden, and countless more enjoyed cocktails and a lavish buffet from a table centered with Mexican dolls in native costume. Fall flowers were everywhere in shades of yellow, bronze and white.

Among the guests were Paul G. Hoffman, ECA chief; William McChesney Martin, jr., Assistant Secretary of State; Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Overby; the President of the World Bank and Mrs. Eugene Black; the Director of the National Bank of Mexico, Carlos Novoa; Maurice Frere, Governor of the National Bank of Belgium; Douglas C. Abbott, Minister of Finance of Canada; Pierre Dupong, Minister of Finance of Luxembourg, and P. Lieftinck, Minister of Finance of The Netherlands.

Pakistan Party

THE Embassy of Pakistan was where guests seemed to linger longest. Supper was served at small white tables in a garden brightened with candles and blue and lavender lights. The party was in honor of the Finance Minister of Pakistan, Ghulam Mohamed, who received with the Ambassador and Mme. Ispahani between 6 and 8:30 o'clock.

The Danish Ambassador, Henrik de Kauffmann; the Ambassador of Ceylon and Mme. Corea; the Ambassador of the Dominican Republic and Senora de Thomen; the Minister of Syria, Faiz El-Khouri; the Ambassador of Iran, Hussein Ala, and Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred D. Whittemore were among the many guests at the party.

Bank, Fund Heads Honored

THE Boards of Governors of the Bank and Fund and their wives were honor guests last evening at a dinner given by the president of the World Bank, Eugene Black, and the managing director of the Fund, Camille Gutt. Dinner was held in the terrace banquet room of the Shoreham Hotel at 8 o'clock, and the guests numbered 400.

Seated at the head table with the two hosts and Mrs. Black were the French Minister of Finance, Maurice Petsche, and Mme. Petsche; the governor of the Fund for France, Pierre Mendes-France; the Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. John W. Snyder, Eugene Meyer, former president of the World Bank, and Indian governor of the Fund, Sir Chintaman Deshmukh.

A dinner party last evening was also given by the Netherlands Ambassador and Mme. van Kleffens at the embassy in honor of the Netherlands Minister of Foreign Affairs, Dirk Stikker, and the Netherlands Minister of Finance, Pieter Lieftinck.

Mr. Black was host at his Georgetown house at a luncheon yesterday in honor of governors of the Bank and Fund from Latin-American Republics.

Among those attending were Hector Ormachea Zalles of Bolivia, F. Alves dos Santos-Filho of Brazil, Emilio Toro of Colombia, Ignacio Copete-Lizarralde of Colombia, Luis Machado of Cuba, Jesus Maria Troncoso of the Dominican Republic, Pedro L. Nunez of Ecuador, Manuel Melendez-Valle of El Salvador, Manuel Noriega-Morales of Guatemala, Rene Cruz of Honduras, and Ramon Beteta of Mexico.

Luxembourg Luncheon Today

A LUNCHEON will be given today by the Luxembourg Minister and Mme. Le Gallais in honor of several ministers of foreign affairs who are here to attend the Atlantic Pact session.

Among the guests will be the British Secretary for Foreign Affairs, Ernest Bevin, and Mrs. Bevin, the British Ambassador and Lady Franks, the French Foreign Minister, Robert Schuman, the Ambassador of France and Mme. Bonnet, the Italian Minister of Foreign Affairs, Count Carlo Sforza, and Countess Sforza, and the Italian Ambassador and Signora Tarchiani.

Also, the Netherlands Foreign Minister, Dirk U. Stikker, the Netherlands Ambassador and Mme. van Kleffens, the Minister of Foreign Affairs of Belgium, Paul van Zeeland, and Mme. van Zeeland, the Ambassador of Belgium, Baron Silvercruys, the Minister of Foreign Affairs of Luxembourg, Joseph Bech, and the Prime Minister of Luxembourg, Pierre Dupong.

DATEBOOK DATA:

The Austrian Minister and Mme. Kleinwachter will entertain at a cocktail party on Monday, September 19, from 5:30 to 7:30 in honor of the Austrian Minister of Finance, Georg Zimmerman.

The Dean and the Chapter of the Washington Cathedral are entertaining from five to seven on Monday, September 19, in honor of the Archbishop of York. The party will be in the Bishop's Garden at Mount Saint Alban.

Due to the death of Thomas P. Morgan, jr., the President's Cup Regatta Association has cancelled the reception which was to have been given by Mr. and Mrs. Morris Cafritz at their house on Sunday from 6 to 8 o'clock. The coronation of the Queen, the reception and various other functions of the Regatta had been under the supervision of Mr. Morgan.

Miss Sarah Fly, Karl Connell Are Married

Miss Sara Virginia Fly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Lawrence Fly of Washington and New York City, was married last evening at First National Presbyterian Church to Karl Connell, son of Mrs. Karl Connell of Wintoon Lodge, Branch, N. Y., and the late Dr. Connell. The ceremony was performed by Dr. Edward L. R. Elson.

A reception was held at the Washington Club, following which the couple left for Atlantic City. Mr. and Mrs. Connell will live in New York City where Mr. Connell will continue his studies at Columbia Law School and Mrs. Connell will attend Barnard College. She has been studying at Vassar College.

The bride's father was o e-time chairman of the Federal Communications Commission.

Attendants at the wedding included the bridegroom's sisters, the Misses Gioia and Barbara Connell, and the Misses Nancy Thomas and Catherine Tim Harrington. Best man was Kingdon J. Gould.

Miss Stuart, Col. Larrabee Wed in N. Y.

A wedding of interest to Washingtonians took place yesterday in New York when Miss Constance Stuart became the bride of Col. Sterling Larrabee of Washington and Warrenton, Va.

The bride, the daughter of Mrs. Allan Stuart of Pretoria, South Africa, was given in marriage by Jan Jordaan, deputy permanent representative to the United Nations from the Union of South Africa, at whose apartment the ceremony was performed. The Rev. Ernest D. Vanderburgh of the Church of the Holy Trinity in New York officiated.

For the ceremony, the bride wore a beige gabardine suit with green orchid corsage, and a black hat.

Mrs. Larrabee, a prominent photographer, was the only woman war correspondent to serve in the South African Army. She served in Italy and later followed the advance of the Seventh United States Army into France and Germany.

Colonel Larrabee, who is well known in fox hunting circles, having been master of the Old Dominion hounds at Crest Hill, Va., for 17 seasons, is a West Point graduate. During the First World War he served three years with the British forces.

Edith Moffatt Becomes Bride

Miss Edith Alice Pierrepont Moffat was married September 14 in Los Angeles to Donn Braden Spenser. She is the daughter of Mrs. Jay Pierrepont Moffat of Ventura, Calif., and Washington, and the late Mr. Moffat.

The bridegroom's parents are Loyal James Spenser and Mrs. Earl H. Foster of Los Angeles.

The bride was given in marriage by her grandfather, former Ambassador to Japan, Joseph Clark Grew, and had as her attendants the Misses Lynn Hochschild, Ellyse Spiegl and Elizabeth Strub. For the ceremony which was performed by the Rev. Thomas Talbot, the bride wore a gown of white marquisette with Chantilly lace and a floor-length heirloom veil of Bruxelles lace. She carried bouvardia and stephanotis.

A reception at Chapman Park followed the wedding. The couple will live in Washington.

Mrs. Spenser was graduated from Madeira School and attended Scripps College. Her late father was in the Foreign Service, serving as Minister to Canada from 1940 to 1943.

Mr. Spenser, a senior at Pomona College, is the grandson of the late Joseph C. Braden of Chicago.

Four British Students Here For U. S. Tour

As guests of various branches of the English-Speaking Union throughout the country, four British students, who arrived in Washington yesterday, have been on a two-months tour of the United States.

During their stay in Washington the British students will live at the American University as guests of Dr. Paul F. Douglas, president of the university. The visitors are Mervyn H. Drewett, Wadham College, Oxford; W. R. Stuttaford, Trinity College, Oxford; Frederick S. Sutherland, Marlborough College, and S. C. Frampton.

Mrs. Lyman B. Smith gave a dinner last evening for the young men at her home in Kensington, and today, Leander McCormick-Goodhart and his daughter, Miss Leandra McCormick-Goodhart will give a luncheon in honor of the students at their home "Bellepais." A dinner party for the young men will be given this evening at the Chevy Chase Club by Benjamin S. Foster. Today they will be the guests of Mrs. Henning Nelms for both luncheon and dinner. On Monday they will leave Washington, but before going they will be the luncheon guests of Mrs. Ellis Foster.

Financial Group From Finland Honored at Party

Financial men from Finland were honored Thursday afternoon at a cocktail party given by the Finnish Charge d'Affaires and Mme. Wartiovaara at their home on Kalmia Road. The honor guests were Sakari Tuomioja, governor of the Bank of Finland; Johan Nykopp, chief of the Commercial Division of the Foreign Ministry; Rolf Torngren, Minister of Finance; Dr. Klaus Waris, professor of Economics at the Institute of Technology at Helsinki, Dr. Bruno Suviranta, economics professor at Helsinki, and Dr. M. Tamminen.

A group of newspaper men from Finland, who arrived Wednesday also, attended the party. These were Kurt Linderborg, Lauri Sihvo, Arvo Aari and K. Brunila. Visiting American women journalists just back from Finland included Mrs. Van Tufty, Mrs. Vera Clay Higgins, Miss Martha Streyer, Miss Sarah McClendon, and Mrs. Hope Ridings Miller. State Department representatives and Embassy staff members and their wives completed the guest list.

Shoe Bag for Auto

A shoe bag hung on the back of the front seat of the automobile will hold in its compartments all of those small items so necessary when traveling with children.

Party to Honor Helen Hayes, Harts

Helen Hayes and Mr. and Mrs. Moss Hart, the latter being Kitty Carlisle, will be honored tonight at a party to be given at the Charlie Forest Inn by co-producers Richard Skinner and Evelyn Freyman of the Olney Theatre. The combination of the three eminent theatrical personalities was brought about by the current appearance of Miss Hayes in "Good Housekeeping" and the forthcoming appearance next week of Mr. and Mrs. Hart in "The Man Who Came To Dinner" of which Mr. Hart is co-author. Tonight's party will be highlighted by Miss Carlisle's rendition of selections from "Carmen" in which she recently sang at Salt Lake City.

Color Chief Factor In Decoration

"COMMON SENSE made beautiful," is the way Miss Dorothy McCabe, interior decorating consultant, defines home decoration.

Miss McCabe, who is lecturing this week at Lanburgh's, says that color is the greatest principal in interior decoration, pattern next in importance. She will give her last talk here this afternoon at 3 in the drapery department of the store.

"Color emphasizes form, creates movement, makes unity possible, and gives a room atmosphere," she points out. "Pattern, on the other hand, permits inexpensive camouflage. It distracts the eye from bad lines, makes a sparsely furnished room appear less empty."

Feminine Diplomacy

The South American Way

Like to be a cultural attache from Venezuela stationed in Washington? Don't decide till you see Sunday's picture story about chic, colorful Luisa Branger. How this Latin lady lives here, her duties and her off-duty diversions are told with words and camera tomorrow in Section IV of Sunday's Post.

Spotlight on Virginia's Budget

How much are Virginia's state institutions spending—and how will they fare under the upcoming new budget? Governor Tuck and Governor-nominee Battle sought the answer to that on a recent two-week tour, covering every point from the State penitentiary to VPI.

Benjamin Muse, Post correspondent, went on the trip, too. His comprehensive report makes interesting reading tomorrow in Section II of Sunday's Post.

Budget Fashions

For Washington Women

If that same old problem is facing you this fall—how to look smart without spending much—you'll welcome Peggy Preston's Sunday article. Peggy supplies timely clothing suggestions for women who dress on a budget. Her Section IV story has pictures, too. Don't miss it.

WHO WILL BE Tomorrow's MOVIE STARS?

Which Hollywood starters will fate tap to reach the top of the ladder? Maybe you've already made your own nominations among today's supporting players.

Sunday in The Washington Post you can match your choices with those of the movie exhibitors.

One on the Aisle—

D. Duryea (Again) Does Dotty Dirt

By Richard L. Coe

THAT SWEET BOY, Dan Duryea, is getting to be the Capitol's star boarder. He was there last week with nahsty Liz Scott in "Too Late for Tears." He's there now in "Manhandled." Next week he was billed for "Johnny Stool Pigeon," but the Capitol evidently can't take it and has just switched in a musical in its place.

I'm sorta sorry about this because I've discovered that a Duryea dose per week sends me. I've been gunna buy me one a those tape recorders, work on my vocal chords, get 'em all silky like Danny's.

Danny can take a line like "Not for all the tea in China, Kitten," and conjure up before me vast miles of tea leaves, bulging at the storied walls of ancient China. I see teacups, too, and red-robed mandarins, and I know, Kitten, that Danny would never do whatever it is, never, never.

Whatever it is in this case is the dirty deal he tries to pull on helpless Dorothy Lamour, whose utter and complete helplessness is gargantuan. Dottie plays a secretary to a psychiatrist. To this mental medico comes a troubled author who's been dreaming he's killed his wife with a quart-size perfume bottle (that's one of the things I love most about the movies: perfume comes by the quart). Well, somebody does do the author's wife in with a quart-sized perfume bottle, and it doesn't seem to have been her husband.

Mousey Pet

And the jools are missing. Such a to-do. The insurance company sends its agent-with-the-closest-resemblance-to-Fred MacMurray, Sterling Hayden. He tangles with the police, a bumbling lot, who get to know one of the boarders in Dottie's dingy digs, Our Danny.

Danny's room is a tawdry den, enlivened by a mouse he keeps scurrying on a wheel in a cage. (An absolutely wonderful idea for a pet mouse; if I can't find one in a pet shop, I shall make one myself). Danny purrs nicely to everyone. To Dottie he whines: "You've only known me six weeks. Wait." And when his lies appear to have framed her solid he comforts her: "If you'd tipped me off in time I'd have cooked up a story, but hittin' me cold like this . . ."

The picture moseys along, keeps you reasonably interested though its no great shakes. Even with Danny.

FRANKIE LAINE, apparently, is very much great shakes . . . The Capitol's vaudeville headliner is a current pet of the crew cut set and sings the song they love the best, "Lucky Old Sun" . . . Others do it, but the Laine version has the authentic quality that gives it zing . . . He also includes such things as "River St. Marie" and "My Desire" . . . The Laine approach to a song is the most pained you can imagine . . . "Ch-arrr-re—eeee," he sings, "I luh-whve en-ouuu suh-ho" . . . Not even could Mrs. Dionne have had such a time . . . For all that, if not because of it, everyone's mad about this latest Frankie.

OTHERS on the Capitol's live bill include a merry session with Milt Slosser, doing "Enchanted Evening," "The Alphabet Song," "The Hucklebuck" and one of those battles of the sexes he organizes . . . Connie Haines, whose vocals also have top reclame, gets a great hand with her songs; Artie Dann's wit is fey if fusty, and Los Gatos have a finely paced opening act, rhythmic tumbling and good . . . The Capitol's stage bill is very good indeed, but it seems to me they've all been pretty good lately.

TIMELY is the word for the Warner's next picture, "Task Force" . . . With Gary Cooper starred, this is a story slanted to prove the importance to modern warfare of carrier-launched aircraft . . . There was a time when most Warner films seemed to stem from the front pages and this is certainly of that caliber . . . "Task Force" opens Thursday.

THE HIPPODROME today plots a mystery yarn boasting "a surprise ending second to none" . . . More about it than that I know not . . . The Pix boasts of a Sacha Guitry comedy, "My Last Mistress" . . . "Gone with the Wind" will be revived tomorrow and Monday nights at 8:20 at E. M. Loew's Drive-In on the Richmond Highway.

THE AMERICAN Memorial Foundation will benefit from Monday's advance opening of "The Man Who Came to Dinner," at Olney . . . This group plans to appeal to the great private fortunes of the Nation as well as the general public to build a "living memorial" to members of the armed forces in the form of a national community center, including an opera house, theater, auditorium and exhibition center.

The Gallup Poll

U. S. Adults Name Bob Hope No. 1 Comedian by Big Margin

By George Gallup

Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

Princeton, N. J., Sept. 16.—All America loves a laugh—and almost every American has his own idea as to who is the funniest laughmaker ever in the business.

But the reigning comedian, in the public's mind, is Bob Hope.

He outdistances his closest rivals in the Institute's first "comedy star derby"—with stage, screen, radio, or television stars all included—by a commanding ratio of almost 2½-to-1. Next come Milton Berle, Jack Benny, Red Skelton and Fibber McGee & Molly—all close on the heels of each other.

Whom bobby-soxers and collegians would name as the funniest comedian was not determined in the survey. But for many adult voters questioned there's nobody, it seems, like Hope for a laugh. He leads the parade of side-splitters as the No. 1 choice of both men and women, of voters in all sections of the country except the New England and Middle Atlantic States, and of voters of all levels of education.

Seen 'Good for Kids'

Said the 57-year-old wife of a Pittsburgh truck driver: "Bob Hope is good for the kids, the poor, and everybody."

These facts were brought to light in a survey involving 3043 personal interviews with a balanced cross-section of men and women over 21 years of age throughout America. To the rich and poor, to the educated and uneducated, to people in their seventies and eighties down to people in their twenties and thirties, the Institute put this question:

"Of all the comedians you have heard or seen perform on the stage, on the radio or television, or in the movies—which ONE do you think is the funniest?"

The top 15 funniest comedians were these:

1. Bob Hope
2. Milton Berle
3. Jack Benny
4. Red Skelton
5. Fibber McGee and Molly
6. Abbott & Costello
7. Fred Allen
8. Amos & Andy
9. Arthur Godfrey
10. Eddie Cantor
11. Jimmy Durante
12. Danny Kaye
13. Marx Brothers
14. Henry Morgan
15. Charlie Chaplin

The Marx Brothers were counted as a team, with Groucho mentioned most frequently.

2 Sidelights Emerge

Two interesting sidelights emerge from the survey. One reveals the impact of television, especially in the New England and Middle Atlantic States. There voters questioned gave first place as funniest comedian to TV Star Milton Berle.

The other shows that either the luster of oldtime cop-and-custard-pie heroes has been eclipsed by present-day "talkie" film, radio and television comedy artists—or the public's memory of silent film comedians has faded with time. Only one of the great silent film comedians landed in the top 15—Charlie Chaplin.

The memory of some voters, however, of the antics of Buster Keaton, Harold Lloyd, and Fatty Arbuckle is still good enough for these stars of yesteryear to be mentioned.

Will Rogers was named by several voters.

Among the men interviewed, the top 10 funniest comedians are Hope, Berle, Benny, Skelton, Fibber McGee & Molly, Abbott & Costello, Allen, Durante, Amos & Andy, and Cantor.

The women's choices—Hope, Skelton, Benny, Berle, Abbott & Costello, Fibber McGee & Molly, Godfrey, Amos & Andy, Allen, and Cantor.

Names most prominently mentioned in the survey, after the top 15, include Bergen & McCarthy, Lum & Abner, Burns & Allen, Clifton Webb, Will Rogers, Judy Canova, W. C. Fields, Dennis Day, Luigi (J. Carroll Nash), Olsen & Johnson, Joan Davis, Bing Crosby, Laurel & Hardy, Rochester, Phil Harris, William Bendix, and Joe E. Brown.

Al Jolson Mentioned

In addition, the following comedians received prominent mention: Al Jolson, Jack Carson, Tom Howard, Harold Lloyd, Henry Aldrich, Archie (Duffy's Tavern), Ed Wynn, Wallace Beery, Hugh Herbert, the Great Gildersleeve, Garry Moore, the Three Stooges, Gabby Hayes, Danny Thomas, and Eve Arden.

Others included: Beulah (Hattie McDaniel), Bobby Clark, Marjorie Main, Bob Burns, Smiley Burnette, Ray Bolger, Fannie Brice, Abe Burrows, Bea Lillie, Marie Wilson (My Friend Irma), Leon Errol, Spike Jones, Frank Morgan, Victor Moore, Wheeler & Woolsey, Barry Fitzgerlad, and ZaSu Pitts.

Typical of the wisecracks that apparently have endeared the British-born Hope to many Americans is the one he recently made while recuperating from a fall from a mechanical horse: "From now on I'm going to be a Noel Coward actor—just work from the neck up."

2 'Miracle Men of Century,' Truman and Lucky GI, Meet

Elder Solomon Lightfoot Michaux, Washington preacher, yesterday brought together his choices as the two "miracle men" of the century—President Truman and a most fortunate paratrooper.

The paratrooper is M/Sergt. James Hendrix, 24, of Lepanto, Ark. He fell 1000 feet September 8 at Fort Benning, Ga., when his parachute failed to open. He survived without any apparent injury.

It was such a "miracle of God," Michaux said, that he arranged for Hendrix to come here from Fort Benning and tell his story before a giant baptismal meeting in Griffith Stadium Sunday night.

Medal of Honor Winner

Elder Michaux, pastor of "The Church of God of the Gospel Spreading Association," which he founded about 30 years ago, also arranged for Hendrix to call on Mr. Truman at the White House.

It was the second meeting between the Sergeant and the President. On August 22, 1945, Mr. Truman gave him the Congressional Medal of Honor for killing seven Germans, capturing 13 more and saving four comrades from a burning tank during the Battle of the Bulge.

When they walked into the President's office, Michaux whipped out a prepared speech and read:

"Mr. President, it is my pleasure and privilege to bring together at this time two men made great in the eyes of the world by the power of God.

"The first, our honorable President, overcame insurmountable political opposition by the power of God and won the November election over tremendous adds.

"And, second, M/Sergt. James Hendrix of the Airborne Battalion, a wartime Medal of Honor winner, who by the power of God survived an uninterrupted fall of 1000 feet through space, contrary to all natural and scientific laws, with no apparent physical consequences, to stand here less than one week from the day of his fall to greet you, the second miracle of the twentieth century, your election No. 1."

Chute Tangles in Boot

Describing his fall to reporters, Hendrix said his first parachute tangled in a boot buckle and collapsed. His reserve chute started to open, but tangled in the first chute and also collapsed. It wrapped around his body as he plummeted head first toward the ground.

Before he hit, Hendrix grapsed his ankles, pulling his body into a "V" shape. He landed uninjured on his back in a plowed field.

Hendrix said he prayed fervently during the fall.

Hendrix is going soon to Camp Campbell, Ky., to join the 11th Airborne Division. He has been attending jump school at Fort Benning. His "miracle fall" was his eighth jump.

Hendrix and Elder Michaux were accompanied to the White House by J. P. Cresswell of New York City, a broker and chairman of the Gospel Spreading Association.

'Gamblers Anonymous' Held Good Bet

Los Angeles, Sept. 16 (AP).—Now there's a Gamblers Anonymous.

The idea is similar to Alcoholics Anonymous, Carl Newman, spokesman-leader of GA, disclosed last night.

Gamblers Anonymous popped into prominence for the first time with the filing of an initiative petition to ban horse racing in California.

"I don't mind telling the world that I dropped a fortune on the horses," said Newman. "Most of the other persons in this organization are in the same boat. We have seen the light. We're just like Alcoholics Anonymous, except that our downfall was horse race betting."

Newman said all members of the group prefer to remain unidentified, but that GA includes merchants, civic and church leaders. They are united in feeling, Newman said, that horse racing is "the king of rackets, not of sports."

Meetings are held at private homes and contributions from members have established a comfortable fund for their project, the spokesman declared.

Keyes Says Russians Seized 800 Austrians

Vienna, Austria, Sept. 16 (U.P.)—Lt. Gen. Geoffrey Keyes, United States High Commissioner for Austria, charged today the Russians had kidnaped or arrested without formal charges more than 800 Austrains since 1945.

The American general, in a statement to the four-power Allied Council for Austria, asserted the Austrians had been "deported for trial and sentence to a foreign country, from which months or years later rumors of their death may leak back to their families."

Polio Strikes Five More in District Area

Five new cases of polio, including one from the District, were reported yesterday to health departments in the Greater Washington Area.

This brings the number of cases in the District to 66 thus far this year, against 83 the same date in 1948, and 157 cases in the Greater Washington area this year.

The cases reported yesterday were:

A 30-year-old man of the 4200 block of Wheeler rd. se., admitted Thursday to Walter Reed Hospital.

A 10-year-old boy of the 1500 block of Roosevelt ave., Falls Church, admitted to Children's Hospital September 6.

A 12-year-old boy of the 5500 block, Fair Glen la., Chevy Chase, Md., admitted to Children's Hospital Thursday.

An 8-year-old girl of East Pines, Riverdale, admitted to Children's Hospital, Wednesday.

An 8-year-old girl, of Greenbelt, admitted to Children's Hospital, Monday.

6 of 157 Cases in D. C. Area Have Been Fatal

A total of 157 polio cases, six fatal, have been reported by Washington area health officials so far this year. The breakdown:

District—66.
Alexandria—6.
Fairfax County—11.
Montgomery County—21.
Arlington County—14.
Prince Georges County—39.

17 GIs Win Homes for $400 or Less

Seventeen GIs whose numbers were drawn in a Public Housing Administration sale yesterday became home owners for $400 or less.

The sale of expansible-mobile houses was held at the Langston Housing Development, 2101 G st. ne., and was conducted by John W. Wilhelm, housing property officer from the PHA regional office in Richmond, Va.

Wilhelm offered the houses "as is, where is."

More than a hundred veterans and their families attended the sale. The sale started with the veterans showing their discharge papers and receiving numbers.

The houses cost the Government $2200 each, plus freight charges from Michigan and erection costs during the war. They were shipped in crates, and when assembled became homes with a combination living-dining room, kitchen, two bedrooms and bath.

The houses are in the 100 block of Q st. sw.; 1600 block of First st. sw.; 1700 block of 14th and 15th sts. nw., and the 1800 block of Fenwick st. ne.

Groups of similar houses will be sold by PHA as they become available.

Yesterday's purchasers included: Willard W. Copenhauser of 3511 Nichols ave. se.; R. M. Small, 1118 S. Thomas st., Arlington; Fernand C. Watts, 3117 Benning rd. ne.; Winston E. Smidin, Silver Spring; Charles E. Zeabner, 4695 Benning rd. se.; Jesse Ware, 4236 Benning rd. ne.; Julius M. Lee, 851 20th st. ne.; Robert A. Deutsch, Washington Missionary College, Takoma Park; Wells A. Proctor, Younga Village, Fort Belvoir, Va.; Daniel J. O'Connor, Rt. 2, Brandywine, Md.; George H. Penticoff, 1337 Adams st. ne.

Vincent L. O'Donnell, 1910 First st. nw.; John J. Early, 5119 Hanna pl. se.; Charles E. Francis and Joseph W. Francis, 5909 E st. ne., Fairmont Heights, Md.; Leon Offenhauser, 907 Church st., Alexandria, and Harry E. Twing, Jr., 2 Domer ave., Takoma Park.

Judge Again Denies Writ To Meyers

Former Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers yesterday, for the second time in two months, was denied a writ of habeas corpus—and his release from the District Reformatory at Lorton, Va.

Judge Albert V. Bryan, of the Alexandria Federal District Court, turned down his petition for the same reason he had denied another in July.

In turning him down in July, Judge Bryan said the proper approach was to seek to have the sentence vacated or set aside by the trial court—District Court here. That failed and Meyers again sought a writ of habeas corpus from Judge Bryan.

This time Judge Bryan told him to try the United States Court of Appeals here.

Said Judge Bryan in a written order yesterday: "It appears that this court is prohibited by statute to entertain the petition" because "the motion of the applicant . . . before the United States District Court for the District of Columbia to vacate or set aside its sentence of the applicant was adequate . . . to test the legality of his detention . . ."

2500 Exhibits Expected at Harvest Show

Approximately 2500 exhibits representing 300 amateur gardeners and craftsmen will be displayed Sunday at the seventh annual Bethesda-Chevy Chase, Md., Harvest show at the B-CC High School, East-West hwy. from 2 until 9 p. m.

Awards for the best exhibit in each section and a sweepstakes prize will be presented between 7 and 8 p. m. Other prizes will be given away from 5 until 8 p. m.

A special junior Hobby Lobby will be provided at 1 p. m. for children who enter their collections and exhibits of craftwork. All other exhibitors are requested to place their articles today between 7 and 10 p. m.

Nasty Name Wave Plagues D.C. Woman

Singer Says She Won't Forget

CONNIE HAINES, popular Hollywood songstress, appearing at the Capitol Theater, yesterday was chosen Sweetheart of the Disabled American Veterans for their forthcoming "Forgetmenot" campaign. The flowers will go on sale September 26 to augment DAV funds. While in Washington, Miss Haines has been entertaining wounded veterans

Who's been writing the nasty remarks about "Frances" with lipstick on the ladies'-room and hall walls?

Half a dozen agencies are after the culprit. The litle expressions have graced the walls at the Colorado Building, the Governor Shepherd Apartments and at 1225 19th st. nw.

So far, Naval Intelligence, the Postoffice, United States Attorney's office, Detective Bureau, Women's Bureau, and three police precincts have been on the trail. The Corporation Counsel's office entered the trackdown yesterday.

Said Assistant Corporation Counsel Clark F. King:

"It's a poison pen campaign. We'll get at the bottom of it."

He had a dozen persons at a hearing in his Municipal Court office yesterday.

Mrs. Frances Kline, 42, and red haired, of 318 Rhode Island ave. ne., said the writings were about her because they give her first name and phone number. It's quite embarrassing, she said, and there have been a lot of phone calls and letters, some of them from men who aren't very nice.

King listened to everyone's ideas about the identity of the lipstick smearer and then continued the case so that he can wind up the loose ends.

Incidentally, Mrs. Kline has an unlisted phone at present and has instructed the telephone company not to give the number to anyone.

4 English Boys Tell of U. S. Impressions

Teacups in hand, crumpets to the right of them, four youthful sons of Great Britain yesterday came up with some fresh observations of this country after a six-week junket all over it.

They remarked, for instance, that America's fondness for the automobile, coupled with the convenience of drive-in restaurants, drive-in theaters, and like enterprises, can encourage only one thing: laziness.

They also noted, after some experience, that the age of American girls can be very deceptive, what with the tykes starting in on cosmetics at an early date. And the business of frying pineapple on ham is a questionable culinary practice, to say the least.

Under Youth Exchange

The boys are Mervyn H. Drewett, 22, of Wadham College, Oxford; Charles S. Frampton, 21, relief manager of a book firm; William R. Stuttaford, 20, Trinity College, Oxford, and Frederick S. Sutherland, 18, Marlborough College, Wiltshire.

While four American lads are touring England, they are just winding up a tour of this country under the youth exchange plan of the English Speaking Union. They were selected for the trip on the basis of their leadership and all-around ability.

They landed at National Airport yesterday afternoon after a brief visit in Richmond, and were taken to a reception in their honor given by Dr. Paul F. Douglass, president of American University, at his home. They'll depart New York a week from Monday for their native land.

Impressed by Generosity

To Bill Stuttaford and Charley Frampton, the first thing that comes to the mind when asked what has impresed them is "the generosity of the people we have met." That means, for the most part, friendliness. Neighborliness, if you like.

Charley speaking: "In Britain, when a person gets on a train he looks for an empty carriage. In America, they look for someone to talk to."

The second impression they have come away with is that "the talk of anti-British feeling in America is tremendously exaggerated." This notion was picked up while traveling from New York to San Francisco, from San Diego to Texas, from Texas to Nashville to Richmond to Washington.

Ahead of the boys is a busy time touring Washington today and Sunday. They head for New York Monday.

Sanity Test for Kidnaper

Trenton, N. J., Sept. 16 (U.P.). — Gerald Hutt, unemployed Bridgeport worker, was committed today to 90 days in the Trenton State Hospital for examinations to determine whether he was sane when he kidnaped 4-yearlold Jane Marie Franz last Friday.

Patman Asks Study of New Capital in West

Representative Wright Patman (D., Tex.) yesterday called for a study of setting up a new spare-time or full-time National Capital west of the Mississippi.

Patman introduced a House resolution calling for a three-point study by the House Rules Committee, and a report to Congress on their findings by January 3, 1951.

Points to Determine

Under the resolution, which would require House approval before the investigation would go forward, the rules group would study:

1. Whether a supplemental United States Capital should be established.

2. Whether the Capital should be moved out of Washington to another point in the United States.

3. Whether certain Government agencies could be operated efficiently away from the seat of government.

The Rules Committee would then be expected to decide what actions should be taken upon its findings.

Patman said that in studying the possible move of the Capital, special consideration should be given to a site west of the Mississippi, particularly in the Colorado area.

Very Vulnerable in War

"Our Capital is very vulnerable in war, and especially in an atomic age," Patman said.

"There is no reason why many of our agencies of government should not be established in any part of the United States.

He said his resolution is for the purpose of "provoking thought along this line, and determining whether or not anything should be done in this direction."

"In a nation with two billion acres of land it does not make too much sense for our seat of government to be crowded up in such a small space under conditions rendering it almost impossible to function properly."

Farmer Beaten, Robbed by Autoist He Tried to Help

A 79-year-old Fairfax County farmer was admitted to Arlington Hospital with head wounds yesterday after he was reportedly beaten and robbed at his home near Merrifield, Va.

Lemuel C. Tobin told police a man came into his yard about 9:30 a. m. and asked Tobin to give his car a push. When Tobin bent down to see if the bumpers of the two cars would meet, he reported, the man beat him unconscious. Tobin said $45 was missing from his pocket when he recovered consciousness.

Tobin said his attacker was a white man about 35 years old driving a black car. The alleged attack resembled the beating and robbing of Howard Struder at his Franconia home Wednesday night. No arrests have been made in either case.

Natural Gas Held Possible in 1950 For Richmond

By The Associated Press

C. E. Loomis, Columbia Engineering Corp. official, testified yesterday Richmond, Va., could be served with natural gas by May, 1950.

Loomis was questioned at a power commission hearing by counsel for Commonwealth Natural Gas Corp. It is one of four companies proposing to supply natural gas for Richmond and other cities in Virginia and the Carolinas.

Commonwealth would receive its gas from the Virginia Gas Transmission Corp., a subsidiary of the Columbia Gas System, Inc.

Walter S. Robertson testified earlier natural gas would mean more than one million dollars a year to Richmond.

Slayer Electrocuted

Chicago, Sept. 16 (AP).—Herman F. Weber, 25, saved from the Stateville prison electric chair five times by last minute intervention of the courts or the governor, was electrocuted today for the murder of a college student, Flaver D. Fueger, in 1947.

2 Senators Hit Carson Nomination

By the United Press

Two Republican Senators yesterday criticized the nomination of John Carson of Michigan to the Federal Trade Commission.

But Senate Democratic Leader Scott W. Lucas of Illinois said Carson must be a "pretty good Republican—he's always talking about free enterprise."

The Senate agreed to vote at 12:30 p. m. (EDT) Monday on the nomination. It already has been approved by the Commerce Committee.

Senator John W. Bricker (R., Ohio) led the opposition, saying Carson is "at best a dreamer, a kind of fuzzy thinker."

Noting that the post Carson would fill is a Republican seat, Bricker said the nominee is no Republican but a "zealous protagonist" of the cooperative movement who registered as a Democrat 30 years ago and now lists himself as an independent.

Senator Homer E. Capehart (R., Ind.) said it would be a "mistake" to appoint Carson to the seven-year term.

Lucas was joined in Carson's defense by Senator Warren G. Magnuson, (D., Wash.) who presided at committee hearings on the nomination. Magnuson said opposition to the nominee stemmed from "misinterpretation" of his statements and writings and he found nothing in the record to reflect on Carson's "integrity."

The Lyons Den . . .

NEW YORK.—Tallulah, who played a week at the Princeton Playhouse, is the first woman to enter the hitherto inviolate Stag Room of Nassau Inn. She gave a party for the cast there, and the Inn now refers to it as the Bankhead Room . . . She is a friend of Harold Kennedy, who operated the Princeton Playhouse, and when they came to terms it was by handshake. But Actors Equity insisted on a formal contract . . . Kennedy, who believed that nobady ever reads an Equity contract in full, signed with Tallulah. He inserted a Clause Five: "The actress to play bridge with the management each night. "Nobody caught it, and the contract, with this clause, is in the files of Actors Equity.

Dom DiMaggia tells of the first time he played in Yankee Stadium, and his brother Joe showed him the trick spots in centerfield where the shadows would fall, the running track, etc. Joe Had invited him to his home that night, where Joe was to cook dinner . . . In the Red Sox-Yankee ball game that afternoon, Joe hit a line drive which would have been a triple, but Dom, benefiting from Joe's earlier lesson, raced in and caught it, for the third out. And as centerfielder Joe DiMaggio trotted out to his station and centerfielder Dom trottled in, Joe whispered to his brother: "The dinner's off."

Herbert Lewis, the Hollywood screen writer, lives on Fountain ave. A new heighbor's son who came to play with Lewis' son said: "My aunt, Betty Hutton, is over at our house now" . . . "Betty Hutton?" said the Lewis boy. "May I come over and look at her?" . . . "No," said Miss Hutton's nephew . . . "If you'll let me look at Betty Hutton," the Lewis boy proposed, "I'll take you to my friend's house around the corner and let you look at his father, John Garfield."

Robert Merrill, rehearsing for the new season at the Metropolitan Opera, met a producer who suggested he would like to adapt a Verdi Opera into a Broadway musical, interpolate some swing and be-bop, and star Merrill in it . . . "I'm afraid you would lose something in the translation," said Merrill . . . "What?" asked the producer.

The singer told him: "Me."

Rex Harrison and Jack Merivale of "Anne of the Thousand Days," joined a group of actors near the bar at Saradi's. A queue of people came up to them. were greeted warmly, and then departed without being introduced to the others. Merivale and Harrison then raised their glasses, and Merivale told the others: "That's an advantage we English have. We can address anyone, affectionately, 'Old boy' and 'My dear fellow' —without having the faintest idea who they are."

Reelected by Lathers

TRY IT

A TINCAN DRUM WITH RUBBER HEADS

Tum-tum-a-tum, when we hear the roll of a drum we all wish that we could get those drumsticks in our hands and beat a rhythm of our own. That is possible if you can find an old inner tube and one No. 10 can. Even though this drum will not sound like an Indian tom-tom with a leather hide for a head, it gives a pleasing tone.

To make the drum heads from an inner tube, select an old one that still has a lot of stretch in it and cut it in two. After you have cut out a 10-inch section, split it on the inside so that it will flatten out in a rubber square. Make a 10-inch circle with crayons or chalk by drawing a pan lid and cut it out with scissors. Cut two of these circles and punch holes around the edge with a paper punch about one inch in from the border, and one and one half inches apart.

Stretch and lace the heads together with cord and paint a design on the top, and beat it!

MONDAY—DROP A CLOTHESPIN IN A MILK BOTTLE.

The Family Scrapbook

By Dr. Ernest G. Osborne

These Indian summer days, with the weather just about perfect, are ones that fairly call for some outdoor cooking. Have you ever tried roast chicken and roast corn? With a tomato and cucumber of lettuce salad, they make a tasty combination. And the youngsters will particularly enjoy the fact that no pots or pans are needed.

The corn is left in its husks and these are thoroughly dampened. Around the ears that are to be roasted, wrap burlap or gunny-sacking that has also been soaked in water. Put this on a 3- or 4-inch bed of coals and kept damp until the corn is thoroughly roasted. Forty to 50 minutes should be sufficient in most cases.

The chicken is prepared by first cutting off the head and feet. The pin feathers can be left and the bird seasoned on the inside after it has been cleaned. Then the entire chicken is covered with an inch thickness of clay mud. Be sure that the head and feet are covered as thoroughly as the rest of the body. The "package" should then be placed in a bed of hot, hardwood ashes and a hot fire built on top of it. Bake for an hour, break off the clay and you'll have a delicious main dish for your fall feast.

Count the letters in your first name. Subtract four if the number is six or more. Add three if the number is less than six. Then, you have the key number. Check each key number left to right. The letters under the checks form a message.

Okolehao Sounds Like A Secret Weapon

Maj. Charles S. Coulter of 4212 37th st. nw. takes exception to recent remarks here about the edibility of taro roots. Snorts the major:

"Don't let your readers kid you. Poi, made from taro plants, tastes like a paperhanger's paste. However, okolehao, also made from taro plants, tastes like superior moonshine."

Major, the first and only drink of moonshine I ever tasted knocked me flat. When you speak of "superior" moonshine I envision a distillation of atom bombs or — worse yet — the warmed-over coffee that's forever being served at our house.

EVENTUALLY, I'LL LEARN TO LIKE ONION SAUCE

There is an indescribable something about me that attracts the world's most exasperating waitresses to my table.

An incident yesterday will serve to illustrate. This sort of thing is always happening to me.

The menu said "Try our delicious Hamburger, with barbecue sauce." So that's what I ordered: hamburger with barbecue sauce.

Precisely 25 minutes later, the waitress brought me a hamburger drenched with onion sauce.

"What's this?" I protested. "I ordered barbecue sauce."

"Oh, I'm sorry, we don't have any barbecue sauce here," replied the waitress airily.

"The menu says 'hamburger with barbecue sauce,'" I maintained stoutly.

"We used to have it a couple of months ago. Wouldn't you like some nice onion sauce?"

"No, I would not. Why didn't you tell me you didn't have barbecue sauce when I first ordered it?"

"It's good with onion sauce."

"I detest onion sauce. I can't stand onion sauce."

"Well, you don't have to get huffy about it. I'll be glad to fix you another hamburger, plain."

"What, and wait another half hour? Look—just answer one question for me: When I order barbecue sauce and you know that you don't have any barbecue sauce, why don't you tell me about it right away instead of letting me wait so long to find out?"

"Everybody likes onion sauce. How did I know you were going to be so crabby about it?"

So I slink out of the restaurant—as hungry as when I entered, and ashamed of myself to boot.

ADD SIGNS

David Kandel of 1311 H st. nw. tells me that H. J. Sleep of Los Angeles (Calif.) owns a tire shop, and advertises:

"When It's Time to Re-tire, Go to Sleep."

GIVE-AWAYS

"The District Line helped ma find this house; she found paw by herself. Now four of us kittens are 7 weeks old and looking for a place to live." (Wisconsin 6551.)

"Beautiful gray-and-white 5-month-old kitten; good mouser, accustomed to children." (Falls Church 0411.)

"Three attractive half-Persian kittens, 7 weeks old." (Emerson 3295.)

"Housebroken 4-month-old half-Persian male kitten." (Wisconsin 4038.)

"Large black-and-white male cocker; intelligent, playful, housebroken; 2 years old." (Axminster 0553.)

"Two adorable 5-week-old fox terrier puppies." (Georgia 7181.)

"Very pretty female cat, 14 months old; answers to name of Ginger, and that's her color." (Warfield 5114.)

"Four sweet 6-week-old kittens; very pretty, and lots of fun." (Columbia 3098.)

BREACH OF PROMISE

Rand Smith of 1426 21st st. nw. observes that the Nats are a promising team. He says: "They're always promising that next year will be better."

PURE, UNDISTILLED KENTUCKY CORN

F. Harold Babcock of 2100 Massachusetts ave. nw. must be on vacation. He postcards from Louisville:

"My wife has been mulling over that idea of eliminating the last car from trains, to avoid accidents.

"She suggests that we also eliminate the first of every month, so that nobody could send us any bills."

INCIDENTAL INTELLIGENCE

Mrs. William B. Camp of Bethesda, Md., postcards: "Tell your friend, Al, not to worry whether that praying mantis is a female. They eat each other."

SEE HOW EASY IT IS?

First reader to send in a correct list of all the Cabinet officers and Supreme Court Justices was Leona E. Kidwell of 4910 Rock Spring rd., Arlington, Va.

For the benefit of those who were not able to recall all the names, here they are:

Cabinet: State, Acheson; Defense, Johnson; Treasury, Snyder; Justice, McGrath; Post Office, Donaldson; Interior, Krug; Agriculture, Brannan; Commerce, Sawyer; Labor, Tobin.

Court: Chief Justice Vinson; Associate Justices Black, Burton, Clark, Douglas, Frankfurter, Jackson, Minton and Reed.

Marshall B. Goding of 7027 MacArthur blvd. wonders whether Capital Transit couldn't develop a new type of exhaust pipe for its buses, to carry the fumes away more efficiently.

MISCELLANY

For the past week, people have been saying: "Glad you ran that item and cartoon about Pvt. Ray Taylor, the cop with the expressive whistle who's stationed at the corner of 14th and the Avenue" . . . Latest to agree that Taylor is everybody's friend is J. E. Ritchie, jr., of the United States Maritime Commission . . . The local chapter of the University of Florida Alumni Club will have a big time Tuesday. At 10 a. m. members will tee off at Fairfax Country Club for their annual golf tournament; at 7:30 p. m. they'll break bread with Senator Claude Pepper at the Army-Navy Club, 17th and I sts. nw. Bob Mathis (National 4056) will take your reservation for the golf, and Jimmy Golden in Congressman Herlong's office (National 3120, extension 458) will sign you up for the chow . . . The Ohio Society will decrease the available supply of turkey and trimmings at the Airport's Terrace Room at 7 tonight, and Robert J. Hanger, chairman of the program committee, promises that excellent music for dancing will be supplied by a band led by Howard Williams, the milder, cooler burning maestro who doubles as swing man with Arch McDonald and Bob Wolff on the baseball broadcasts. For reservations, call John S. Bartlett (Michigan 0860 or Republic 7750) . . . Joseph H. Mulligan of 708 5th st. nw., who is 95 years old, writes: "Can't understand why people complain about building noises. I like to see men working and the noise never bothers me" . . . Hah! Wait'll he reaches my age.

MEN OFTEN MAKE PASSES AT KISSABLE LASSES

Many a man who Expects to be kissed,
And thinks that no maiden
Could ever resist
Would be darned surprised at
The mind of the lass,
If he could but read it
While trying the pass.

Admirals Pass Over Sub Gains

By Drew Pearson

In all the bitter row between the Army and the Navy, the admirals have failed to let the public know about one naval activity for which they deserve great credit—submarines.

Pearson

Perhaps this is because the cramped and grimy life of a submarine crew lacks gold braid and glamour. Also, there are no admirals commanding submarines; their place is on battleships. But at any rate, American submarines have made amazing progress, and undoubtedly will be the most important arm of the Navy in the future.

The end of the war saw German submarines with new breathing devices for underwater operation plus a rubber coat which prevented radar detection. If the war had lasted much longer, the new German subs would have wreaked havoc on American shipping once again.

Came V-E Day and the Russians took over all Nazi submarine yards together with German scientists. Result: The Russian U-boat today is the most modern in the world.

However, the U. S. Navy, rushing to keep up with the Soviet, has now developed a new snorkel device permitting a sub to breathe under water for days at a time. U. S. subs are also capable of the amazing underwater speed of 21 knots, though the cruising speed is only about 11 knots.

Not long ago an American U-boat actually crossed the Atlantic to England without once coming to the surface.

However, American experts, not happy with this progress, have learned that Russia has developed something better than the snorkel, namely a chemical which generates oxygen and thus feeds the engines without depending on the snorkel's pipe extending to the surface. So the race for modernization of deadly undersea weapons continues.

Note—Top admirals were summoned to Washington from all over the United States the other day for a secret conference to map a press campaign against further curtailment of the Navy. The admirals were worried over the bad press reaction to the B-36 smear. However, they continue their smear tactics by featuring as an off-the-record speaker, Frank Hecht, president of the Navy League, who has been bitterly critical of Secretary of Defense Johnson. The meeting entirely neglected one of the finest and most essential jobs the Navy is doing—submarines.

Steel Workers Debate

The steel workers' acceptance of the fact-finding board's proposals in the steel strike wasn't nearly as harmonious as CIO Boss Phil Murray indicated to the press.

Murray correctly reported that the steel workers' wage policy committee had "unanimously" approved the board's findings. However, he neglected to say that some local steel union leaders kicked over the traces at a stormy three-hour meeting in Pittsburgh before a vote was taken.

The loudest protests were voiced by local union chiefs in Inland Steel Co. plants, who pointed out that they had previously turned down an Inland offer approximateing the 10 cents an hour increase for welfare and pension benefits recommended by the President's fact-finding board.

How, they asked Murray, could they now ask their members to accept something which they already had rejected as unsatisfactory? The local leaders implored Murray to hold out for at least part of the 12½-cent-hourly straight wage boost originally demanded by the union.

The CIO chief replied that he still considered the 12½-cent increase (in addition to the 10 cents for welfare and pension benefits) a just demand. But, he argued that the steel workers probably couldn't get any more than the board's recommendation even if they staged a walkout. Furthermore, a strike would be inadvisable in view of the strong weight of public opinion behind the fact-finding board.

"Let's take what we can get and remain at work," advised the statesmanlike Murray. "I realize that our locals in some plants already are getting substantially what the board recommended in social security benefits and that others have been offered as much.

"Nevertheless, we are all together in this fight. If some locals have something the rest of our members do not have, let's even it up by accepting the board's proposal. We can come back for more later when the circumstances are favorable."

Friendship Books

H. A. Dunn of Austin, Tex., is a slim, slight, cheerful little man who works from about 5:30 a. m. each day as superintendent of the main building at the University of Texas.

Two years ago Mr. Dunn heard there was a need of books in the Philippines to replace the damage done to school libraries during the war. So on his own initiative he set out to do something about it. At the end of school semesters he talked students into donating their used textbooks to "the kids in the Philippines" instead of selling them to the secondhand bookstores.

Mr. Dunn kept boxes out in the hallways to receive the books, and working tirelessly with no help from others, he finally collected and shipped to the Philippines the other day 30,000 books. Mr. Dunn's project was all his own; no sponsors, no organized drive, no money to help him—which makes him, in this column's eyes, a real servant of brotherhood.
